

WORLD FLIERS WITHIN ONE HOP OF YOKOHAMA;
U. S. ARMY SQUADRON LANDS AT MINATO, JAPAN

Police Seeking Writer of Kline Death Threat

NOTE TO SISTER
BARED INTENTION OF KLINE TO KILL

Since Slayer Could Not Read Nor Write, Officers Seek Man to Whom He Dictated Letter.

DETECTIVES READY TO ARREST WRITER

Claim He Can Be Held as Accessory Before the Fact—Verdict of Suicide in Kline Case.

Following return by a coroner's jury Monday of a verdict of suicide in the case of Andrew J. Kline, who Saturday night shot and killed his wife and then took his own life, at their home in Forest Hill park, detectives Saturday began a search for the man to whom Kline is believed to have dictated a letter revealing his intention to stain his hands with the blood of members of his family.

The letter, which was received by Mrs. C. H. Roberts, his sister, but not opened until after the shooting, blamed Mrs. S. J. Mauldin, his mother-in-law, for all his troubles and added, "to the finder of this letter I say that the deed was done by my own hand." Towards the close of the note he writes, "I am an old man and I would rather be dead, a murderer, than see my baby raised up in such a crooked crowd."

Could Not Write.
Development at the inquest proved that Kline could neither read nor write. In that case he would have been forced to dictate his letter to some friend or acquaintance.

Under a strict interpretation of the law this man can be held as an accessory before the fact in the killing of Mrs. Kline, it is believed.

Detectives, at work on the case, express their intention of finding the writer, and putting him through a severe cross-examination, which will determine whether he is to be held for trial or not.

They are unable to say at present whether the letter was written while Kline was in Fulton county tower, or after he got out. He had been free for about one week before the murder was committed.

Letters to his wife dictated by Kline while he was a prisoner in the tower vaguely hinted of his intention to murder her and afterwards kill himself. In one letter he told her "to take your troubles to your God, for there will be no laughing up there." He referred to her amusement at a time when she laughed after he is declared to have cursed her.

Letter Sent Sister.
The letter read at the coroner's inquest Monday is as follows:
"To whom it may concern:
"My mother-in-law was the cause of all this. To the finders of this letter I want to testify that this deed was done by my own hand, which I have been driven to do by my wife."

NEW TRIAL PLEA
FOR SATTERFIELD

Extraordinary Motion on Ground of New Evidence To Be Filed by Attorney.

An extraordinary motion for new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence will be presented to Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court today as an eleventh hour effort to save J. B. Satterfield from the gallows next Friday, it was announced Monday by his counsel, M. M. Holloway.

Attorney Holloway announced he expected to receive today a series of affidavits from Albuquerque, N. M., dealing with "certain phases of the killing of R. H. Hart in November, 1922, by Satterfield not known at the time of Satterfield's trial." He said he expected sworn statements dealing with a conspiracy between Hart and his sister, Mrs. Lilly Brown. The attorney refused to divulge the nature of the alleged conspiracy, but it was believed to relate to disposition of the estate of Satterfield's wife, which was in Hart's hands as executor of the will of Hart's father. Mrs. Satterfield.

Continued on Page 4, Column 6.

COOLIDGE THREAT TO VETO TAX BILL
GOES TO DISCARD

Treasury Department
Plans To Meet Bonus
Expense and Ask New Tax Next Year.

ACTION OF SENATE
BLOW TO PRESIDENT

Democrats Predict Certain Defeat of Republicans in November If Tax Is Rejected.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, May 19.—Sorely disappointed that congress insists upon having a soldier bonus, the administration nevertheless will continue its fight for tax reduction. Now that congress has acted, there is a disposition at the white house and the treasury to drop recent talk that adjusted compensation would prevent tax reduction.

The administration will continue to work for a tax bill, and there is good reason for stating that President Coolidge will sign any measure which approximates either the house bill or the senate measure, provided the tax publicity and graduated corporation levies are first stricken from the latter bill.

Special Tax Next Year.
At the treasury, it was said that no new revenue legislation will be proposed at this session because of adoption of the bonus. A special tax probably will be recommended next session. Officials have not decided what form this would take, but it probably would be a special corporation's stamp tax placed on some article in general demand.

Continued on Page 3, Column 4.

COUNCIL INDORSES
TRAFFIC CRUSADE

Throws Weight of Support Behind Police by Adopting Report Submitted by John Beeler.

City council Monday threw the full weight of its support behind the police department's crusade for traffic law enforcement, adopting the John A. Beeler report recommending strict enforcement of traffic ordinances and passing a resolution, proposed jointly by Aldermen Duvall and Bachman and Councilmen Moore and Couch, praising the department for results obtained up to the present time.

Council's action has the effect of approving the Beeler recommendation that street cars be given precedence over other traffic and that all traffic movements be coordinated with street car movement.

Other recommendations made in the Beeler report were for more uniform spacing of car stops, permitting loading and discharging of passengers from two cars at the same time at one stop, placing street collectors and raised safety islands at heavy traffic points.

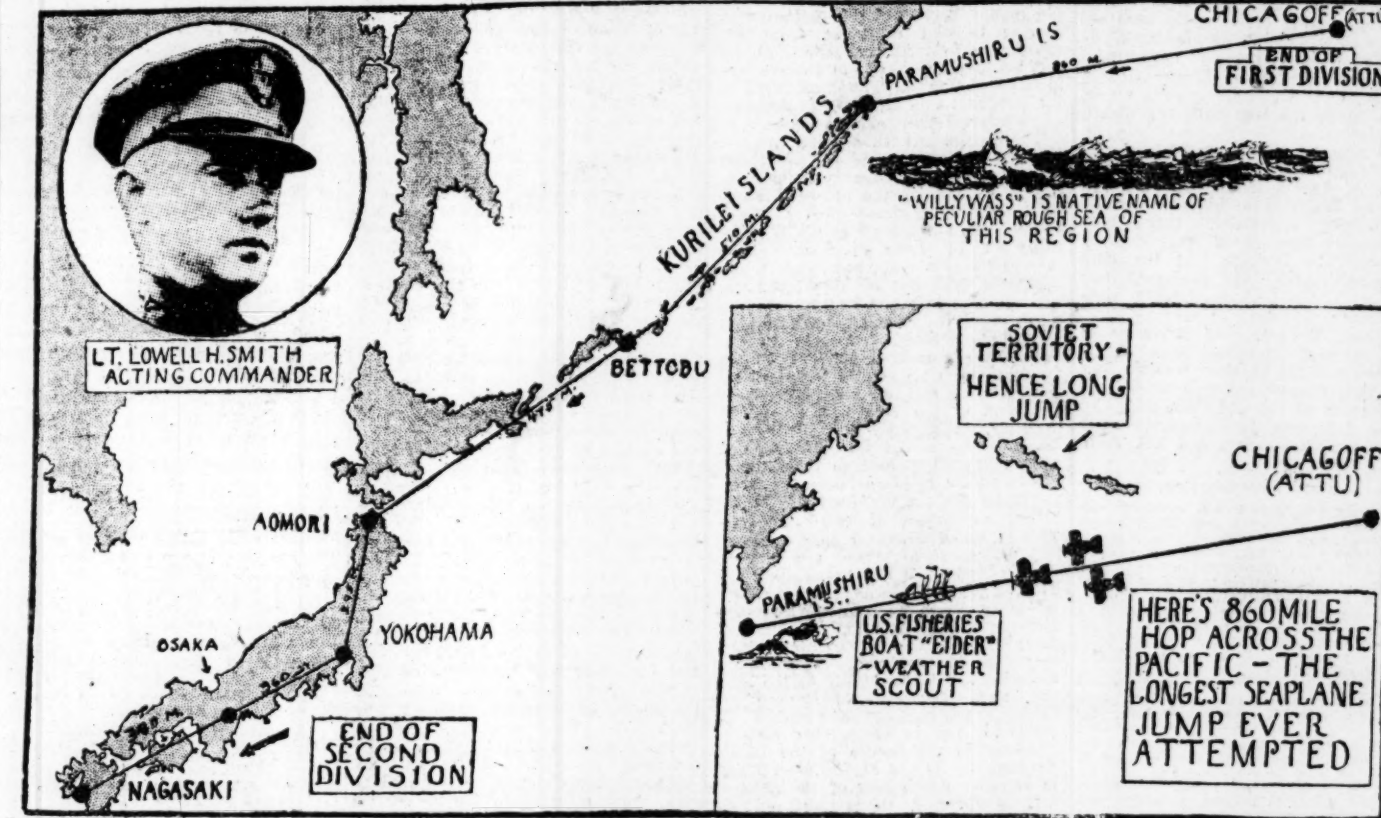

Continued on Page 7, Column 2.

RAILROAD TRAINS
GIVEN 10 MINUTES
AT 2 CROSSINGS

Railroad trains may block Pryor street or Central avenue grade crossings for ten minutes henceforth, instead of three minutes, as in the past, under permission voted by city council 29 to 8 Monday afternoon, overriding Mayor Walter A. Sims' veto of the proposal.

Continued on Page 7, Column 2.

U. S. Round-World Squadron Nears Second Goal

Map shows the second division of the round-the-world flight of the United States army fliers. This leg of the flight includes six hops, from the Arctic blizzards of Attu to the cherry blossom festival of Nagasaki. The most perilous jump, 860 miles over the Pacific, probably the worst hazard of the entire flight, is over with. The two remaining hops between Paramushiro Island and Aomori (a town near Minato) also are completed, leaving only one hop intervening between that place and Yokohama-Tokio and three hops to Nagasaki. Nagasaki marks the end of the second division of the flight. D'Oisy, speedy French flier, is now at Canton and leaves there for Peking, with at least one more hop, and probably two, to Tokio. Yokohama is less than 50 miles from Tokio, the difference in choice of landing places being on account of the different equipment of the planes—the United States cruisers being equipped for landing on water and the French machine for dry land.

SLAYER OF WHITE
TO BE ARRESTED ON GUMP CHARGE

Thaw To Submit to Removal to New York
Without Extradition, Says District Attorney.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New York, May 19.—Harry K. Thaw will be arrested on a bench warrant and brought to New York to answer an old indictment for assault against Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, immediately his final release is signed in Philadelphia, District Attorney Banton said today.

Arrangements have been made to have the authorities here notified as soon as the millionaire is finally freed, he stated. It is understood that Thaw will come voluntarily.

Mr. Banton said he would then communicate with young Gump and his father, who now are in California, and try to have them come here as witnesses. Thaw made a settlement of the Gump case in the civil courts, when it was understood an agreement was reached not to press the criminal prosecution. For this reason Mr. Banton is uncertain whether the Thaw will respond to his request.

Continued on Page 7, Column 4.

200TH REGIMENT
GETS 39 NEW MEN

Campaign To Fill All Gaps Gets Good Start and Officers Are Certain of Success.

The addition Monday night of 39 men to the 200th infantry was the result of the first day of the campaign to bring the regiment up to its maximum strength, according to Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Oberdorfer, in charge of the drive. The announcement was made at the officers' meeting immediately following the regular weekly drill period.

The campaign got under way Monday morning and will continue through June 16. Handmade banners and appropriately inscribed trophies will be awarded organizations and individuals showing the greatest in-

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

More Farm Relief
Cited as Necessity

Government Ownership of Railways Would Be Big Factor in Aid, Says
Magnus Johnson.

(Copyright, in U. S. and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

Here is the sixth of a series of special articles by leaders of various political parties and groups, written especially for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, in answer to the question, "What are the big issues facing the electorate?" Senator Johnson was elected on the farmer-labor party ticket.

BY MAGNUS JOHNSON.
United States Senator From Minnesota.

After thirty years of farming, twenty years of experience in cooperative effort and fifteen years of political work, I am convinced that the three outstanding issues now before the American people are the following:

Governmental marketing of farm products.
Public ownership of railroads and public utilities generally.

Government control of banking.
Naturally I consider farm relief legislation most important of all at this time. By farm relief legislation, I do not mean, of course, the spurious sort that actually has no merit whatever and is really intended to benefit others rather than the farmers.

The farmers are the victims of unfavorable circumstances. They have become the exploited of the banks, the railroads and the grain speculators. This triumvirate of enemies has been with them for a good many years.

War on Speculators.
Out in Minnesota where I have farmed for thirty years, we first made war on the grain speculators. We tried all sorts of methods to free ourselves from the manipulations of the speculators' monopoly, otherwise known as the chamber of commerce. Now, we understand full well that the railroads and the big banks operating through the federal reserve system are as great, if not greater, enemies of the farmer of the soil.

Assaults Sale of Futures.
The chamber of commerce was organized in 1881 under the laws of the state of Minnesota. It is a non-stock corporation engaged in the business of conducting a grain exchange for the exclusive use and profit of its members. It handles annually about 200,000,000 bushels of grain grown in the states of the northwest. When the law was passed

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

ATLANTAN LEADS PRESBYTERIANS OUT OF BATTLE

Rev. J. S. Lyons Coolly Blocks Outburst of Modernist Row by Clever Strategy.

San Antonio, May 19.—The fundamentalist-modernist storm broke mildly over the sixty-fourth general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States today and left the assembly tonight standing firmly on a simple reaffirmation of the church's fundamental faith.

Ending without serious disruption, the issue, nevertheless, caused extended debate from an unexpected and unusual angle. There was no difference of opinion expressed as to what the fundamentals of the faith are, the dispute arising only over how the fundamentals should be expressed.

All Credit to Lyons.
The floor generalship of the Rev. J. S. Lyons, of Atlanta, perhaps did more than anything else to crystallize the sentiment of the assembly and kept it from going far afield on the question. When the committee on bills and overtures proposed that the assembly declare itself on 10 fundamental principles taken from the confession of faith, the Rev. Lyons immediately opposed the action on the ground that it would plunge the church into the "swirl of a controversy that has brought disaster on other churches," and he at once presented a substitute for the proposal of the committee. After many commissioners, representing various sections were heard, the following substitute expressing the assembly's stand on fundamentals was adopted:

Text of Resolution.
"That because of the clarity and fullness of the presentation of Christian truth in our confession of faith and catechisms, and in the absence of any disposition to question the fundamental truths as set forth in these symbols of our faith, the general assembly simply reaffirms its faith in the great fundamentals of our church as set forth in our confession of faith and catechisms, and declines to make additional declarations of doctrine."

This result was not attained without vehement appeals that the church "declare to the world" its stand. The leader in demanding a more extended declaration of faith was the Rev. O. G. Jones, who declared it was time for some definite assertion by the church.

Liberals to Claim Fear.
"If you do not pass these declarations, liberals all over the country will say that you were afraid to make a stand," he declared. "I have no patience with the minister who cannot stand up and make his firm declaration of these principles. This is not a time when we can be on

Continued on Page 4, Column 3.

SOLDIERS' BONUS ENACTED IN LAW
AFTER 2 YEARS

Eleventh-Hour Drive
From President Fails by Two Votes To Block
Bill.

PARTY LINES SMASHED
UPON THE FINAL VOTE

Single Effort at Delay by Pennsylvania Senator Failed in Short Order.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
Washington, May 19.—An eleventh-hour drive from the white house fell short of its mark, and the soldier bonus bill—the foothill of two congresses—has become a law, the senate overriding the president's veto by a vote of 59 to 25, closer than had been expected.

In its second trip through the senate, the bill drew the support of 30 republicans, including many staunch administration followers, 27 democrats, and two farmer-laborites. Voting to uphold the president's veto were 17 republicans, nine democrats. Eleven were absent. Three more votes against the bill would have killed it.

The action by the senate Monday came suddenly, and the quick decision was made in a dramatic atmosphere. Because of the president's success in winning over four out of seven indecisive senators at a breakfast conference at the white house Monday morning, it had been expected that his supporters would try to delay action on the bill, in the hope of winning others.

Vote Upon Veto.
The vote follows:
For overriding veto:

Republicans: Bandeger, Brookhart, Burton, Cameron, Capper, Cummins, Curtis, Dale, Elkins, Fess, Frazier, Gooding, Hale, Harrell, Howell, Johnson, of California; Jones, of Washington; Ladd, Lenroot, Lodge, McLean, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Odell, Shortridge, Spencer, Stanford, Warren and Willis. Total 30.
Democrats: Adams, Ashurst, Broussard, Caraway, Copeland, Dill, Ferris, Fletcher, George, Gerry, Harris, Hefflin, Jones, of New Mexico; Kendrick, McKellar, Mayfield, Neely, Overman, Pittman, Ralston, Robinson, Shepard, Simmons, Smith, Trammell.

Continued on Page 3, Column 2.

28 New Traffic
Cases; 8 Fined

Twenty-eight motorists were arrested Monday in the traffic crusade launched ten days ago. Eighteen were charged with violating traffic ordinances, 7 with speeding and 5 with reckless driving.

Only eight cases were tried in recorder's court during the day's sessions, with $260 in fines assessed. Violations embraced one case of driving a car while intoxicated, two traffic violations, one double offense of speeding and passing a street car on the left side, two charges of reckless driving and two of speeding. Mark Chastain, 18, of Gainesville, drew the heaviest fine assessed since the beginning of the traffic war, being fine $100 after being found guilty of speeding and passing a street car on the left side.

The following were tried and found guilty in recorder's court Monday:
George Archer, negro, $25 and costs for reckless driving, and held in $300 bond on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.
Julius Miller, negro, $50 and costs, and bound over in $300 bond on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Horace Amrose, 19, Lakewood Heights, $5 and costs for traffic violation.
Henry Thomas, negro, $25 and costs for reckless driving.
Herbert Stewart, 18, 40 Richmond street, $25 and cost for reckless driving.

J. D. Varnell, 32, 224 Forrest avenue, $25 and costs for speeding.
C. B. Ruling, 19, 61 E. Cain street, $5 and costs for traffic violation.
Mark Chastain, 18, Gainesville, $100 and costs for speeding, while passing standing street car on left side.

BILLY SUNDAY PASSES
ACUTE KIDNEY ATTACK

Recheater, Minn., May 19.—Rev. W. A. (Billy) Sunday, the evangelist, apparently has passed the acute kidney attack from which he has been suffering, it was announced today at the Mayo clinic, where he is undergoing treatment. He is reported "resting easily."

Continued on Page 4, Column 3.

ARRIVAL FINISHES
COMPLETE CIRCLE OF EARTH BY AIR

Stay at Minato Will Be Brief—Next Leg Will Be to Kasumigaura, Japan.

LATTER ONLY FIFTY MILES FROM TOKIO

D'Oisy, French Aviator, Has Reached Canton, China—Leaves Today for Shanghai.

Minato, Japan, May 20.—The three United States army planes arrived here from Yotorofu island on their flight around the world.

The arrival at Minato from Yotorofu, about 354 miles by air, of the American army fliers, marked the complete conquest of the earth's circumnavigation by air. Americans, Britons and Portuguese have flown across the Atlantic, British aviators have flown from England to Singapore and Italians have made the flight across southern Asia and up the China coast to Japan, while Japanese and Americans have crossed their own countries.

From Minato, where the Americans are expected to stop only briefly, the next leg of the trip is about 350 miles down the Pacific coast of Japan's main island to Kasumigaura, where the Japanese navy has its principal aviation station. Kasumigaura is about 50 miles from Tokio.

Minato, near the northern end of the main island of Japan, is the first place that the airmen landed in Japan proper. The adjoining village of Hachigeba was practically destroyed by fire last week.

D'OISY LEAVES CANTON
TODAY FOR SHANGHAI

Pekin, May 19.—Captain Pelletier D'Oisy, French aviator who is en route to Japan, has arrived at Canton and will leave Tuesday for Shanghai.

Wednesday, according to his present schedule, he will fly from Shanghai to Peking.

CONDITIONS IDEAL
UPON LAST JUMP

Tokio, May 19.—The flight of the American round-the-world aviators from Paramushiro bay to Lake Toshimoye was made under ideal conditions, said dispatches received here from the American destroyer Pope and the Japanese destroyer Amatsumaru.

The fliers will be received in audience by the prince-regent soon after their arrival at Kasumigaura, the Japanese naval base, it was announced today.

American Ambassador Woods conferred today with cabinet officers (this morning on arrangements for the audience).

American and Japanese army and naval officers here, who have been in closest contact with arrangements for the round-the-world flight, believe the American aviators will make a determined effort to fly every day until they reach Kasumigaura.

They believe the Americans may

Continued on page 8 column 5.

The Weather
PARTLY CLOUDY.

Washington—Forecast:
Georgia: Partly cloudy Tuesday and Wednesday with local thunder showers; cooler Wednesday; moderate southerly winds.

Local Weather Report.
Highest temperature 85
Lowest temperature 63
Mean temperature 74
Normal temperature 71
Rainfall in past 24 hours, ins.00
Deficiency since last month, ins.84
Deficiency since January 1, ins. 3.02

T. m. Noon, T. p. m.
Dry temperature 72 78 80
Wet bulb 62 65 68
Relative humidity68 48 46

STATIONS AND STATE OF WEATHER	Temperature 7 a. m. High Low	24 hrs Rain inches
ATLANTA, Ga., clear	80	88
Birmingham, Ga., clear	80	88
Boston, Mass., cloudy	58	64
Buffalo, N. Y., cloudy	50	62
Charleston, S. C., clear	72	82
Chicago, Ill., cloudy	40	44
Cleveland, O., cloudy	50	64
Des Moines, Iowa, clear	48	52
Galveston, Tex., clear	74	88
Hatteras, N. C., clear	64	70
Havre, Mont., cloudy	50	52
Jacksonville, Fla., clear	74	80
Kansas City, Mo., cloudy	64	68
Memphis, Tenn., clear	56	62
Miami, Fla., cloudy	80	82
Mobile, Ala., clear	74	82
Montgomery, Ala., clear	74	88
New Orleans, La., clear	78	88
New York, N. Y., cloudy	62	68
North Platte, Neb., clear	52	54
Oklahoma, Okla., clear	78	84
Phoenix, Ariz., clear	80	82
Pittsburgh, Pa., clear	50	60
Raleigh, N. C., clear	70	82
San Francisco, Calif., clear	58	68
St. Louis, Mo., cloudy	54	58
Salt Lake City, Utah, clear	78	88
Shreveport, La., clear	82	88
Tampa, Fla., clear	78	88
Tulsa, Okla., clear	78	88
Washington, D. C., clear	80	84
Yakima, Wash., clear	74	80

Continued on Page 4, Column 3.

BIG CONVENTION TO BE HELD HERE

The Pan-American commercial congress, to be participated in by delegations from Latin-American countries, as well as from many states of this country, will be held in Atlanta, October 14, it was announced Monday by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Southern Commercial congress, who is in charge of the organization of the Pan-American congress.

Decision to hold the congress resulted from a recent commercial, financial and economic survey of Cuba made by the Southern Commercial congress, and proclamations of officials announcing the congress were issued Monday by Mayor Walter A. Sims and Max B. Wellborn, governor of the Fifth Federal Reserve Bank district, with headquarters in Atlanta. A similar proclamation also is being prepared by Governor Clifford Walker, and will be issued this week.

The Southern Commercial congress, under whose auspices the convention will be held, staged a meeting of the same nature 13 years ago, which also was organized by Dr. Owens, who has served that body for 15 consecutive years. The session here in October, 1911, the second international commercial conference ever attempted, the first being held under auspices of the Southern Commercial congress in Chicago in 1902. The meeting here precedes the Southeastern Fair, which opens October 4, the closing day of the congress.

Cuba, Panama to Attend.
Delegations from 16 member states of the Southern Commercial congress, as well as from many states of the east and middle west, will be in attendance here. Invitations already have been extended and accepted by President Zayas, of Cuba, and President Porras, of Panama, and Dr. Guy King, Cuban consul in Atlanta, will mail from New York city Saturday to carry official invitations to Argentina, Brazil, Chile and other Latin-American nations. In fact, consular agents, consuls and consuls general from all Latin-American countries accredited to the United States will attend.

Arrangements for the convention already have been started and headquarters office, in charge of Dr. Owens and Frank Reynolds, of the Dinkler hotel corporation, has been opened at the Ansley hotel. Mrs. George W. Walker, of Atlanta, has been appointed secretary of the Atlanta committee, and will be in active charge of organization of a committee of 100 Atlantans, which will complete all details for the conference.

For the past two weeks, Ralph Metcalf, executive secretary of the commercial congress to Cuba, has engaged in preliminary conferences here, and left Monday for Washington, where he will complete the report to the United States congress. Miss Mary Boyce Temple, of Knoxville, Tenn., president general of the woman's auxiliary of the Southern Commercial congress, will arrive in Atlanta within the next few days to organize committees of the auxiliary in preparation for work attending the convention.

Atlanta Chamber Host.
The Atlanta chamber of commerce, of which Paul Norcross is president, will be the official host of the convention, and many other Atlanta organizations, including the foreign trade committee, under leadership of Harry Mitchell; the Foreign Trade club, of Atlanta; and the department of the bureau of foreign-domestic commerce, of the United States department of commerce, of which R. C. Gotsinger is manager, have been assured. Among Atlantans interested in staging the congress here are Mayor Sims, Frank Reynolds, Willie Moore, recently elected councilman from the Seventh ward, and George W. Walker, wholesale grocer, all of whom made the trip with the Cuban commission.

An attempt will be made to secure President Coolidge's attendance at the congress, and a delegation will be sent to Washington soon to extend the official invitation. Other prominent Atlantans who will be invited. At the only other meeting of the congress, such men as William Howard Taft, then president; Theodore Roosevelt, and Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, attended, and it is claimed that the occasion was the last time that those three men were leading figures at the same gathering.

The following proclamations were issued by Mayor Sims and Mr. Wellborn:

Sims' Proclamation.

The city of Atlanta will cordially welcome the delegates to the Pan-American commercial congress, which is to be held in Atlanta, Ga., October 14, 1924, under the auspices of the Southern Commercial congress. The Southern Commercial congress held a conference in Atlanta, Ga., in March 1911, at which time the city of Atlanta was chosen as the site for the next meeting of the congress. This was a very successful congress.

Atlanta is fortunate in securing this congress of representatives of the Latin-American countries to assemble here, and great good should result therefrom. It should be the commercial relations between the south and the Latin-American countries be stimulated, and the commerce and trade between the southern states and the Latin-American countries greatly increased. The friendly relations of commerce with the south should be greatly enhanced by this conference.

The Southern Commercial congress has for its slogan: "For a Greater Union of Greater South." It is the duty of representatives from the different southern countries present at a congress of this kind, to better understand the relations of these governments to that of America.

I am, therefore, extending a very cordial invitation to all representatives of Latin-American countries to attend this congress and participate in the problems which will be discussed, and the citizens of Atlanta will receive and welcome the delegates to this congress from all parts of the United States and from these countries. I, the mayor, and the citizens of Atlanta, will be in attendance as guests of honor.

The program will include a consideration of the great problems of commerce and particularly the barriers that impede the extension of trade relations between the Americas. A basic factor in all foreign commercial relations is the question of finance and exchange. In view of the fact that under the Federal Reserve member banks may establish branches in foreign countries and as an agency of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta has been located in Havana, and furthermore, as these relations will be promoted and extended in providing for the expanding trade of the United States, it is a question of interest to every banking agency of the country.

Since the Pan-American congress will be held in Atlanta, the commercial capital of a great southeastern area, the banks are vitally concerned with the problems discussed and the conclusions that will be reached. Therefore, on behalf of the Federal Reserve bank of the fifth district, I express my cordial interest in the proposed plan and join earnestly in the invitation to the states of our own country and the countries to the farther south to send their delegations to Atlanta for the consideration of these important questions, and I hereby call upon the bankers of this district to cooperate in every way possible by organization and attendance at the congress, the interests of the Pan-American congress.

WELLBORN'S PROCLAMATION.
Pursuant to proclamations issued by the mayor of Atlanta and the governor of the state of Georgia, a commercial congress will be held in the city of Atlanta, October 14, 1924, under the auspices and direction of the Southern Commercial congress.

Delegates will be in attendance from many parts of the United States and from many parts of Latin America. An official invitation has been extended to the consular and diplomatic representatives of these countries accredited to the United States to be in attendance as guests of honor.

The program will include a consideration of the great problems of commerce and particularly the barriers that impede the extension of trade relations between the Americas. A basic factor in all foreign commercial relations is the question of finance and exchange. In view of the fact that under the Federal Reserve member banks may establish branches in foreign countries and as an agency of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta has been located in Havana, and furthermore, as these relations will be promoted and extended in providing for the expanding trade of the United States, it is a question of interest to every banking agency of the country.

WALL STREET ODDS FAVOR PRESIDENT
New York, May 19.—The democratic presidential candidate has only one chance in four of landing in the white house if Wall street betting means anything. Bets at 1 to 3 that the next president would be a democrat were offered in the street Monday.

One betting commissioner announced that he had $2,000 awaiting a taker at those odds. Odds on President Coolidge's reelection lengthened again, commissioners quoting from 7 to 2 to 5, to 9 to 5 that the president will remain in the white house.

Bets of 1 to 3 were offered that Governor Smith would receive the nomination and 1 to 6 that he would be elected. One to four was offered on McAdoo's nomination, with little money available.

DECATUR CIVIC CLUB WILL ASK FOR NEW SCHOOL
A committee to request the board of commissioners to float a bond issue for a new school in Decatur was appointed Monday night at a meeting of the Poplar Springs Civic Improvement club in the clubrooms of the organization. Speakers told of the urgent need of a new building.

Another committee was named to confer with the road commissioner in regard to widening the Fayetteville road, and extending it from the intersection of Boulevard and DeKalb avenue to Decatur.

Baptist Convention Proved Big Advertisement for City

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Now, that the current year's session of the Southern Baptist convention is a matter of history, it will be interesting to have a bird's-eye view of the great meeting.

From an end and all points of view it may be conservatively said to have been a great convention. Great in numbers, great in spirit, great in regard to achievements, great in purpose, great in influence, and great in personnel. The presence here for a week of 6,500 registered Baptist leaders from 17 different states of the south, with one fixed purpose, to devote themselves to the uplift of mankind, can but result in a far-reaching and profound effect.

Meant Much to Atlanta.
Not only did the convention mean to the city that 6,500 religious people would give, the concrete values that the city derives from the convention are exceedingly large. Thousands of columns of news matter under an Atlanta dateline have been published during the past ten days. Additional advertising for the city is gained in the constant here of a number of visitors, who return home praising the progressiveness of the city. A conservative estimate of the money spent by the delegates in coming to and returning from the convention is placed at $350,000. Of this amount $65,000 is to be deducted for railroad fares. The remainder of the $285,000 was left here in Atlanta.

Powerful Constructive Force.
The human mind and spirit can not tabulate the power of the Southern Baptist constructive force in the uplifting of the spiritual kingdom. That they have proven themselves such a force no one will question, for by their abundant fruits they are known and vindicated. When 3,000,000 members of the denomination, bound together by closest ties, consecrated in heart, mind, soul and resources, devote themselves to the one task of getting beneath the fallen mankind to lift it up in physical, social, mental and spiritual life, only the book of the recording angel can tabulate, and only the cycles of eternity can reveal the far-reaching benefits and blessings to mankind of the Southern Baptist's hosts.

Many Labors of Many Kinds.
The aspiration of Southern Baptists is to go wherever man is found and undertake to relieve any and all of his ills. Following Jesus, Christ, they would be all in all. To the remotest sections of the earth and to each and every class in the human social scale, they endeavor to bring love, peace and brotherhood, to bring about the kingdom of God on earth. Theirs a mighty task—to rescue a wrecked world and reestablish it in the reign of the Prince of Glory. A sublime challenge to the spirits of many men.

Imparting Figures.
Figures gathered from all sources give an insight into the standing of the Southern Baptists. The figures for 1924 given below do not include any from foreign churches and the jurisdiction of the convention. In the convention are 27,093 churches, a loss of 746, because of failure to report in three years; church members, 3,494,189, a gain of 127,978; ordained ministers, 19,580, a gain of 2,600; baptisms, 195,864, a loss of 29,980; Sunday schools, 26,001, a loss of 3,247; Sunday school enrollment, 2,281,717, a gain of 161,782; Baptist Young People's unions, 16,019, a gain of 2,081; enrollment in Young People's unions, 495,149, a gain of 22,354; Woman's Missionary union organizations, including four branches of junior organizations, 22,326; value total church property, $127,121,096, a gain of $11,774,136; gifts to local church purposes, $25,045,818, a gain of $2,727,697; gifts to missions, education and benevolences, $9,383,617, a loss of $456,239; total money raised for all purposes, $34,439,435, a gain of $2,271,458. The above figures are official, having been secured from reports of Rev. E. P. Alldredge, secretary of statistics, and losses and gains are shown from year 1924 over 1923.

Results of $75,000,000 Campaign.
Official figures of the net gains made by the convention since the launching of the $75,000,000 campaign here in Atlanta five years ago are as follows: Churches, 1,796; members, 532,841; baptisms, 950,943; for the five years; Sunday schools, net gain, 2,915; enrollment, 545,781; Baptist Young People's unions, 7,943; enrollment, 227,476; annual receipts of Sunday School board, $559,171; Woman's Missionary union organizations, 5,362; gifts to missions, education and benevolences for five years, $52,009,399; gifts to local church purposes for five years, $104,673,561; gain in church property values, $52,847,368. Net gains for five years in hospitals and orphanages: Hospitals, 7; property value, $4,796,771; patients care for, 39,317; gain in orphan's homes, none; value of property in gains, $1,224,889; orphan's care for, 419. Net gains in schools and colleges: Schools and colleges, none; students, 1,090; theological students, 1,069; school property and endowment, $10,875,652. State mission totals for five years: Baptisms, 203,655; new churches organized, 1,910; church houses built, 1,550; state mission expenditures, $6,170,841. Home mission totals for five years: Baptisms, 203,532; church houses built, 2,225; new churches organized, 1,095. Net gains for five years in foreign missions: Missionaries, 205; native workers, 1,515; foreign churches, 553; self-supporting churches, 153; foreign church members, 54,434; baptisms for five years, 47,190.

Georgia and Mississippi Race.
According to official reports made, there is a difference of three-tenths per cent between Mississippi and Georgia in the proportion of Baptists to population. In Mississippi there is one Baptist to every 2.6 persons, while in Georgia the ratio is 2.9. The smallest ratio of Baptist population is found in New Mexico, where there is one Baptist to every 38.8 persons. When the Southern Baptist convention met in Atlanta in 1879 there were reported 1,478,224 white and colored members. Today the convention reports a white membership of 3,494,189. Total number of Baptists in the United States, 8,581,025. Total number of Baptists in the world, 11,820,411.

Fourth Meeting in Atlanta.
During the 69 years the convention has been having annual sessions it has assembled here four times, in 1879, in 1892, in 1919, and this year. Other Georgia cities also have entertained the convention, among them Augusta, Savannah, Macon. Nine times the honor of being the convention preacher has been conferred upon Georgia ministers. They were as follows: Dr. P. H. Mell, in 1880; Dr. Sylvanus Landrum, in 1881; Dr. Lansing Burrows, in 1884; Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, in 1886; Dr. F. C. McConnell, in 1902; Dr. W. W. Landrum, in 1904; Dr. E. C. Dargatzis, in 1909; Dr. W. L. Pickard, in 1910, and Dr. Charles W. Daniel, in 1916. Dr. Len G. Broughton, a former Georgia minister, has been appointed to deliver the convention sermon for next year at Memphis.

Future Program.
The program of future work as outlined by the convention and unanimously adopted indicates intense activity among the forces of the denomination during the next 12 months. First of all, an effort will be made to collect something over $21,000,000 of the 75-million unpaid pledges between now and the last day of December next. During the first week of next December a special every-member canvass among the churches will be made to secure subscriptions payable in cash in 1925 in the sum of $7,500,000 to be used exclusively in support of the south-wide activities of the convention. This $7,500,000 is not to be used, it is said, for purposes supported by state conventions, such as orphanages, schools, hospitals and dispensaries. This sum to be solicited constitutes about 45 per cent of the total contributions of southern Baptists to missions, education and benevolences, and outside of money raised for local church purposes. This means, then, that the churches of the convention will undertake to raise within 18 months some $37,000,000 to complete the 75-million campaign and carry on their usual program outside the expenses of the local church. To awaken the members of the denomination to their opportunities, responsibilities and possibilities, an intensive campaign of education in stewardship and budgeting will be conducted.

Five times during the convention the matter of doctrinal statements was presented. Two resolutions, one of which stipulated that all officers and teachers connected with southern Baptist schools should be required to subscribe to the essentials of salvation, were referred to the committee on resolutions. The convention formally adopted a statement reaffirming its position as being unchanged from strict adherence to the orthodox essentials of salvation. Again, on Saturday, another statement was presented, but not referred. Still again, on Saturday, the convention adopted unanimously a recommendation of the resolution committee appointing a committee of ministers to consider the advisability of making another statement of faith and message, and report at the session next year.

Largest Churches.
Official figures for 15 churches of the convention that have more than 2,000 members are as follows: First, Dallas, 4,085; First, Houston, 3,383; Calvary, Washington City, 3,049; First, San Antonio, 2,822; First, Kansas City, 2,804; Southside, Birmingham, 2,500; First, Shreveport, 2,487; Tabernacle, Atlanta, 2,437; Central, Dallas, 2,363; First, Beaufort, 2,254; Calvary Temple, Savannah, 2,211; Third, St. Louis, 2,118; First, El Paso, 2,100, and Pine street, Richmond, 2,012. Five hundred and eight churches are reported as having more than 500 members, while 138 churches are reported as having more than 1,000 members. Dr. E. P. Alldredge, superintendent of statistics, stated Saturday, that of 22,043 rural churches, in communities of fewer than 1,000 population, there are 5,116 such rural churches that have fewer than 50 members.

This action automatically dissolved the committee of the whole, and placed the bill, without its enacting clause, which virtually killed it, back before the house.

Speaker Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an immediate vote in the house on the committee action in striking out the enacting clause.

In rapid succession, Longworth made three motions, to refer the bill back to committee, the previous question, and to adjourn.

for the bill, which was indicated by blue vote earlier in the day, 203 to 180, which threw the house into committee of the whole for its consideration.

Speakers Gillett took the chair again and immediately recognized Floor Leader Longworth, who jumped to his feet simultaneously with Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, who wanted an

OVER 3,400,000 WILL GET BONUS

Washington, May 19.—It is estimated that 3,038,283 veterans will be entitled to the insurance policies provided by the soldier bonus bill enacted into law today, while 380,583 will be paid cash of $50 or less. The bill also provides for payment to dependents of deceased veterans of the amount of adjusted service compensation to which they would have been entitled.

Adjusted service compensation is figured on the basis of $1 a day for home service and $1.25 a day for overseas service. The first 60 days can not be counted. Also a maximum of 300 days would be allowed.

All veterans up to and including the rank of captain in the army and marine corps and lieutenant in the navy are eligible for the bonus.

Average Policy $962.
It is estimated that the average insurance policy would be valued at $962 while the maximum value of the policies would be about $1,900 for overseas service and $1,600 for home service.

The value of the policy would be the equivalent of the amount which the adjusted service credit, plus 25 per cent, would purchase at regular insurance prices, based on 4 per cent interest compounded annually. To

"My Rheumatism is gone—"
There's glorious joy in knowing this—that more Red-Blood-Cells stops Rheumatism, and that S.S.S. builds a Blood-Cell.

"There are thousands of you men and women, just like myself, slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had

S.S.S. thoroughly rids the body of Rheumatic Impurities.
The wrong idea about rheumatism for 15 years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.!

Say what you will, I never knew such startling results were possible. Well, folks, besides knocking out my rheumatism it gave me back some of the strength I used to have way back! I've got a better color in my face, my appetite is dandy. I don't use my crutches any more. I'm walking around straight-up on two young legs!"

S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. By building blood-cells it builds nerve strength for young folks who ought to have more, and for older people who have little. It stops pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema, chases away impurities. You can always rely on it. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again
CARBUNCLES
Carbuncles draw out the core and gives quick relief.
CARBOIL
GENEROUS 50¢ BOX
At all Druggists—Money-back Guarantee

BILIOUSNESS
Inactive liver, sour stomach, sick headache, constiveness, destroy both mental and physical efficiency.
These disorders easily yield to CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
Pleasant and effective—only 25 cents

666 is a Prescription for Colds, Grippe, Dengue Fever, Constipation, Bilious Headaches and Malarial Fever.

MEN AND WOMEN
If you are sick of being sick, tired of taking patent medicines, of consulting doctors, of not getting better, do not put off another day, but consult me at once and receive my opinion of your case.
Practice Limited to Stomach, Skin and all chronic diseases of men and women. Hours, 9 to 6. Sundays, 10 to 1.
DR. J. L. ROBAK, Specialist
29½ Marietta St., Atlanta, Ga.

Classified Adages
YOU MAY dance on the ropes without reading Euclid. And you may make a straight line for opportunity through the A-B-C Classified Columns without studying geometry.

Read them today!
(Copyright, 1924, by Basil L. Smith)

determine the latter computation, a table of factors has been compiled by experts. Multiplication of the proper factor by the amount of adjusted service compensation for the veteran plus 25 per cent, would give the face value of the insurance certificate. Each certificate, of course, would vary according to the length of service of the veteran and his age at the date of issuance of the policy. The policies would be dated next January 1.

Table of Factors:

Age	Factor
20	2.345
21	2.344
22	2.342
23	2.340
24	2.339
25	2.337
26	2.335
27	2.332
28	2.330
29	2.327
30	2.324
31	2.321
32	2.317
33	2.313
34	2.309
35	2.304
36	2.298
37	2.292
38	2.285
39	2.278
40	2.270
41	2.260
42	2.250
43	2.239
44	2.228
45	2.213
46	2.198
47	2.181
48	2.164
49	2.145
50	2.124
51	2.102
52	2.079
53	2.054
54	2.028
55	2.001
56	1.972
57	1.941
58	1.908
59	1.873
60	1.836
61	1.798
62	1.758
63	1.716
64	1.672
65	1.626

Apply to January 1, 1928.

Application for the bonus may be made at any time before January 1, 1928. The cash payments will not be distributed until after next March.

Loans may be made on the policies up to 90 per cent of their current face value any time after two years from the date of issuance. Thus, on a $1,000 policy at the end of two years, a loan of $879.30 could be made. On this same policy at the end of 19 years, a loan of $831.23 would be possible. The loans may be made at any national or state bank.

Service between April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919, may be counted in computing the adjusted service credit, although enlistment must have been made before November 11, 1918.

Distribute Blanks Soon.
Application blanks soon will be distributed throughout the country through service organizations and the postoffices. Although administration of the bill will center in the veterans' bureau, the veteran will have to send his application to the war department if his service was with the army, and to the navy department if service was with the navy or marine corps. If the veteran served in both the army and navy, the application should be sent to the department under which he last served.

Women who served as yeomen in the navy and marine corps also were included in the bill as eligible to receive its benefits.

The bill stipulates that no one shall be entitled to its benefits for service as a civilian officer or for membership in the reserve officers' training corps or the students' army training corps.

SOLDIER BONUS ENACTED IN LAW
Continued from First Page.

Walsh, of Montana, and Wheeler, of Utah. Total 27.
Farmer-labor: Johnson and Shipstead, of Minnesota. Total 2.
For 50.
Against overriding the veto:
Republicans: Ball, Borah, Colt, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, Greene, Keyes, McKinley, Moses, Pepper, Phipps, Reed, of Pennsylvania, Smoot, Sterling, Wadsworth and Weller. Total 17.
Democrats: Bayard, Bruce, Dial, Edwards, Glass, King, Shields, Swanson and Underwood. Total 9.
Against: 26.

Motion to Delay Rejected.
A single effort at delay was made when the bill was called up. Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, asking unanimous consent for postponement of a vote until Saturday. This was objected to by Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona. Both Senator Curtis, republican whip, and Senator Robinson, democratic floor leader, then said they thought most senators had made up their minds. Reed withdrew his "Vote, vote" resounded through the chamber. President Cummins ordered a roll-call.

There was great tension on the floor and in the packed galleries as the roll was called, the outcome being in doubt all the way. A roar of applause from the galleries, taken up by several senators, announced that the bill had passed over the veto. There were shouts of laughter from the democratic side when Cummins announced the sergeant-at-arms would clear the galleries if the confusion did not subside.

Many in the gallery who did not hear the last part of Cummins' admonition began to rise to go out. They were joined by a majority of others in the gallery, who realized that the show was over, as the senate settled down to humdrum consideration of the Gooding railroad bill.

Four Changed Votes.
President Coolidge had seven senators at his breakfast conference. Four of these, McKinley, Phipps, Keyes and Sterling, changed their votes. The others, Cameron, Dale and Harrell, stood. Senator Greene, of Vermont, who appeared on the floor for the first time since he was hit by a stray bullet in a bootleggers' street battle here, added to those who opposed it. Three other senators, who were absent on the previous vote, stood with the president. Reed, of Pennsylvania, Weller and Moses, Colt changed his vote. This brought the number in opposition on the first vote from 17 to 26. Senator Lenroot, who returned Monday after his illness, voted for the bill.

Only one of the absentees Monday was against the bill, Senator Randall, of Louisiana, who was paired with two democratic colleagues, Harrison and Stephens. Announcement was made for all the other absentees except Owen, of Oklahoma, that they were for the bill. Watson, McCormick, Couzens, and La Follette, republicans, and Walsh, of Massachusetts; Reed, of Missouri, and Stanley, democrats.

The senate has come under the fire of one of the most insistent propagandists for and against the bill that has ever been encountered. Telegrams were stacked high on the desks of many senators as they left the office Monday for the vote. The flood of messages came to a climax Monday morning, at the last minute. Many of those objecting to the bill were from business men, deploring the added expenditure.

JUSTICE DONE AT LAST.
LEGION CHIEF DECLARES.
Indianapolis, Ind., May 19.—John

R. Quinn, national commander of the American legion, in a statement issued here today on the passage of the bonus over the president's veto, declared that "justice has at last been done the veterans."

"After five years of effort, during which the American people have been wholeheartedly with us," said Commander Quinn, "justice has at last been done the veterans. We do not stop to gloat in triumph, for great work remains for the legion to do—work which makes the legion the grandest constructive force for good in America today."

"We shall continue to care for and to guard the interests of our disabled comrades. We shall continue to provide for the helpless children of our comrades who fell on the field of battle."

"We shall preach Americanism and try in every way to show that our slogan, 'The American Legion is an institution of service,' is not an idle boast."

"We heartily thank those representatives in congress who have stood behind us in our long fight to obtain those things, justly due us."

MORE FARM RELIEF CITED AS NECESSITY
Continued from First Page.

by the Minnesota legislature, it was provided that the chamber of commerce should be a law unto itself in establishing rules and regulations for its members. The courts were ousted of jurisdiction in matters pertaining to the chamber and its members.

Under its rules sale of futures is permitted and these reach billions of bushels each year. By flooding the market with these artificial bushels of wheat the market prices can be depressed, to the extent of ruining the market for actual grain.

Organized Cooperative Exchange.
Now without going into any further history of the chamber, I want to say that the farmers of Minnesota and other states of the northwest organized a grain commission company of their own entitled the Equity Cooperative exchange, located at St. Paul. We have done business there now for about 10 years. Our great handicap has been the unfair practices of the chamber of commerce.

We considered these practices so unfair and ruinous to our organization that we asked the aid of the federal trade commission to compel the chamber of commerce to cease its unfair methods.

Last December the commission rendered its decision. It sustained us all the way through in our complaint against the chamber. What effect it will have, I do not know. As it appears now, our organization is going to take the case into the courts. That means further delay, for the courts have always shown a good deal of favor to such institutions in prolonging the time for the litigation until the weaker contestant is worn out.

Asks Government Marketing.
But since starting out to fight the grain speculators through our own grain commission companies, the farmers of the northwest have learned something. If policies could be used by the grain buyers and speculators in creating a monopoly for themselves in the field, why can't the farmers also use a little politics? It seems to me that that is only logical. So we are on the job trying to put over some legislation on our own behalf.

I have been fighting to secure the passage of some real farmer relief legislation. What we farmers want is government marketing. Government marketing as contained in the Norris-Sinclair bill. This marketing system would stabilize prices on farm products. It would also put the grain speculator out of business.

Need More Legislation.
But we need more of this sort of legislation to improve conditions for the farmer. I think that high freight rates are more responsible today for the awful condition of agriculture than is the grain speculator. The grain speculator steps in and drives prices down at a time when the farmers are compelled to sell, but the railroads charge extortionate rates on freight, which I fear will make farming impossible even if we overcome the influence of the market manipulators.

And how are we going to remedy this situation? Frankly, I am of the opinion that there is only one remedy: government ownership of the roads. For years we have been endeavoring to control the rates charged by the railroads both through the interstate commerce commission and state railroad commissions, and we must acknowledge that control has been a one centred per cent failure. Actually, today, we are forced to admit that in some respects government control has proven an advantage to the railroads instead of an advantage to the shippers.

Says Valuation Includes Water.
The chief difficulty in private ownership of railroads lies in the fact that the owners are interested primarily in profit. They care nothing about service, except as it is necessary to the creating of profits. Obviously, this is bad for the public, and it is as wrong as it is harmful since a public utility like the railroads should be operated for service and not for private profit. In fact, railroads should exist for one purpose alone, that of serving the public.

In looking over the history of the railroads briefly, we find them without exception grossly over-capitalized. In many cases, the outstanding bonds and stocks exceed by several times the actual investment in the roads. Take the New York, New Haven & Hartford, for instance: that road between 1916 and 1921 decreased its mileage and yet slightly increased its equipment. It is doubtful whether the road was worth as much in 1921 as in 1916. Yet, the funded debt increased from 214 millions in 1916 to 301 millions in 1921. There was, in other words, an increase of $86,000,000 in debt, though there was a decrease in miles of road operated.

Other Lines on Par.
The story of other railroads is pretty much the same. The Erie, the Boston & Maine, the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, and all of the rest of them have done pretty much what the New Haven did.

And the injustice of it all lies in the fact that this increase in capitalization results in an increase in rates. Under the Esch-Cummins law, the receiver was required to pay a guaranteed 5-1-2 per cent income on a "fair valuation." This "fair valuation" includes billions of dollars of water. That is why freight rates were increased by better than 35 per cent immediately following the passage of the act.

Water Power, Coal and Oil.
Now, rates were high even before the passage of the Esch-Cummins law. Rates should have been reduced and not increased. The burden upon the farmer resulting from high rates was already making the situation a difficult one. But an increase of thirty-five per cent, and in fact a little more than that, in my district, has made farming practically impossible. I venture the prediction that unless the railroads are remedied in the near future, tens of thousands of farmers will go out of business entirely and flock to the cities, even though other remedial legislation be enacted.

Wants Public Ownership.
As I stated above, the railroad situation will only be straightened out when we get public ownership. No hope need be looked for through control for there will be a constant increase in capital charges under private ownership and these are invariably reflected in increased rates. Through public ownership, however, capital charges will not increase but decrease, and eventually it will be all together.

I am unqualifiedly in favor of public ownership of public utilities. The people own them and should have complete control of their own property—such natural resources as water power, coal and oil. The telephone and telegraph companies should be made a part of the postal system, as is the case in all European countries.

Tomorrow—Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

COOLIDGE THREAT GOES TO DISCARD
Continued from First Page.

just approved is the least objectionable of all bonus schemes and distributes the burden on a fixed basis so that financing operations may be planned long in advance.

Treasury officials said they still favor a 25 per cent reduction on current taxes, but the democrats and insurgents in congress declared Monday that they would oppose any separate provision of this kind.

Democrats feel sure that Coolidge will accept any sort of tax bill they send him.

Coolidge Must Sign.
"If President Coolidge vetoes the tax bill, it means his defeat," said Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi, just chosen as the key-note for the democratic national convention.

White house officials were much disconcerted over the resolute Coolidge heard of it while resting in his room, recovering from his recent cold. The disposition at the white house is to treat the question as a closed issue now.

"The sun will come up tomorrow just the same," one official said.

Convention Row Sure.
But some difficulty is bound to be caused at the convention. Coolidge managers will not relish the inevitable attack of pro-bonus congressmen and senators at the convention to point with pride to Monday's action in the senate.

The next job is to set up administrative machinery. It was significant that before the afternoon was over, officials of the war and navy departments were in conference with veterans bureau officials working out the bonus procedure.

Miss Eleanor J. Finley, for many years the only woman telegraph operator on the Pennsylvania railroad system west of Pittsburgh, has been placed on the company's roll of honor in recognition of her forty years of faithful service.

COLOR POISONING CLOUDS THE MIND

Makes You Nervous, Irritable and Blue.

You are a wise man or woman if you understand your colon and keep it in perfect working order. Health, happiness, vigor and long life are the gifts which an active colon gives you—and a lazy colon takes away.

Your colon is the last five feet of your digestive canal. It is your sewerage system; your garbage can, so to speak. Keep it clean and you are well and happy; let it stagnate and it will distill the poisons of decay, fermentation (gas) and putrefaction into your blood; poisoning your brain and nerves so that you are restless, irritable and blue; poisoning your heart so that you are weak, listless and lazy; poisoning your lungs so that your breath is heavy or foul; poisoning your stomach and digestive organs so that you are bloated, belching and uncomfortable with gas pains; poisoning your blood so that your skin looks yellow, sallow and unhealthy; poisoning every part and organ of your body, through your blood, making you look and feel old and ugly long before your time; making your joints and your back stiff and rheumatic; your eyes dull and your brain sluggish.

Does your colon work that well? If not, it has lost its life. What do we mean by life? Your colon is a hollow muscle. Its walls are made up of long, muscle fibres or muscle cells which, by their contraction, empty the colon just as you would squeeze a rubber hose pipe. These muscle fibres should contract three times a day—within an hour after each meal. If they do not contract they have lost their tone—their power to contract.

But, there is a practically perfect remedy for lazy, flabby colons. This remedy quickly restores the tone, is absolutely harmless and decidedly pleasant to take. Clip this article and take it to your druggist. Tell him to give you a bottle of Colotone—the colon tonic. It will cost you one dollar if you are pleased with it, nothing if you are not pleased with it, for every druggist has been instructed to refund the price and ask no questions if his customer is not thoroughly satisfied.

But you will be delighted with Colotone for it will make you feel like a different person. Your eyes will sparkle with vitality and alertness; your brain will be clear and active; your complexion will be fresh and transparent, reflecting the purity of your blood; your digestion will be thorough and your appetite keen, for your food will taste delightful and will agree with you; you will sleep and wake refreshed; your system will be full of vim and vigor; you will feel younger, stronger, vigorous—you will enjoy the pleasure of living.

Get started on Colotone today. Nearly every person over twenty-five or thirty years of age, and many younger, need Colotone more or less. You will be simply delighted with it. Colotone can not possibly do you any harm—it can only do you good. Try it on our guarantee. It will help you live long, well and happily.—(adv.)

THIRTY PHARMACY STUDENTS TO GET DEGREES TONIGHT

BY ALICE JANDUS.

Thirty students from the Southern School of pharmacy will receive their diplomas tonight at the college auditorium, 143 West Peachtree street. The graduation address will be delivered by H. O. Swetlik, while the degrees will be conferred by Dr. James N. Brawner, member of the board of trustees, and Dr. R. C. Hood, president of the college.

The students to receive degrees are: J. B. Allison, C. E. Cline, H. R. Darden, R. L. Horton, W. P. Lottell, Miss Florence Moriarty, Z. O. Moore, C. E. McMichael, E. Z. Platt, J. D. Pike, A. F. Stapleton, H. S. Spires, W. G. Sheldon, J. H. Stevens, S. I. Vinson, T. E. Whitehead, G. W. Williams, C. E. Bolinger, L. S. Cannon, E. Caldwell, M. L. Collier, P. E. Dixon, A. C. Frost, A. L. Moore, V. D. Morrison, H. M. Pickett, T. P. Caver, G. A. Plaxco, S. J. Williams and Miss Doris Thurmond.

G. T. NORTEN SELLS PARCEL OF REALTY FOR $20,000 CASH

George T. Norten, Atlanta realtor, announces the sale for Realty Sales Co. to Empire Trust Co. of a tract of 38.65 acres fronting 1,200 feet on the east side of Hemphill avenue, just south of Collier road, with entrances to Collier and Howell Mill roads. The consideration was $20,000 cash, according to the announcement.

It is a part of the old Koehler property, another portion of which was sold in 1922 to the Clarke Realty company for the use of "The University of America."

SILK DRESSES
Cleaned and Pressed
Stoddard
126 Peachtree
IVy 0043 -- Walnut 1222

Ask for Horlick's
The ORIGINAL Malted Milk
Safe Milk
For Infants, Invalids, Children, The Aged
Digestible—No Cooking. A Light Lunch
Avoid Imitations—Substitutes

Our Great Clothing Sale CONTINUES!

Since the beginning of our drastic cut price sale on men's high-grade clothing, both our stores have been crowded with wise buyers. Come in today and get your suit at these remarkably low prices. Sale includes Collegian suits—America's foremost clothing—

$30 Suits	Sale Price.....	$23.75
$35 Suits	Sale Price.....	$26.75
$40 Suits	Sale Price.....	$31.75
$45 Suits	Sale Price.....	$36.75
$50 Suits	Sale Price.....	$39.75
$55 Suits	Sale Price.....	$43.75
$60 Suits	Sale Price.....	$46.75
$65 Suits	Sale Price.....	$49.75

One Special Lot of Suits Half Price!
Blackstock-Hale-Morgan Co.
2 Peachtree Street—Exclusive Clothiers
2 Stores in Atlanta
—39 Marietta Street Clothiers and Furnishers

Tomorrow—Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

COOLIDGE THREAT GOES TO DISCARD
Continued from First Page.

just approved is the least objectionable of all bonus schemes and distributes the burden on a fixed basis so that financing operations may be planned long in advance.

Treasury officials said they still favor a 25 per cent reduction on current taxes, but the democrats and insurgents in congress declared Monday that they would oppose any separate provision of this kind.

Democrats feel sure that Coolidge will accept any sort of tax bill they send him.

Coolidge Must Sign.
"If President Coolidge vetoes the tax bill, it means his defeat," said Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi, just chosen as the key-note for the democratic national convention.

White house officials were much disconcerted over the resolute Coolidge heard of it while resting in his room, recovering from his recent cold. The disposition at the white house is to treat the question as a closed issue now.

"The sun will come up tomorrow just the same," one official said.

Convention Row Sure.
But some difficulty is bound to be caused at the convention. Coolidge managers will not relish the inevitable attack of pro-bonus congressmen and senators at the convention to point with pride to Monday's action in the senate.

The next job is to set up administrative machinery. It was significant that before the afternoon was over, officials of the war and navy departments were in conference with veterans bureau officials working out the bonus procedure.

Miss Eleanor J. Finley, for many years the only woman telegraph operator on the Pennsylvania railroad system west of Pittsburgh, has been placed on the company's roll of honor in recognition of her forty years of faithful service.

One of the Outstanding Achievements at High's May Festival Sale Is This Offering of Fashionable Silk Frocks For Every Summer Occasion!

HUNDREDS of them and every one of them is just as fresh, just as pretty as a half-blown June rose!

Of course, these are higher priced dresses, which, by a stroke of really brilliant buymanship, we are able to present in the May Festival Sale at

$19.75 and $24.75

Such variety to choose from! Dresses of every silk that's fashionable for the summer months—

—FIGURED FOULARD
—PRINTED CREPE DE CHINE
—PLAIN CREPE DE CHINE
—PLAIN SPIRAL CREPE
—PLAIN SATIN CREPE
—PLAIN GEORGETTE CREPE
—PRINTED GEORGETTE CREPE
—BEADED GEORGETTE CREPE

Such delightful styles—almost unbelievable in dresses at these modest prices! Here's a frock fashioned of Georgette of just the shade of the soft green sea. Over the shoulder are inserts of creamy Venice lace.

And here's a dress which will delight the heart of a matron. It is of beaded Georgette crepe falling in straight, simple lines.

Then there are dresses of dark colored Georgette crepe finely pleated from yoke to hem, dresses of Georgette in pastel tints abloom with flowers. Figured foulards cool-looking and colorful, plain or veiled with Georgette, striking models of black and white, tailored frocks of spiral crepe.

In a word, frocks in which to stroll fashionably down every path of summer—dresses to satisfy every whim; dresses to wear on every occasion—at $19.75 and $24.75.

High's Dress Section—Second Floor
J. M. HIGH CO.

BATTLE PROMISED ON POLICE CHANGE

Action on the Edward H. Inman proposal to abolish the office of chief of police is expected to be taken by city council in adjourned session Thursday afternoon, following a public hearing on the proposal before the charter revision committee of council at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. An amendment to the city charter by the general assembly would be necessary to make the change.

Councilman Inman proposes to place a superintendent of police in charge of the department instead of a chief. If adopted, a permanent police executive may be elected by the police committee without waiting for a court decision on former Chief James L. Beavers' appeal from the committee's action in discharging him.

Councilman W. E. Saunders, charter revision chairman, stated that all persons interested in the issue would be given opportunity to speak at the public hearing. Regardless of the committee's report, a spirited fight on the floor of council is promised by supporters and opponents of the plan.

A fifteen-story hotel and church will soon be built around and over the old Calvary Baptist church, on West Fifty-seventh street, in New York city, while the congregation will continue to sit in their accustomed pews.

Principals in Double Tragedy Saturday

ATLANTAN LEADS PRESBYTERIANS OUT

Continued From First Page.

the fence. This is simply a testimony declaring that we get believe in the great doctrines of God's word.

"The Rev. William Duncan, of Troy, Ala., asserted the people are waiting for some declaration.

"The Presbyterians of the north are waiting to see we have the courage to make this declaration," he said. "The issue is upon us; we cannot evade it. Let us make this assertion that the people may know this body stands on fundamentals."

Lately Takes Part.
The Rev. A. F. Cunningham, of Austin, Texas, a member of the committee which drew up the declaration, made a plan for adoption.

"We feel these 10 declarations meet the vital issues of the great religious controversy breaking throughout the world today," he said.

The debate went back and forth between the ministers as well as elders. The Rev. C. L. King, of Richmond, declared that if the substitute for the declarations were not adopted "the whole country within 48 hours would know that this church is split wide open."

One commissioner demanded to know who it was that had proposed the overtone adding for the declarations of faith. The Rev. W. R. Anderson, of Hope, Ark., announced that he was one of those who proposed the overtone and explained that it was presented because of differences over the fundamentals of faith in his presbytery, the presbytery of Ouachita, Ark.

Press Dragged In.
Even the secular press was brought into the controversy, being accused by the Rev. S. W. McGill, of Louisville, of a desire to use the controversy as food for sensationalism. He warned the commissioners to be on their guard because, he said, the press was waiting to spread a sensation from coast to coast.

An amendment by the Rev. J. M. Walker, of Charlotte, N. C., was embodied in the substitute that finally passed.

In one other action of the day the assembly expressed its sentiment on this issue when it amended the church rules making it obligatory for a candidate for the ministry or to become an elder or dean, to take a vow that if his views on the fundamentals of the church should change he would notify his presbytery. This was construed to mean that his position in the church could then be decided by the presbytery.

Charge Texas Synod.
Charges against the synod of Texas were filed by the Rev. Robert A. McCurdy and the Rev. A. H. H. McCurdy, the latter of San Antonio, involving doctrinal issues. The exact charges were not disclosed, but it was said they were principally of a technical nature. Charges of a similar nature also were lodged against the synod of South Carolina by the Rev.

Top, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Kline, victims in double tragedy at their home in Forest Hill Park at midnight Saturday, when Kline killed his wife, after he had failed to effect a reconciliation, and then committed suicide. Below, Mrs. S. J. Mauldin, mother of Mrs. Kline, who narrowly escaped death at the hands of her son-in-law. Mrs. Mauldin has promised to give the best of care to little Andrew Kline, 3-month-old child of the unfortunate couple.

H. T. Brookhout and W. W. Lewis. These charges will be tried by a commission before the assembly session ends.

The assembly decided that title to the property of the church at Montreat, N. C., should remain in a board of trustees acting for the assembly. The church holds summer meets at Montreat. The question of title has been up for several years.

May Postpone Adjournment.
Revision of the book of church order, which contains the laws of church government, consumed a great part of the day. The important report of the committee on bills and overtures presented by the Rev. Alexander Sprunt, of Charleston, S. C., had proceeded only to the third overture when the debate on fundamental doctrines started. This report will be continued tomorrow.

Reports of six standing committees scheduled for this afternoon were pushed out of the calendar by the lengthy debates. They will be heard tomorrow. A popular meeting in the afternoon, following funeral services at 2:30 o'clock from the home of a sister, Mrs. M. S. Morgan, 424 Windsor street, Dr. Hambrick, pastor of the Central Baptist church, conducted the services.

PEACH GROWERS ADOPT STANDARD FOR 1924 PACKING
Macon, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The six-layer peach as the standard for packing was decided on today at a meeting of the horticultural committee of the Georgia Peach Growers' association and representatives of the United States department of agriculture. Among those present at the meeting were J. A. Berckmans, of Mayfield, chairman of the committee; J. H. Baird, of Fort Valley, and E. E. Conklin and Robert Bier, of the United States department of agriculture.

The adoption of the six-layer peach is expected to do much to improve the value of the Georgia crop. Smaller peaches will be put to some other use.

Offices were opened here today by the Fruit Growers' express and Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers, Inc.

POLICE SEEKING WRITER OF NOTE
Continued From First Page.

mother. She has jailed me and shot at me, dogged me enough, and wrecked my home.

"She has let me catch her making plots with other men in the court room for my wife to use against me, while I was being tried, and I couldn't stand it, for I loved my wife and baby too good, and rather fill a murderer's grave than see it done that way, because I am an old man, 60 years old, and rather be dead than see my baby brought up in a bunch of crooks.

"And I want this to be published so the public will see. Good-by to this whole round world.

"A. J. K."

Verdict of Suicide.
A verdict of suicide was returned in the case of Kline, but the jury did not pass on the death of his wife as there was a witness to the killing. Carl McLarty, a neighbor, who tes-

U. S. COURT OPENS SESSION AT ROME

Constitution Bureau, Masonic Temple Annex,
Phone 1069.

Rome, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Judge Samuel H. Sibley, in his address to the federal grand jury in the United States court here today, assailed the use of narcotics, the extravagance of young people, and dishonesty, and stated that the enforcement of the prohibition law had already done much to curb the crime wave of the United States. He predicted that it would do much more as the net of the law was dragged around its illicit manufacture and sale.

Three days of the court will be devoted to criminal cases and the remaining time of the court will be devoted to disposing of the civil calendar.

More Than 18,000
At "Better Homes"
Here Last Week

That "Better Homes week," celebrated throughout the United States last week, was a great success in Atlanta is proven by the fact that 18,000 people inspected the three demonstration homes and the exhibits at the Samuel Inman school during the week, according to official announcement Monday. A careful check was kept on the number visiting each place, and reports of the various committees made to Mrs. Newton C. Wing, general chairman, showed that the total number slightly exceeded 18,000.

Dr. James Ford, of Washington, D. C., a national director of the movement, who visited Atlanta and inspected the homes Friday, stated that the exhibition here was undoubtedly the greatest in the south, and ranked with the best in the entire country. The winning city, which will receive a $500 prize, has not been named.

Dr. Ford commented favorably on the three houses here, which were furnished on scales to correspond with different salaries; praised the idea of furnishing a separate demonstration home for negroes, and also spoke of the fine work done by Atlanta schools and civic organizations in connection with the movement.

NEW TRIAL PLEA FOR SATTERFIELD

Continued from First Page.

who died several years ago, was Hart's sister.

Other Affidavits Expected.
Attorney Holloway indicated other affidavits dealing with Satterfield's alleged unbalanced mind at the time of the homicide were expected also.

If Judge Humphries refuses to grant a new trial, Attorney Holloway will seek to appeal that decision to the supreme court of Georgia. To do so, it will be necessary that the trial judge sign Satterfield's bill of exceptions taking the case up, as no appeal will be accepted in the high court without such signature. Should Judge Humphries refuse to certify the bill of exceptions, Attorney Holloway is expected to go before the supreme court for a mandamus to compel him to do so.

Would Delay Action Months.
Should the supreme court grant a mandamus, Judge Humphries will have to sign the bill of exceptions. In such event, the case would again be pending in the high court probably for some months before the supreme court reached it to decide the question of whether Judge Humphries erred in refusing a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Satterfield Is Confident.
Satterfield has not given up hope and doesn't believe he will hang on Friday, he declared Monday night.

Seated on the side of his cot in the dim-lighted cell, he seemed to be in a most cheerful mood and only for the constant batting of the eyes and an uneasy twist of the lips, one could hardly distinguish him from other prisoners as being the man doomed to die.

"I want to make all the friends I possibly can, because friends are what I need now. I feel perfectly confident that I will be living Friday long after the hour set for my execution," he said.

He expressed his appreciation for the "interest his many friends had shown him in Atlanta and all over the state of Georgia." He laughed and talked as if the death sentence were not resting over him.

COAT SUITS
Cleaned and Pressed
Stoddard
126 Peachtree
IVy 0043 -- Walnut 1222

For You—a Free Test

New Nicety New beauty and new charm

There is a way to prettier teeth, to new protection, new cleanliness, new charm. Millions now employ it. Then results are shown in every circle by the whiter teeth you see.

This is to offer them to you. Test this new method of teeth cleaning. Learn what it means in your home.

The great enemy is film
Film is the teeth' great enemy—that viscous film you feel. It causes most tooth troubles.

It clings to teeth, becomes discolored, forms cloudy coats. No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it. It makes teeth dingy and unclean. Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Few escape such troubles under old ways of teeth cleaning.

Modern science has found better

Protect the Enamel
Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combant which contains harsh grit.

Pepsodent
The New-Day Dentifrice

Based on modern research. Now advised by leading dentists the world over.

ways. It has found two film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists the world over have been urging its adoption. Now careful people of some 50 nations use this modern method.

Feel it act. See its results
Pepsodent does other things important. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

These factors combined bring one results amazing and delightful.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

You will know in ten days that this new method should be daily applied in your home. Cut out coupon now.

THE PEPSODENT COMPANY, 1931
Dept. E, 1104 S. Wabash Ave.,
Chicago, Ill.
Mail 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent to

Only one tube to a family.

new trains faster time better service

Rock Island
St. Louis

Kansas City & Colorado

COLORADO FLYER—Leaves St. Louis 9:07 A. M. Arrives Kansas City 5:30 P. M. Denver 12:55 P. M. and Colorado Springs 12:40 P. M. (next day). Only one night en route. Observation Car.

Meals—the Best on Wheels

COLORADO EXPRESS—Leaves St. Louis 10:00 P. M. (instead of 9:03 P. M.). Arrives Kansas City 7:30 A. M. (next morning); Denver and Colorado Springs (second morning).

No. 23—Leaves St. Louis 7:00 A. M. (instead of 8:45 A. M.). Arrives Kansas City 5:50 P. M.

Rock Island is also route of Rocky Mountain Limited to Colorado, Golden State Limited and Memphis-Californian to California.

Low round trip fares West this summer with choice of routes via St. Louis, Memphis, Kansas City or Chicago.

For further information and descriptive booklets ask

V. M. Chis, Gen. Agt. Rock Island Lines
218 Healey Bldg., Phone Walnut 1943
Atlanta, Ga.

Rock Island Lines
The Scenic Route

How to Banish Piles

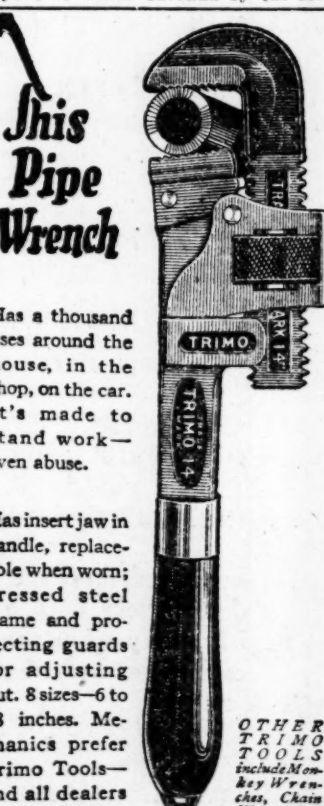

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Jacobs' Drug Stores and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.—(adv.)

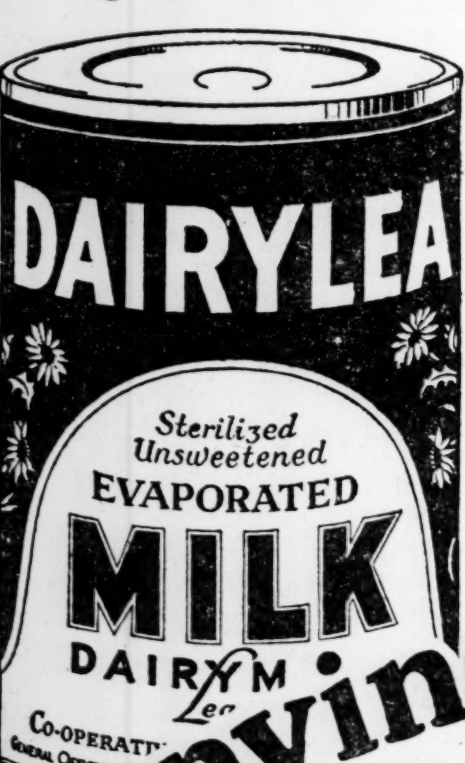

TRIMO
Has a thousand uses around the house, in the shop, on the car. It's made to stand work—even abuse.

Has insert jaw in handle, replaceable when worn; pressed steel frame and protecting guards for adjusting nut, 8 sizes—6 to 48 inches. Mechanics prefer Trimo Tools—and all dealers sell them.

TRIMONT MFG. CO.
ROXFURY, MASS.

TRIMO

DAIRYLEA
Sterilized Unsweetened
EVAPORATED
MILK
DAIRYM
Co-Operative
General Offices

Convince Yourself!

More Than 260 Will Receive Diplomas at Tech on June 9

When the 260-odd seniors receive their diplomas from the various departments Monday, June 9, the largest class that has ever finished will be graduated from the Georgia School of Technology.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Dr. Carter Helm Jones, of Atlanta, at the Second Baptist church, Sunday, June 8, at 11 o'clock.

Candidates for degrees will attend the sermon in body wearing the caps and gowns in which they will be graduated the following day. Members of the faculty of the several departments also will attend the sermon in cap and gown.

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Tech, will be in charge of the graduating ceremonies on Monday. Dr. A. B. Winship, of Boston, Mass., editor of The New England Journal of Education and one of the foremost education leaders in the country, will be orator of the day.

1923 Next Largest.
The class graduated in 1923 was the largest to finish in the history of the school up to that time. However, this year's class exceeds that of 1923 by a margin of some 50 men. The demand for technically trained men and the realization of the need for higher education generally, no doubt, explains the gradual increase of the various classes from year to year.

Out of the total number that will be graduated, 178 are from Georgia—more than from all other states of the Union together. Most of the remaining are from adjoining southern states with the possible exception of some 10 per cent who come from the north and east. Recent statistics compiled by the National Alumni association indicate more than 70 per cent of the men who graduate from Tech remain in the south to engage in southern industry and to become southern citizens. Of the number that will graduate, three are from Cuba and one from Greece.

The greatest number of men to graduate from any one department of the school comes from the electrical engineering department, including 60 men in all.

Program for Alumni.
An extensive program for the alumni has been planned by the National Alumni association. Their first gathering will be at a business meeting in the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Monday, June 9, at 9 a. m. At noon a banquet will be given at the Capital City club, while in the afternoon there will be a baseball game and a golf tournament. The teams will be made up from local and out-of-town alumni attending the exercises.

The latter part of the week preceding commencement will be filled with a round of social and fraternal gatherings. Prominent among these will be the reception Dr. Brittain will give the seniors on June 13 at his home on North avenue between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock. At 7 o'clock the same night, the annual senior banquet will take place at the Hotel Biltmore. Other events looked forward to with anticipation include the junior promenade, which comes at 10 o'clock p. m., June 5, followed by the senior hop on Friday night, immediately following the Biltmore banquet. Saturday at 10 p. m. the sophomore American will be held. The various fraternities will also come in for their round of good times when they will give dances, receptions and engage in numerous social functions which they are not allowed during the regular school term. As a fitting climax to the entire social program comes the Pan-Hellenic dance, with all of its splendor and merry-making.

Trustees To Meet.
Among the other important things to occur during the week of commencement will be the meeting of the board of trustees. This meeting, held annually, is scheduled to come on Saturday, June 7. At it the president of the board will submit his annual report. Dr. Brittain, as president of the school, will also present to the board his yearly report covering the numerous phases of work that comes under his jurisdiction. In addition, current questions regarding the general welfare of the school will be discussed and plans made for the future.

DOCTORS DESPAIR OF LIFE FOR MAN WHO CUT THROAT

The death of Philip Sohmer, 23, of 483 Washington street, who early Monday attempted suicide by slashing his throat while in a despondent mood over a love affair, is expected momentarily, doctors at Grady hospital, who have despaired of saving his life, declared Monday night. As had been his custom for several years, Sohmer drove to the Grant park tennis courts Monday morning with his racket and ball, with the evident intention of playing off a tie score with several of his friends, whom he said he expected to meet there. On arriving at the park he borrowed a knife from the custodian, telling him he wished to mend a string in his racket. Sohmer then walked to the car and slashed his throat several times, severing two large arteries.

Friends of the young man attribute his action to worry over a girl with whom he had fallen in love while in New York recently.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR H. C. ASHFORD TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Homer C. Ashford, chief deputy tax collector of Fulton county, who died Sunday at a private hospital, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of Greenberg & Bond, with Rev. J. B. Mitchell, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be in Cincinnati.

He was affiliated with the Ashford Trunk and Bag company before being elected chief deputy tax collector four years ago. He was a member of the Gate City lodge of Masons, the Mystic Shrine, Atlanta lodge of Elks and St. Mark's Methodist church.

U. S. TO GUARD MONEY Will Protect All Shipments of $5,000 or More.

In accordance with orders from the postmaster general, Postmaster Edwin K. Large is preparing to send armed guards with all shipments of money amounting to $5,000 or more, it was announced Monday at the postmaster's office.

In a letter of instructions from First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett, it was pointed out that several large mail robberies had occurred recently as a result of a growing tendency of bandits to attack mails and the failure of postal employees to guard valuable registered mail.

RAIL SHIPPERS' BOARD TO BANQUET JUNE 10

The southeastern shippers' regional advisory board, a division of the American Railway association, will hold its first annual meeting and banquet at 7 p. m., June 10, at Ansley hotel.

The advisory board is composed of railroad representatives and representatives from big shippers from all southeastern states. The board is a comparatively new organization and exists for the purpose of bettering shipping conditions and all forms of transportation.

PLAN FULL PAYMENT OF CHEST PLEDGES

Plans for making Atlanta as nearly as possible a 100 per cent payment city on Community Chest pledges were broached Monday afternoon by the chest executive committee and will be developed further Wednesday night, when the entire membership of the organization will meet in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

"The difference between the emotional atmosphere of a campaign for pledges and the everyday atmosphere of reason and common sense of the months that follow in which those pledges are to be paid, represents the difference between what a city promises and what it performs," said J. M. B. Hoxsey, chairman of the executive committee, following its meeting Monday.

"Some cities—namely St. Louis and others that rank high—make records on their payments of nearly 100 per cent," Mr. Hoxsey explained. "Other cities fall far below that figure."

"Because the payment of pledges means even more to the 36 agencies in the Atlanta chest than the making of those pledges represented, and also because Atlanta is a proud city and we want to keep its record high, we are beginning now to stimulate full payment of every pledge."

Mr. Hoxsey added that the work toward this objective will tie in with the beginning of preparations for next November's second Community Chest campaign. Plans for that campaign are already being drawn, he said.

KENTUCKY FIDDLER ARRIVES IN CITY ON TOUR OF U. S.

Col. William Hopkins, of Louisville, known as the "Kentucky Fiddler," who says he has been fiddling for a livelihood 46 years, arrived in Atlanta Saturday on a tour of the United States. He has completed about half the trip, he says. Colonel Hopkins will play for various organizations while in Atlanta.

Rev. J. L. Steele, recently called to the pastorate of the New Porterfield Baptist church, Porterfield, Ga., will be ordained in the Kirkwood Baptist church Wednesday night. He is the first candidate for the ministry sent out from this church.

Rev. J. L. Jackson, the pastor, assisted by other Baptist ministers, will conduct the ordination service.

Land Condemnation Case Argued Monday In Court of Appeals

Argument in the case of the Washington Land company against Mrs. Frances B. Pratt, involving her right to condemn certain lands on the Coosawatee river, in Gilmer county, was heard Monday before the state court of appeals.

This case was appealed from the Blue Ridge circuit after the court at Marietta set aside a temporary restraining order. It is contended by the defendant that the Washington Land company is closely affiliated with the Georgia Railway and Power company and that the suit is merely an effort to forestall competition with the latter concern.

H. H. Dean, of Gainesville, and Samuel C. Evans, of Atlanta, represent the plaintiff in error, while Watkins & Ashill represent the defendant.

SUES COLLECTOR ROSE

John S. Candler Claims Illegal Collection of Taxes.

John S. Candler, prominent Atlanta lawyer, filed suit Monday in federal district court to recover from J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue in Georgia, the sum of $7,200.92 which he claims was unjustly and illegally assessed by Mr. Rose in his official capacity.

The money represents additional income tax for 1917 which was assessed against Mr. Candler on $60,000 dividends which he received on Coca-Cola stock. He contends this sum was not taxable as it represented profits of the Coca-Cola company prior to March.

Farmers of Chile have a shortage of workers in the harvest fields and cannot get sufficient help at any price.

SHORT LINE IS JUNKED

Bus Competition Driving Roads Out of Business.

Notice was received by the Georgia public service commission Monday from the interstate commerce commission that it had approved junking of the Pelham and Havana railroad, a shortline road which connects Grady county, Georgia, and Gadsden county, Florida.

This makes the second shortline road to be junked in Georgia within a week, the Statesville railroad having been ordered junked early last week. It is stated at the office of the commission that automobile bus competition is the factor which is driving these local roads out of business. The Pelham and Havana will be abandoned within the next thirty days.

Radio machines are barred from Jamaica.

Nearly 400,000 people have adopted the faith of Christ in China.

FAIR AND WARM TODAY

Mild Temperatures in Prospect for Entire Week.

Continued fair weather and warm temperatures are offered as the weather menu for Tuesday by Forecaster C. F. von Hermann.

Mild temperatures with generally fair weather is in prospect for the entire week. However, there may be a few clouds to interfere with the sun's rays at times on Tuesday.

FOUR DAYS LEFT TO SUBMIT ESSAYS FOR $10 PRIZES

BY ALICE JANDUS.
Students of high schools, junior high and grade schools in Atlanta and vicinity still have four more days in which to compete for prizes of $10 each offered by Mrs. Albert Thornton for the best essays on exhibition of the work of Atlanta artists at the Woman's club building. Title of the essay is to be "The Work of Art I Like Best and Why." The essay must not exceed 300 words in length. Those submitted by grade schools must be approved in writing by the teachers. Not more than five essays should be sent from any one grade school room. All essays are to be mailed to Mrs. Joseph B. Hosmer, 737 Sycamore street, Decatur, postmarked not later than May 30.

Poland is a large producer of oak flooring.

Satinwood is brought from India, Ceylon and the West Indies.

Hart Schaffner & Marx sent us their best clothes for spring

We're selling them at HALF-PRICE

$\frac{1}{3}$ off $\frac{1}{4}$ off in our half-million dollar removal sale

Never in our history had we assembled so many fine clothes for a big season's business. Then we suddenly decided the time was ripe to tear down our store and to rebuild Atlanta's most modern clothing store.

There was nothing to do but sell our enormous stock and move into temporary quarters. We're not taking any half-way measures---we simply put prices on our clothes that are making them walk out of our store just as fast as we can fit them on the customers who throng our building every day.

You'll find a big assortment to choose from now, but it won't be here very long

Daniel Brothers Company

45-49 Peachtree Street

Insect Pests
Just One Whiff Kills Instantly
SCIENCE wins again!
And the housewife enjoys a new and joyous freedom.
Now you can keep your home free from every flying, crawling, bug or insect pest of any kind. Spray just once with Fly-Flu, the new Insect Poison Gas, and rid your premises of Moths (and their eggs), Flies, Mosquitoes, Roaches, Ants, Fleas, Lice that infest plants, bugs or vermin of any description. You will enjoy an insect-less home.
Genuine Fly-Flu leaves no unpleasant odor. It is colorless, stainless and absolutely harmless to plants, human beings or domestic animals.
Insist on genuine Fly-Flu, at your grocer's or druggist's. Substitutes can't and won't do the work.

KILLS EVERY INSECT HARMLESS TO HUMANS

Economical to use! Takes the place of kitchen and bathroom cleansers, and deodorizers; polishes furniture and metal. Fifty-nine uses in every home. Substitutes can't and won't do the work.

FLY-FLU KILLS—
FLIES MOSQUITOES
BED BUGS ANTS
WATER BUGS ROACHES FLEAS
MOTHS (AND THEIR EGGS)

LARGE BOTTLE WITH SPRAYER
50c

At Drug, Grocery and other Stores
Sold in Bulk to Hotels, Hospitals, and other users of insecticides in large quantities.
Trade Marked by Fly-Flu Corporation
Manufactured and distributed by LEHN & FINK, Inc.
635 Greenwich St., New York, N. Y.

Take Calotabs
TRADE MARK REG
for the liver
Beware of imitations. Demand the genuine in 10c and 35c packages bearing above trade mark.

Cuticura Will Heal Pimples Rashes

Gently smear the affected surface with Cuticura Ointment. Let it remain five minutes, then wash off with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Continue bathing for some minutes using the Soap freely. This treatment is best on rising and retiring but is effective at any time.
Samples Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 107, Malden 44, Mass." Sold everywhere. Sample Ointment 25c and the Talcum 25c. 100c Try our new Shaving Stick.

CLARK HOWELL
Editor and General Manager.
Clark Howell, Jr., Business Manager.

Entered at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

Telephone Main 6000

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 20, 1924.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
By Carrier or Mail.
Daily and 1 Mo. 2 Mo. 3 Mo. 6 Mo. 1 Yr.
Daily . . . 20c 40c 60c 1.20 2.40 4.80
Single Copies—Daily, 5c; Sunday, 10c.
Sundays . . . 10c 40c 60c 1.20 2.40 4.80

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 3 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at the following places: The Associated Press, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Times, 100 N. York St.; The New York Herald Tribune, 100 N. York St.; The New York Journal-American, 100 N. York St.; The New York Sun, 100 N. York St.; The New York Tribune, 100 N. York St.

carried out by the terms of the treaty and that is the settlement of the Mosul oil tract.

Japan will ratify this pact, leaving for the pages of history a most ignominious treaty, one which satisfied few, though it was intended to work good for many.

THE BONUS QUACKERY.
President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill has been overridden by congress and the pillage is sanctioned by law.

It means that the day will not come for years, if ever, when the tax levied on the people of this country by the federal government will even approximate the normal burden carried before the Great War.

It means that high taxes are here to stay and that the prospect of relief so earnestly hoped for has gone glimmering.

It means that the burden imposed by this new so-called bonus measure is simply the beginning of an expenditure of untold millions yet to be authorized, for the experience of the federal government in this will simply duplicate that of the civil war pension system.

Twenty years after the civil war, James A. Garfield, then a member of the house, assured congress in submitting a pension measure for fifty million dollars that the limit had been reached, and that each year thereafter the appropriation would automatically be reduced.

Instead of that it has steadily risen until 59 years after the civil war it is many, many times more than it was when Garfield assured congress that the limit had been reached.

And so it will be with the measure just passed over the president's courageous veto.

Only two more votes would have sustained the veto in the senate. It is unfortunate that those two votes could not have been furnished by the democrats, but the vote on the veto was without political significance, as a majority of both parties voted to override it.

We believe that public sentiment is overwhelmingly back of the veto. It is incomprehensible that it could be otherwise unless it be that in its present bewildered state of mind the public has lost sight of the fact that only a short while ago it was acclaiming tax reduction as the most vital issue of the day.

And the worst of it is that the bonus measure as passed is a delusion and a snare, giving the veterans that which in the long run will mean but little or nothing, for the relief offered is practically without substantial benefit to those with whom it was intended to curry favor.

The president's record in this matter stands in striking contrast to the political quackery of congress in saddling upon the taxpayers of the country a burden which must be borne not only by the present generation, but by its children and its children's children, for generations to come.

PLANT FLOWERS.
An American recently returned from a visit to France and Switzerland remarked that he was struck by the lack of gardens in cities like Atlanta. This is something foreign tourists often observe in America. There are indeed some splendid gardens surrounding comfortable homes, but the garden as we find it in every English town and village and the continent is not a familiar sight here.

Small wonder it would be if northern cities did not go in for extensive horticultural expansion. They have to contend with a rigorous climate, but not so in the south.

In art and culture, learning and the higher things of life Atlanta is taking her place as leader of the great south. Yet in that respect this city is not different from Detroit, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh or Milwaukee.

All are units in the great national scheme of expansion.

This city has the climate that will admit of flower cultivation the year round. That is something that even the flower cities of most of Europe cannot do.

So let's plant flowers and more flowers. Let's make Atlanta the flower city of America. It is not impossible. All that is needed is a taste for color schemes, and a sense of civic pride. Try it!

The bandits are different up north. There they half-murder you if you happen to have money and beat you to death if you haven't.

The easiest way to get your name in the paper now is to speed up and park wrong.

Now that good work is on the way for forest preservation, something should be done to keep the fruit crop killers within bounds.

Anyway, there has been no demand this alleged spring for superintendents of home gardens.

An exchange says that "the bees are making honey." Perhaps, but for the most part they must be frozen in it, for we haven't heard a buzz from one of 'em.

"Four persons have been indicted by the grand jury," says the Indianapolis News, "but none of them was nominated for anything."

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON

My Treasure Trove.
I treasure-trove of memories, A father's love, A mother's care, Grandmother's face is pictured there, Comrade in every childhood play, Alas, when God took away, And buried deeper, deeper still, Is love's surrender, that sweet thrill that comes but once in a while—As old as life—yet ever new.

Within that chamber I can hear Baby voices sweet and clear, I live again each happy day, The child that falls when children pray, Saying "I lay me down to sleep, And pray the Lord my soul to keep," An old school house again I see, High on a hill, there comes to me The echo of the joyful shout, The children gave when school was out.

There is an altar, green and white, Tall candles and a yellow light, And 'neath a bridal veil I see What seemed but yesterday to be A baby's face. Ah, how time flies! How swiftly go the days we prize! Yet time will never take from me That which I guard so jealously, For hidden in my heart it lies, A treasure-trove of memory.

—ANNIE BASS HILL, Atlanta.

Accent, Here and There.
(From The Indianapolis News.)
Lloyd George said to New York reporter: "We make fun of your American accent, but our own is just as much a joke. I remember the story of a cockney school teacher who said to his pupils: 'You have to be careful, boys, about words that have a similar sound. For instance, there's the spine what most of us wear down the middle of our backs. But spine, the country where they've set up a dictatorship—that's a different thing now altogether.'"

Miss Spring Protests.
I gave the country all I had; You want the weather as you choose; Just wait till June comes, blazing, And Thunder shakes you out your shoes!

Oh, then you'll say: "Don't blame away! And burn the word 'Fore Judgment Day!'"

You were not there when, blind and bare, The young earth rolled in heaven's view, To make for man a weather-plan—To give instructions what to do!

Had that been so, Right well you know There'd be no living Here below!

The Train's Narrow Escape.
"I was out, last Sunday, tryin' out my new Ford," says a correspondent of The Adams Enterprise, "and not-withstandin' I honked 'em, honked, to let all trains know I was there, I hardly had cleared the crossing when a fool train came thunderin' by an' missed me more than it intended. Some of these trains are so careless, it's a wonder they ain't more railroad accidents than what they is!"

A Sunny Welcome.
Bright Sun yonder blue, Light on the blue, Mornin' to you! Mornin' to you! You take your task When you know it is to do,—Mornin' to you!

You're makin' up the day For to fight us on the way, An' you'll lead us, when the dark comes, Where the sweet dreams stay!

Poetry doesn't have much of a show in this iron age—but give us a good iron mine, and who cares for poetry?

Not a Paying Proposition.
"Ever' time I puts up a petition," said Robert Williams, "I prays for de good Lord ter keep de speedin' 'nobsels from runnin' over me, an' I feel de person ter make de petition, fer I done been run over two times, an' never got 'nuff damages ter make it worth while!"

Today's Talk
BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FEELING.
That which we feel stays with us to a greater or less degree.

Much of our feeling toward life is influenced by what we hear and see.

We never know how deep our words sink into other people's inner lives. And we never know what construction has been placed upon our thoughts and acts. But feeling in the other fellow absorbs our words and acts and makes them permanent in his influence.

It is easy to laugh off the "little tilt," the bitter words that have later been covered with smiles—but when does the scar go away?

How scant is our education in understanding—the sort of understanding that keeps silent until all the bitterness of the heart has been washed away!

Like the breath that flowers blow to the summer air, is kindness and gentleness.

Nothing fine is ever wasted or lost. Whatever you do or say that gives pleasure, happiness or renewed interest to someone else, lives forever.

If everyone could come to realize this fact, everything we do would take upon itself something akin to divinity, and we would measure life in the terms of eternity.

When we come to appreciate values, we then enter the four-square man's estate.

What gain is there that compares to the gain of having made another man feel this is a better world than he dreamed it to be?

Beauty is a feeling. Expression is a feeling. Our daily task must be to transfer the feelings that make us happy and useful.

Only as we feel, do we desire. And as we desire interests outside our narrow and selfish circle, we see the entire world enlarge.

If people feel better after they have left you, you have no need to worry as to how you will feel.

(Copyright, 1924, for The Constitution.)

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

New York, May 19.—New Yorkers are always excited about the island wide open spaces where men are men and the plumbing is terrible. A few more years and they are going to pack the kitbag and be off. If all went well, they would plan to do so the island would be deserted.

It is considered smart to hold New York lightly in contempt. "A big city but cold hearted." That is the lament. It is one libel on New York that should be debunked. The chief greetings from strangers I ever received were in all towns and the so-called open spaces.

I have lived in wide places in the road, villages where the trains stopped only on signal, fair sized cities, large cities and New York. I have seen charity and the friendly hand clasp when it is needed my vote goes to Manhattan Island.

Twenty years ago the place I know toward the stranger. It has enough faults, but a lack of friendliness is not one of them. When a man is completely broke I know of no place where he would be so well received as New York. I know this from actual experience.

It will rush and jostle you about, step on your toes and kick your shins, but when the S. O. S. of distress goes up New York will always pause in its rush to extend the friendly hand. It is a benevolent city in the world in a pinch.

To a lady in distress or a gentleman on his uppers New York shows the heart and soul of a Vere de Vere. The other night in front of a small hotel I saw a lady in distress. She was across the sidewalk and slumped down against an iron-spiked fence that guarded a cellarway.

He had been worsted by bad luck, and there was a faint gleam of light across his temple. He was semi-conscious. New York was on its way to the theater. It stopped. A woman held a fine scarf to stanch the flow of blood. Another went after a pitcher of water.

Still another woman in expensive dress pulled the onslaughts of the Huns and drove them back into central Asia. Bit by bit the scientists are reconstructing the history of the dim ages of antiquity. In their quest they will reach ever further backward until at last they will be confronted with the great battle of the dim ages—the origin and creation of things.

"Scratch a Russian And You'll Get a Tartar."
Red army officers dressed in chic and elegant uniforms of the old imperial guard, with a golden sash and a special train carried him and his numerous suite to Paris, where he was lodged in the Palace Quay (Orsay) near the Eiffel Tower. His first official act was to place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The wreath had the appearance of a huge elephant tusk. In his interview with Parisian newspapermen the recent dwelt on the disturbed political condition of his realm. He said that there was great need of revolution. Still he did not seem to worry a great deal. Taking some of the journalists into his confidence he said that he would not be in the front during his absence in the African empire. "You see," he explained, "my retinue here in France is made up of the leaders of the opposition. I keep them close to me so that they cannot do any harm to me. I invited them to accompany me on the trip. So there will be no mischief. Only my friends I leave at home."

"L'Onore!" "Donnerwetter!"
When the new French chamber of deputies gathers in June at the Palais Bourbon there will be one member who cannot speak French and who has served notice on the secretary of the chamber to put him on the speaking list. He is Karl Bucher, from the department of the Lower Rhine in Alsace. He happens to be a communist, but on account of his fiery speeches against the German subjects of the French republic in Alsace. He will employ an interpreter. The French nationalist members have already intimated that they will protest against the presence of a speaker who does not recognize bilingualism in parliament. In Canada this is a different matter. The members from Quebec, 65 in number, are allowed to speak in their own tongue and the same applies to the Flemish members in the Belgian chamber. But in these countries two languages are recognized as official.

Making the Issue Clearer.
Duplicates of the well-known placard opposite the statue of the Iberian virgin in Moscow, which repeats in flaming scarlet letters the words of Karl Marx that religion is the opium of the people, were found on all over Mohammedan Russia. Words comes from the Tartar republic of Kazan that many of the mullahs are relinquishing their religion and that the Moslems are the scene of bitter and furious debates over this bit of red propaganda. Now it has been the custom of socialists in America to tell prospective disciples that the religion of the soldier was founded by the Moslems. This is only true in so far as radicalism is little concerned with the prospects of a heavenly home. But fundamentally socialism is opposed to any form of religion. Its claim is that it hurls people's conscience and is an instrument of oppression in the hands of the church allied with the capitalist state. Bishop Brown's manifesto, "Banish gods from the sky and capitalists from the earth," gives the real red sentiment. The state does not exist for the people, it exists for the gods. For it clears the air. We know now where they stand without all the hypocritical cant of Christian socialism and Trotskyanarchy.

Piecing Together History of Human Race.
Chinese sculpture, twenty-two centuries old, has been unearthed by Carl Bishop, of the Smithsonian Institution, in the district through which the ancient silk routes between China, Persia, Egypt and India run. Valuable scientific objects such as the ancient Chinese carvings of their signs of the zodiac were found. The origin of mystic symbols of this kind is shrouded in darkness, but it is thought that the Chinese obtained them from the Babylonian or Assyrian wandering Huns. For that devastating tribe, which at one time threatened and partially overran the European continent, were found in the "source of gods" also invaded the Chinese empire. A statue was found of the cavalry leader,

King Mackerel Surrender To Atlanta Fishing Party

One Hundred of 'Em, Some 30-Pounders, Surrender to Ralph Cannon, Without a Struggle.

By O. J. WILLOUGHBY.

Panama City, Fla., May 19.—(Special.)—Ralph Cannon, of the Cannon Motor company, proved himself the prize fisherman of The Constitution tourists today when he came in with a catch of 100 king mackerel, many of which weighed more than thirty pounds, other parties had almost equal success.

Although Monday was scheduled on the program of the week's events as a day for the tourists to visit, quite a few of the tourists tried out rod and reel with considerable success. Several parties fished in the bay, and brought home thrilling stories of their encounters with the game king mackerel and snook. Others tried out the fresh water fishing with equal success, and related tall tales of the beautiful inland lakes and creeks, abounding in black bass, bream, perch and pike.

During the afternoon the entire party was taken as the guests of the city to the golf pavilion where all enjoyed a cool plunge in the surf. The pavilion also was the scene to night of a first of many dances to be given during the week.

Tuesday which is scheduled as bay fishing day will be featured by angling for the king mackerel in beautiful St. Andrew's bay and by the fish chowder supper which the city of St. Andrew's will give for The Constitution fishermen. Both of these events are being looked forward to with the keenest anticipation.

The party has found ideal weather. A cool breeze has swept in from the gulf during every moment of the stay so far and at night a full moon glimmers on the waters of the bay and makes the entire scene one of romance and beauty.

Another party that had a very successful day was that headed by E. C. Lyett, which took a trip to the old West lumber pier and hauled in a large sized catch, including some big sea trout, red fish, and other varieties.

Mr. Cannon made his big haul by trolling from a launch just outside the pier of an hour and then thought it without the presence of his wife, so without the presence of his wife he went back to the hotel, got Mrs. Cannon and his little five-year-old daughter, Frances, and went back to the party and then caught as many again.

Mrs. Cannon and even little Frances pulled in some of the leaping beauties. One of the delightful trips planned for Tuesday will be to Shell Island, just outside the bay, which is famous not only for its variety of beautiful sea shells but also as a nesting place for sea gulls and pelicans.

Many of The Constitution party will leave about 8 o'clock for the island and hope to discover many gull nests full of young gulls.

RAILROAD TRAINS GIVEN 10 MINUTES

Continued From First Page.

its author, Alderman Jesse W. Armstrong, that ten minutes were required to make inspections of laws and that the city's three-minute limit compelled train crews to become violators either of federal or city statutes.

Mayor Sims detected the time extension on the ground that the railroad could make the brake and other inspections required by federal law at some other places than congested grade crossings in the center of the Atlanta business district. Council disregarded his position by its vote Monday.

The new time limit became effective immediately.

COMMITTEE NAMED ON MOVING PUBLIC COMFORT STATION

Plans for removing the public comfort station from the building in front of city hall and installing it in the basement of the city hall, leaving the building available for health department and public health nurses' headquarters, are to be considered by a special committee of council composed of Alderman E. N. Ragsdale, Alderman Claude E. Buchanan and Councilman Harry York.

Appointment of the committee was authorized by council two weeks ago and its personnel was announced to council Monday by Mayor Sims.

CITY TO BUY PART OF RIGHT OF WAY OF SOUTHERN RAILROAD

Part of the Southern Railway right of way along Peters street from Jeanette to West Fair street is to be purchased by the city for $11,500 to make part of the Peters street widening project, it was voted by council Monday afternoon in adopting recommendations made by George West, agent for the city in negotiations to widen Peters street.

Mr. West is negotiating with property owners along the entire length of the street to secure enough property for the proposed boulevard within the amount appropriated by council in January.

WOODWARD AVE. TROLLEY TRACKS WILL BE TORN UP

Street car tracks on Woodward avenue from Capitol avenue to Kelly street are to be torn up and service discontinued there under permission granted by council Monday afternoon.

Council also granted permission for the company to built temporary tracks along Boulevard from Edgewood to Auburn to divert traffic from Edgewood during the repaving of the street.

COUNTY TO GIVE FINANCIAL HELP IN STREET WORK

County financial aid on three city street improvement projects was assured city council Monday in a letter from the county commissioners agreeing to put up the city's third of the cost of paving Techwood drive from North avenue to Sixth street, to resurface Fowler street from North avenue to Third street and to grade Erie street for 500 feet north of McDonough boulevard.

JOE M. BOSWORTH NAMED ON LIBRARY BOARD BY COUNCIL

Joe M. Bosworth was selected to represent the second ward on the Carnegie library board by vote of council Monday afternoon.

DOWNTOWN STREET PARKING CHANGES ADOPTED MONDAY

Nonparking restrictions were extended to include James street from Spring street to Cain street and the east side of Pryor street from Auburn avenue to Peachtree under ordinances adopted by city council Monday afternoon.

COUNCIL SUSTAINS FOUR SIMS VETOES, OVERRIDING TWO

Council Monday sustained Mayor Walter A. Sims on four vetoes of measures adopted two weeks ago and overrode two vetoes.

Appropriation of $5,000 to the chamber of commerce for an industrial bureau was repealed, sustaining the mayor's veto on the ground that no money should be spent for an industrial bureau until the school department shortage is met.

Appropriation of $250 from a Washington Park concession to Washington Park improvements was repealed on the mayor's objection that 26 per cent of the concession money should go to the school department, under the city charter.

Loan of a steam roller to Hugh Richardson was granted after the mayor's objection to the loan had been met by inserting in the resolution the consideration that Mr. Richardson abandon his claim for a retaining wall on Spring street property on account of the widening of Spring street.

Veto of the contract with MacDougall Construction company for paving Mills street was sustained on the ground that the price was too high.

The executive veto was overridden by council in adopting a contract with Sam E. Finley to pave Magnolia street as a price which the mayor said was too high and in refusing the ordinance granting railroad trains permission to block traffic at Central avenue and Pryor streets 10 minutes instead of three minutes.

OFFERS NEW PLAN FOR ADVERTISING CHANGES IN ZONES

Notice of a proposed zone change would have to be posted on the property proposed for re-zoning, if council adopts an amendment to the city zoning ordinance proposed by Councilman C. D. Knight Monday.

The proposal was referred without debate to the zoning committee. The posted notice, under the plan, would be in addition to mail and newspaper advertising required at present.

KIRKWOOD ZONE CHANGE BEATEN; VOTE 21 TO 11

City council Monday refused to extend the Kirkwood business zone to include the lot on Boulevard-DeKalb proposed as a site for the new Kirkwood Masonic temple, voting against the zone change 21 to 11.

The proposed change had divided the twelfth ward delegation in council, Alderman J. R. Bachman and Councilman J. M. House both opposing it and Councilman W. E. Saunders advocating it.

The Masonic lodge, it was stated, had agreed to purchase the lot in question for the temple in case it was not extended to the business zone.

Council at first had refused to take action Monday, voting to have the proposal for rezoning on the table until the next meeting, two weeks from now. Alderman Bachman carried a motion to reconsider and then councilmanic disapproval of the change.

SLAYER OF WHITE TO BE ARRESTED

Continued From First Page.

tionally, that his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, be discharged as a committee of his person and that his property be restored to him by the trustees of his estate.

Thaw, who is visiting his mother in Pittsburgh, was immediately notified of the court's action. He had been on parole from the Pennsylvania hospital for mental and nervous diseases since the jury adjourned last June 22. A hospital attendant accompanied him to Pittsburgh.

Former Judge John M. Patterson, Thaw's counsel, said tonight that Thaw would voluntarily appear in New York to answer charges pending against him for an alleged beating administered to Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, in 1917. A suit for damages, brought by Gump's father, has been settled out of court.

Argument on Miss Nesbit's motion for a new trial was to have been heard today. William A. Gray, her counsel, however, informed the court that his client wished to withdraw the motion. Thaw's counsel consented.

Some days ago, in announcing her intention to withdraw Miss Nesbit declared that "a working girl could not fight the Thaw millions."

Miss Nesbit was permitted to intervene in the case through her son, Russell William Thaw, who she claimed had an anticipatory interest in her former husband's estate, said to total more than $1,000,000. Trustees of the estate, who also contested the case, declared themselves satisfied with the verdict of the jury and took no action to block the release.

MORE THAN THREE COWS CONSTITUTE DAIRY IN ATLANTA

No Atlanta can keep more than three cows on his premises in the city limits, city council voted Monday in adopting a recommendation of the ordinance committee to classify more than three cows as a commercial dairy, subject to being abated as a nuisance.

BOULEVARD PARK RESIDENTS LOSE IN ZONE BATTLE

Boulevard Park residents lost their fight against business developments in the park section when their supporters in city council failed Monday to muster the three-fourths majority necessary to amend the city zoning law. Although the vote was 22 to 10 in favor of the amendment asked by the property owners, it failed to pass, because 24 votes out of 32 were necessary to pass it.

Failure of the amendment followed a rapid succession of parliamentary maneuvers by its supporters to get it through. Councilman Edward H. Inman first moved to have the amendment placed on second reading for immediate adoption. The motion failed to receive the necessary two-thirds standing vote and Alderman Claude E. Buchanan demanded a roll call vote. On roll call the motion was carried 24 to 7, three opponents of the change voting for immediate action.

Councilmen Horace Russell and T. L. Slappey opposed the change on the floor; Councilman Inman, Councilman J. J. Greer, Councilman J. L. Vaughan, Councilman Harry York, Alderman Buchanan, Jesse W. Armstrong, R. A. Gordon, W. B. Hartsfield and others supported it.

The R. O. Campbell Coal company is to proceed with work to establish a coal yard in the disputed territory, which is located on the east side of the Southern railway belt line between Boulevard Park and Orn Circle on the east and Piedmont Park on the west. It lies in a valley through which the belt line passes.

The executive veto was overridden by council in adopting a contract with Sam E. Finley to pave Magnolia street as a price which the mayor said was too high and in refusing the ordinance granting railroad trains permission to block traffic at Central avenue and Pryor streets 10 minutes instead of three minutes.

VALDOSTAN ON STAND IN PHILLIPS TRIAL

Washington, May 19.—Trial of John L. Phillips, of Georgia, and others on charges of conspiracy in surplus government lumber sales, was resumed today with H. L. Dougherty, of Valdosta, Ga., on the stand for further cross-examination. He was followed by John J. Galt, of Little Falls, N. J., a bookkeeper for Henry Talmadge & Co., bankers, of New York city.

Dougherty, since adjournment Thursday, had located a letter which he wrote to Ike Smith, then senator from Georgia, seeking the latter's assistance to get certain lumber released by the war department for sale under the surplus contract. The letter was written, he said, on the suggestion of John L. Phillips.

Mr. Galt identified checks totaling $45,000 which, he said, had been placed to the credit of John L. Phillips by the bankbook of Talmadge & Co. The checks had been sent by Dougherty-Mackay company, of Georgia, of which the preceding witness was a member, he said. On cross-examination by Attorney Charles A. Douglas, representing John L. Phillips, the witness said the checks were received in the ordinary course of business and were credited without concealment of any kind.

HARRISON'S SECRETARY OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Jackson, Miss., May 19.—Eugene F. Harrison, secretary to Senator Pat Harrison, arrived here today to assume charge of Senator Harrison's campaign for reelection. It was understood headquarters would be opened in Jackson June 1.

Former Governor Earl Brewer, who seeks the place now held by Senator Harrison, has opened state headquarters and already is waging an active campaign. Senator Harrison, because of his appointment as temporary chairman of the democratic national convention, is remaining in Washington and so far has arranged no speaking dates in his home state.

The odds are 4 to 1 in Pyorrhea's favor

Don't gamble with Pyorrhea. Four persons out of every five past 40, and thousands younger, are its victims.

Heed Nature's warning—bleeding gums. Brush your teeth with Forhan's to keep the gums firm, the teeth white and the mouth healthy. Pleading to the taste.

More than a tooth paste—it checks Pyorrhea 35c and 60c in tubes

Forhan's FOR THE GUMS

The Triumvirate of Personal Motion Pictures

Ciné-Kodak—Ciné-Kodak Film—Kodascope

Each is an independent unit, yet each is dependent upon the others to give you the utmost in motion picture enjoyment.

But come in and see for yourself. Interested salesmen will be glad to show you the ease and simplicity of motion pictures the Kodak way and glad, too, to show you actual Ciné-Kodak pictures projected on the screen.

Eastman Kodak Co. (Glenn Photo Stock Co.) 183 Peachtree St.

Jackson, Miss., May 19.—Eugene F. Harrison, secretary to Senator Pat Harrison, arrived here today to assume charge of Senator Harrison's campaign for reelection. It was understood headquarters would be opened in Jackson June 1.

Former Governor Earl Brewer, who seeks the place now held by Senator Harrison, has opened state headquarters and already is waging an active campaign. Senator Harrison, because of his appointment as temporary chairman of the democratic national convention, is remaining in Washington and so far has arranged no speaking dates in his home state.

The odds are 4 to 1 in Pyorrhea's favor

Don't gamble with Pyorrhea. Four persons out of every five past 40, and thousands younger, are its victims.

Heed Nature's warning—bleeding gums. Brush your teeth with Forhan's to keep the gums firm, the teeth white and the mouth healthy. Pleading to the taste.

More than a tooth paste—it checks Pyorrhea 35c and 60c in tubes

Forhan's FOR THE GUMS

The Triumvirate of Personal Motion Pictures

Ciné-Kodak—Ciné-Kodak Film—Kodascope

Each is an independent unit, yet each is dependent upon the others to give you the utmost in motion picture enjoyment.

But come in and see for yourself. Interested salesmen will be glad to show you the ease and simplicity of motion pictures the Kodak way and glad, too, to show you actual Ciné-Kodak pictures projected on the screen.

Eastman Kodak Co. (Glenn Photo Stock Co.) 183 Peachtree St.

Jackson, Miss., May 19.—Eugene F. Harrison, secretary to Senator Pat Harrison, arrived here today to assume charge of Senator Harrison's campaign for reelection. It was understood headquarters would be opened in Jackson June 1.

Former Governor Earl Brewer, who seeks the place now held by Senator Harrison, has opened state headquarters and already is waging an active campaign. Senator Harrison, because of his appointment as temporary chairman of the democratic national convention, is remaining in Washington and so far has arranged no speaking dates in his home state.

The odds are 4 to 1 in Pyorrhea's favor

Don't gamble with Pyorrhea. Four persons out of every five past 40, and thousands younger, are its victims.

Heed Nature's warning—bleeding gums. Brush your teeth with Forhan's to keep the gums firm, the teeth white and the mouth healthy. Pleading to the taste.

More than a tooth paste—it checks Pyorrhea 35c and 60c in tubes

Forhan's FOR THE GUMS

The Triumvirate of Personal Motion Pictures

Ciné-Kodak—Ciné-Kodak Film—Kodascope

Each is an independent unit, yet each is dependent upon the others to give you the utmost in motion picture enjoyment.

Corns

Don't risk blood poisoning by paring a corn. Apply Blue-jay, the scientific corn tender. The pain will vanish instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Get Blue-jay today at your druggist.

Blue-jay

Reed Chats

Details

TO REED STATION MEN — Selling Wonder Gas and Liberty Motor Oil is not the only service you perform. There are many little courtesies on which Reed BETTER Service has been built. Make our customers feel at home in our stations. Do not keep them waiting, but do not, in your effort to serve quickly, overlook any small detail of service which you are in position to render.

REED OIL Corporation

A Dollar Spent Here Continues to Serve and Build Atlanta

WONDER GAS LIBERTY MOTOR OILS

Eye Strain? This Helps

For strained eyes try simple camphor, hydragrist, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One small bottle helps any case weak, strained or sore eyes. It will surprise you. Aluminum eye cup free. Jacobs' Pharmacy Company.—(adv.)

The Graduation Gift For Your Boy

A strap watch is an ideal gift for the young man graduating from high school or college. The Hamilton strap watch is dependable, accurate and sturdy. They are much in vogue for use in all out-of-door as well as for every day or dress wear.

When your boy graduates he will need a Hamilton watch with its accurate movement, for he will find his days and nights full and busy, and his engagements many.

Call by the store and see our Men's Strap Watches.

MAIER & BERKELE, Inc. Jewelers

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

Parks-Chambers-Hardwick Co.

Manhattan Shirts

In White And Fancies $2.50 To $5.00

Complete Line Of Golfers' Outfits

—Second Floor

The Half-Time Wife

BY VIOLET DARE

CHAPTER XLIV.

A True.

Suzanne felt sure that Geoffrey would come to her and explain everything. Surely now he could refuse to do so no longer. When she found that they were to dine alone that evening she put on her prettiest frock, and during dinner was her most charming self.

But Geoffrey, who came in late, was inclined to be taciturn. Suzanne chattered of unimportant things—how the garden was coming along,

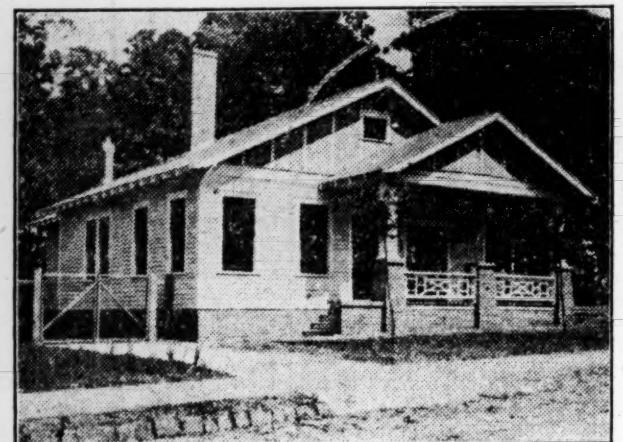

A Shady Retreat On Sylvan Road

Here is another bungalow in the class with our House Beautiful.

It rests on a level, well-shaded lot on Sylvan Road within a short distance of the car line and is in a group of beautiful homes.

The plan is one of our best for five-room houses and has generous porches and plenty of closets, with French doors from dining room to living room.

A feature is the bookcase in the living room which takes the place of a costly piece of furniture and the same is true of the china closet in the dining room.

New Bungalow on Sylvan Road

The lot is 50x125 feet, with abundant shade. The house has a large front veranda, living room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, two bedrooms with closets, tile bath room with medicine cabinet, closets in the hall, screen back porch, cement drive, gas, electricity and hot and cold water. All for $5,700—$500 cash and $52 monthly, without a mortgage.

Phone Mr. Settle, Walnut 2811, and see the house.

W. D. BEATIE

221 Trust Company of Georgia Building

TODAY---3 P. M.

Auction Sale

CENTRAL CORNER

West Cain and Williams Sts.

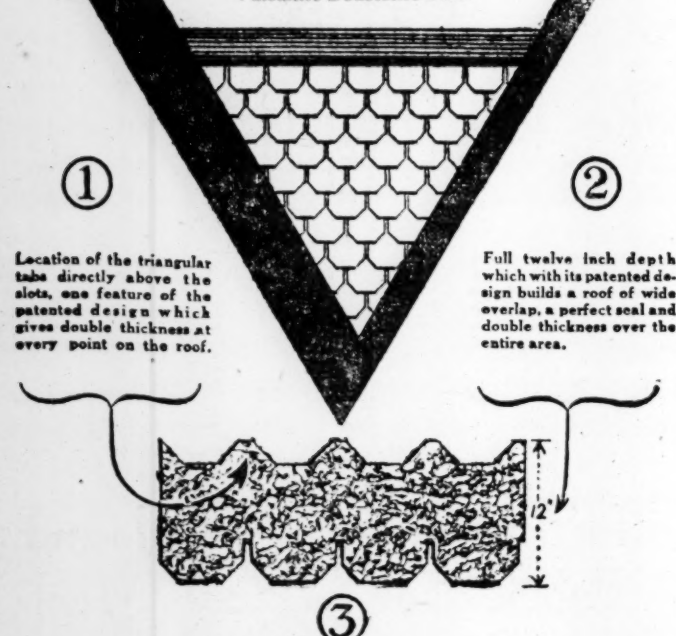

Large and Small Units

To Fit Your Purse

Attend — Make Money

Three things to check to be sure of Vulcanite quality, a double-thick roof the beautiful tile-like pattern, long wear, complete protection, and other features of the Vulcanite Doubletite Slab.

The Name on the Label

BEAVER VULCANITE
DOUBLETITE SLAB

Fulton Lime & Cement Co.

521 Edgewood Ave.

Phone IVy 4751

FOR SALE

Flat newsprint paper suitable for small publishers and job printers. The price is right.

P. O. Box 1731, Atlanta, Ga.

whether the new cook would be satisfactory, how clever the Alfreda's puppies were getting to be.

"Leland dropped in today and asked if I'd be his guest at the theater this evening," he remarked, as they went into the library to have coffee.

"I refused for myself, but told him that I would go."

"Oh Geoff dear, I'd so much rather stay home with you," she answered eagerly.

"Can't I? It's so long since we had a evening alone."

"I'm afraid this one wouldn't be got to work. You run along with Leland, and have a good time for both of us."

As she went upstairs to get her cloak she reflected that the unkindest thing Linda Vale had done to her was to steal Geoffrey's confidence.

However untrustworthy she might be, she had it, and his own wife was shoved aside, treated like a toy.

"I know you'd rather stay home," Curtis Leland told her, as she settled herself beside him in his car a few moments later.

"But I'll be the best substitute for Geoff that I can."

"Oh, next to him I'd rather be with you than with anyone else," she answered, quite sincerely.

As the car turned into the street she looked back for one last glimpse of the house. In the light from the windows she saw a woman cross the drive and run up the steps.

It was too tall for Lolita, and anyway, Lolita was upstairs with Dick. It must be Mrs. Vale.

She tried to keep up her spirits and be gay, but the thought of Linda Vale and Geoff at home alone, when he had said that he had to work, was uppermost in her thoughts all evening.

"Can't you tell me more about Mrs. Vale?" she asked Leland, during one of the intermissions.

"I can't help being curious about her, and you must know her much better than I do."

"No, I don't know her so very well, but I know a lot about her," he replied.

"I was delighted when, when I was in Paris, Geoff wrote me that you and he were to be married."

"I didn't know you, but I felt sure that, whoever you were, you'd make him a better wife than she would, and I really was afraid that she would get him."

"I can tell you this. Her hold on him is strong, but he doesn't care anything about her. He'd be glad to get rid of her if he could, and I'm sure that he can, if he's willing to make the sacrifices that it will entail."

Geoff's a big man, in every way, but he's a coward about some things. I can give you some good advice about him. Continue him that you love him. Make him see how much you care for him."

"But he must see," began Suzanne, and stopped short. Her thoughts raced back to the day when Geoff proposed. She had told him then that she did not really love him, that her heart belonged to someone else, someone whom she would never see again.

He had said that he wanted to marry her anyway, that he could teach her to care for him. Then, shortly after their return from their honeymoon, Duncan Hale had appeared. She had gone about with him, not much, but quite a bit. Geoff was clever; probably he had been convinced that it was Hale for whom she cared, even though she had begun to love him.

She had tried, certainly, to show him that she trusted in him, despite the curious turn that circumstances had taken, but she had never tried, with all her might, to make him believe that she loved him.

"Oh, I'll do that—I'll make him see," she exclaimed, more to herself than to Leland.

"If you try I know you'll succeed," Leland told her. "Let's go now, shall we? I don't want you to lose any time."

"Neither do I," she answered, with a nervous little laugh. What if Mrs. Vale was at the house? For once they'd be evenly matched, now that she had this new knowledge to help her.

Suzanne was prepared to find Linda Vale with her husband. But Geoff sat quite alone in the library, a mass of papers spread out on the table at his side.

Tomorrow—War to the Knife. (Copyright, 1924, for The Constitution.)

21 FLORIDA CITIES REPRESENTED AT MEET

St. Augustine, Fla., May 19.—Twenty-one cities of Florida are represented at the meeting of the League of Municipalities, which opened in this city today and will continue sessions throughout tomorrow.

There are about 60 delegates, and the two-day meet commences business operations immediately following the address of welcome, given by Mayor Peter R. Perfy.

Adjutant General Clifford R. Foster gave an interesting talk on city planning. Adjournment was at 1 o'clock for luncheon, at which visitors were guests at the St. Augustine Rotary club. Tomorrow they will be entertained for luncheon by the Kiwanis club.

RUM TREATY SIGNED BY U. S. WITH GERMANY

Washington, May 19.—A rum treaty similar to that recently concluded with Great Britain was signed here today by diplomatic representatives of the United States and Germany.

Like the British treaty, the instrument signed today by Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Wiedfeldt gives the United States the right to extend its rum patrol outside territorial waters, and in turn it extends to German merchantmen the privilege of bringing ship liquor into American ports under seal.

Negotiations for the conclusion of similar treaties with the other maritime powers.

GERMAN STEEL WORKS ASKS RECEIVERSHIP

Willich, Rhenish Prussia, May 19.—The Becker steel works, manufacturers of high-grade finished steel and one of the largest industrial plants in Germany, has petitioned for a receivership.

This is the first case of a large industrial insolvency since the stabilization of the mark. The firm's stock is valued at 36,000,000 gold marks, its stock at 6,000,000 and bills receivable at 2,000,000. The total obligations are 9,000,000 gold marks.

Madam Novak, Actress and Poet, Makes Debut at Atlanta Theater

Photo by Hirschberg.

Madam Sonia Novak, gifted and versatile young Atlanta woman, who made her initial appearance Monday evening with the Baldwin Players at the Atlanta theater. She also writes exceptional and beautiful poems, which have been published in leading magazines and newspapers.

Madam Sonia Novak, formerly with the Abingdon Players, of Washington, D. C., made her initial appearance with the Baldwin Players Monday evening at the Atlanta theater, as "Wanda Boreen," the Rumanian vamp, in the "Demi-Virgin," the role affording her an excellent and brilliant opportunity in which to display her dramatic ability and brunette vivacity.

Here is an exotic type of beauty—dark, rich and Castilian in appearance. She possesses a most engaging smile and forceful personality. Long brown lashes fringe her large and expressive hazel eyes, which convey great depth of soul in their momentary gleams. Her hair is a rich, dark brown, bobbed and worn close to her head under the prevailing fashion which almost all femininity has adopted, frames her oval face. She has resided in Atlanta for the past two years, having come here to recuperate from a serious illness, and so great was her improvement in health that she has remained in this city.

American Boilermaker Heir To Plunder of Spanish Main

FORTUNE OF SIR FRANCIS DRAKE ORDERED DIVIDED

Lima, Ohio, May 19.—Many years and a total lack of similar characteristics separate James Henry Smith, who has spent the last sixteen years as a pattern-maker in the boiler works here, from Sir Francis Drake, once the terror of the gold-laden galleons on the Spanish Main.

But Smith now faces the pleasant prospect of inheriting a goodly share of the Lina treasure, the precious jewels and the keys of bullion that the old British buccaner and his gallant men fought for and won from the Spanish conquerors who were at that time exploiting the new world.

Forty years, Smith has lived a vacation, but he may soon be able to retire and live in a baronial castle in England for the rest of his days. He has just been informed that he is one of four heirs to the cumulative estate of Sir Francis, which is said to be worth some $26,000,000.

That explains why James Henry Smith, a pattern-maker, should be on Monday on the job at the boiler works. He stretched himself lazily as the possessor of millions might be entitled to do, and was just about to turn over and sleep on, when his thrifty wife interfered.

Later and supposed that his wife's citizenship had been automatically restored.

When Mr. and Mrs. Bertram asked for passports for Spain, they were informed that Mr. Bertram would have no trouble in securing his papers, but that Mrs. Bertram would have to become naturalized before a passport could be granted by the U. S. The process of restoring her citizenship was started Monday. Congressman Bell is aiding in the effort to have the papers issued before their sailing date, June 1.

John M. Parker, the retiring governor, took no part in the ceremonies because, it was said, he felt he was slighted by the local committee on arrangements in that he was not extended an invitation to participate until a later date.

Members of the committee announced today that an invitation to Governor Parker was regarded as unnecessary, for the participation of the retiring executive was looked upon as being such a part of the ceremony as that of the incoming governor.

Governor Fuqua was sworn in at noon by the chief justice of Louisiana. The inaugural address was brief.

Mr. Parker met Governor Fuqua in the executive office after his inauguration and extended congratulations.

Proceedings Started To Restore Citizenship Of Mrs. Pedro Bertram

When Mrs. Pedro Bertram, born and reared in Elberton, and a resident of Georgia all her life, made application for a passport to accompany her husband on a visit to his old home in Spain, she found that she was not an American citizen.

Mrs. Bertram, who was a Miss Bell, of Elberton, is a cousin of Congressman Bell, according to Mr. Bertram's statement to officials at the state capital. When the two were married, Mr. Bertram had not taken out naturalization papers, and consequently Mrs. Bertram lost her citizenship in the United States as the result of marrying a foreigner. Mr. Bertram, however, took out papers several years

METHODIST BISHOPS ACT ON UNION TODAY

Nashville, Tenn., May 19.—Whether the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, will be called to meet in special session immediately, or delayed until 1925, after the fall round of annual conferences, is the question that will engage the attention of 14 bishops of the church in a special meeting at southern headquarters here Tuesday morning.

The proposed plan of unification with the Methodist Episcopal church is to be considered by the general southern conference, though the decision of the general conference is not necessarily final, as a three-fourths vote of the annual conferences of both branches is required to ratify decisions made by the general conference before final adoption.

Unification recently was endorsed by the general conference of the northern church by an almost unanimous vote, and the southern church is being urged to act without delay.

Vote is 8 to 6.

An unofficial poll of the southern bishops shows that apparently the officials stand eight for unification and six against.

Those who are reported to favor the unification plan are Bishop Mounzon, who has jurisdiction over the Tennessee, Memphis and Holston conferences; Bishop Beauchamp, (Europe); Bishop Cannon (Africa and Mexico); Bishop Dobbs (Brazil); Bishop Boaz (Orient); Bishop Moore (Texas and Oklahoma); Bishop McMurry (Denver, Southwest Missouri and St. Louis conferences); and Bishop Hay (Arkansas).

Bishop Collins Denny, having control over the Carolina conferences, has openly opposed the unification plan and made a minority report as a member of the commission which brought forth the plan. It is understood he is supported in his views by Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, (Alabama conferences), senior bishop in the college.

Georgia Against Unification.

Others who are said to be either doubtful or against the wedding of the churches are Bishop Darlington (North Georgia and Northwest Kentucky); Bishop Dickey (Texas and New Mexico), and Bishop Dubose (Pacific).

The anti-unification movement is reported strongest in the conferences of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina, these conferences claiming that if the general conference is postponed until after the annual conference, new delegates can be selected with definite instructions.

Talented Poet.

Aside from her dramatic ability, Madam Novak is also a poet of great prominence and note. She has contributed wonderful and brilliant poems to The Constitution's magazine and newspapers of the country have also accepted and published them. Many of her best known poems have appeared in The Constitution's magazine section, accompanied by page-size illustrations, and those were widely read by her followers and received most favorable comment.

Although Madam Novak considers that acting and writing are her forte, she is a gifted exponent of advanced interpretative dancing, and possesses a lovely mezzo soprano voice. She is a great student, and has continued to study interpretative dancing under Mrs. William C. Spiker, while her voice is being cultivated under the direction of Nora Allen and Signor Volpi.

MEN'S HATS Cleaned and Blocked Stoddard 126 Peachtree IVy 0043 - Walnut 1222 as to how they should vote upon unification.

DEBATED QUESTIONS BARREN OF ACTION

Springfield, Mass., May 19.—Two matters of major importance came before the Methodist Episcopal general conference here today, but in each the fruit of debate was delayed action.

Reports on the church's attitude toward war, made by a standing committee, were rejected as unusable, and the subject was turned over to a specially created committee for disposition.

The election of new bishops was set ahead, because the delegates reversed themselves and decided upon three instead of five.

The committee on the episcopacy wrestled this afternoon with the problem of eliminating two episcopal areas, as a result of the latter decision.

The conference soon will be asked to limit the church's restrictions against amusements to those which, in the words of Wesley, "may be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

The committee on the state of the church voted 69 to 30 to recommend this, and if the action is confirmed by the parent body, the source of many years of friction and argument.

delegates said, will have been removed. "We can't put Forbes-Robertson in Hamlet and a cheap burlesque show into the same class," the Rev. G. Bromley Oxnam, of California, argued in opposing the present law against all theater attendance.

"We've got to take the principle and then put a knowledge of Jesus into the members of the church so that we can trust them."

The Rev. Ralph W. Sokman, of New York city, chairman of the subcommittee on recreation, said that the change would do away with "the unpleasant publicity which has come every time an actor or a dancer wanted to get into the church."

"It's not a question of principle, but of method," he added.

PERMISSION IS GIVEN FOR EQUIPMENT NOTES

Tallahassee, Fla., May 19.—The state railroad commission today received notice from the interstate commerce commission that authority had been granted the Georgia, Florida and Alabama Railroad company to issue $131,000.76 in promissory notes to be used for purchase of four freight locomotives.

Yellowstone Park

See it all. Be sure to make the

Cody Drive

"In Gardiner, $94.50 Park Opens June 20"

Round Trip—From Atlanta

The tour through the Park is $54 at hotels; $45 at camps. Meals, lodging and automobile sight-seeing tour included.

If you are interested in a personally conducted, "all-expense" tour of this region, write me. Let me plan your trip. Illustrated books and details free.

W. C. Hartnett, G. A. — Geo. F. Knight, T. F. & P. A. 1001 Neave Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio

Northern Pacific Ry.

"2000 Miles of Startling Beauty"

NOTICE

Rebuilding of the tracks and the repaving of Broad Street from Marietta Street to Mitchell Street has made necessary the rerouting of the following car lines, effective Wednesday, May 21st:

Route 3, Boulevard-West Hunter Line—North End: Via Auburn, Peachtree, Walton, Broad, Marietta, Edgewood to Ivy, via regular route. South End: Via Mitchell, to Broad Street, turning back on crossover between Hunter and Alabama Streets, returning south via same route.

Route 8, East Fair-Marietta Street Line—East End: Via Hunter to Broad Street, take crossover between Hunter and Alabama Streets, returning via same route. West End: Via Walton, Forsyth, Marietta, then via regular route.

Route 12, Cooper Street Line—Via Whitehall, Mitchell, Broad Street, take crossover between Hunter and Alabama, returning south via same route.

Route 13, Irwin Street-West St. Line—North End: Via Houston, Peachtree, Marietta, Broad Street to regular route, northbound. South End: Via Mitchell and Broad Streets, take crossover between Hunter and Alabama, returning south via same route.

Route 16, Pine Street Line—Via Auburn, Peachtree, Walton, Broad, Marietta, Edgewood to Ivy, then via regular route.

Route 20, East Point-College Park-Hapeville Line—Northbound: Via Forsyth to Mitchell, returning southbound to regular route via Whitehall Street.

Route 21, Stewart Avenue Line—Forsyth, Mitchell, Broad to crossover between Hunter and Alabama, returning same route.

Route 24, McDaniel Street Line—Northbound: Via Whitehall to Mitchell. Southbound: Via Forsyth Street, to regular route.

Georgia Railway and Power Co.

For a Nickel
Goobar Goodies
A Delicious Confection

U. S. Army Wagons—Log Carts
Write for descriptive literature.
The J. B. McCrary Co.
Atlanta, Ga.

NEW TYPE PLUS QUICK, INTELLIGENT SERVICE
—A happy combination—
Atlanta Multigraphing Co.
410 Ga. Savings Bk. Bldg. WA. 1499

Buy a Home—Have the Title Guaranteed and Insured by ATLANTA TITLE & TRUST CO.
15 East Alabama St.

Truly in All Our 57 Years
No Sale Like This!

RICH'S 57th ANNIVERSARY SALE

Mail Orders Filled
Promptly

Rich's Better Values--Dividends of Appreciation

And Throngs of Shoppers, Often 2,000 Every Hour, Are Coming for Their Share

—Not in all our 57 years, an Anniversary Celebration like this. And not in all our 57 years have we known such record-breaking sales as are being made daily. —This is not mere advertising verbiage—it is an irrefutable fact. The public knows. This good, new, and dependable merchandise at Anniversary prices is making a tremendous impression on the minds of the people.

—On every floor—in every department—on every Anniversary price card—you will find plain proof positive of "Rich's Better Values"—sincere dividends of appreciation.—Make the most of your opportunities.

Silk Broadcloth, $1.49

—Usually, $2. Plain silk broadcloth—Most fashionable! Tan, powder blue, grey, navy, yellow, banana, rose, white, flesh. 36 in.

—Rich's, Second Floor

Satin Ribbon, 39c

—You'd expect to pay $1. Wide satin and taffeta ribbon of beautiful quality. Buy for sashes and hats for street and evening. 5 and 6 in. wide. $1.25 Roman Stripe Ribbon, 6 in., at 79c yard.

—Rich's, Street Floor

Crisp Neckwear, 69c

—$1 and $1.25 you'd willingly pay! Fresh, new, crisp organdy in plain and novelty checks. Also linens and pique and lace and net fashioned into dainty collar and cuff sets, vests and waistcoats. White and cream.

—Rich's, Street Floor

Polychrome Mirrors, $3.95

—Imagine! Reg. $10 quality! Don't miss these home-makers! Very decorative mirrors framed in gilt and polychrome. 15x28 in. You'll hardly be able to believe they're only $3.95.

—Rich's, Second Floor

Waste Baskets, 98c

—Metal! You'd never expect to pay so little for such attractive waste paper baskets. Enameled in black, rose, blue and gold. Bluebirds trim one style. You'll want several at only 98c.

—Rich's, Street Floor

Thermos Bottle, $1.19

—The lowest we have ever offered one of these genuine Thermos Bottles. Of metal, blue enamel, eggshell finish. Aluminum top. Drinking cup cover.

—Rich's, Street Floor

Child's Socks, 19c

—The usual 35c quality! Children's fine mercerized socks in white with fancy striped tops. Variety of colors to select from. Every pair perfect! All sizes 7½ to 9½. Mothers will want these by the half dozen and dozen for summer.

—Rich's, Street Floor

Bridge Lamps, $5.95

—You'll recognize $10 quality! Wrought iron bridge lamps with brass base and trimmings. Bead drops in blue and other colors. Parchment shades in blue and gold, black and rose. As illustrated.

—Rich's, Second Floor

Costume Slips, $1.95

—Reg. $2.50 quality. High count nainsook makes these. See the 20-inch hem! Tops finished with yoke effect formed of narrow lace insertion, fine tucks. Filet medallions and lace trimmed shoulder straps. Lady Fair ribbon. Sizes 36 to 46.

—Rich's, Third Floor

Zephyr, 25c

—Usually 39c. Rentfree zephyr madras. Checks, stripes, and plaids. For women's and children's dresses—for rompers and creepers—colors guaranteed fast. 32-in.

—Rich's, Second Floor

Table Cloths, $2.50
—$5 usually. Pattern cloths of mercerized damask. Size, 70x70. For round or square tables. Just fifty.

—Rich's, Second Floor

Longcloth, 10 yds. $1.39

Usually $1.79—Here's an Opportunity

—There is economy in buying for a whole season at this low price! Soft finish. 36-in. A Birthday surprise it's worth making a special trip to get.

Diaper Cloth, $1.75

—Instead of $2.25. Rich's well-known "Star and Crescent" 27-in. Antiseptic.

Dish Towels, 69c Doz.

—Usually $1. Of figured and plain huck toweling. Size 16x18-in. 2,400 of them.

Tea Napkins, $2.95

—Usually $3.50 dozen. Of pure linen damask. Floral and conventional designs. 14x14-in.

—Rich's, Second Floor

Burson Hose 79c

—Reg. $1. Silk and fiber mixed stockings. Surprising birthday announcement! Hurry!

—Burson's fashioned foot. Lisle reinforced.

—Sand, peach, jack rabbit, cinnamon, cedar, log cabin, fawn, bluish, airedale. Sizes 8½ to 10.

Many Other Birthday
Treats in Hosiery Section, Street Floor.

Infants' Dresses 95c

Made to Sell for $1.50!

—Lovely little dresses of fine count nainsook or checked dimity. Cunning square necks and short puff sleeves. Finished with embroidery insertion and dainty lace edge. Sizes, 1, 2 and 3 years.

Infants' Slips, 89c

—Reg. $1.25. Long ones only. Made of soft nainsook; necks and sleeves finished with hand featherstitching and lace.

Infants' Caps, $1

—Reg. $1.50. Dainty caps and bonnets up to 2-year size.

$3.50 Caps at $1.95

$3.95 Caps at $2.95

$5 Caps at $3.95

Gertrudes, 95c

—Reg. $1.50. Long and short ones. Two-year size. Hand made.

$4.95 Gertrudes... $1.25

$4.95 Gertrudes... $1.98

$5.95 Gertrudes... $3.95

Crib Blankets, $1.95

Regular $2.00

—Infants' crib or bassinette blankets, fleecy cotton. White and pink or blue. Size, 36x50.

—Rich's, Third Floor

Infants' and Tot's Creepers, $1

—Intended to sell for $1.50 and $1.95. Creepers of poplins, chambrays, gingham and madras. White and colors. 6 months, 1, 2 and 3-year sizes.

—Rich's, Third Floor

Canton Crepes

And Flat
Crepes—
All Silk

$1.95

Usual $3
and $3.50
Grade

—By such extraordinary values as these can you judge the whole Anniversary Sale! The newest, most fashionable silks are marked at surprising savings.

—Navy, tan, brown, grey, white, rose, almond green, and powder blue. 40-inch. The material for a smart traveling dress, a summer afternoon or sports frock for $7.80—if you take the usual four yards.

Rich's Daylight
Silk
Section,
2nd Floor

98c Fiber Vests, $1.50 Grade—Perfect

—Special Anniversary tributes from their maker. Right at the very forefront of the early vacation season!

—Bodice top, with ribbon over shoulder. Pink, orchid and peach. Sizes 36 to 44. Women who know values will buy in quantity.

$2.00 Fiber Step-Ins, $1.49

—Rich's, Street Floor

Child's Dresses, Half!

$2.50 Ones $1.25
$3.50 Ones $1.75

—Mothers, hurry! Such Anniversary offerings cannot last long! Cleverly styled dresses for little girls. Gingham in solid colors and becoming checks. Some have hand embroidery and hand smocking. Counter-tossed. 3 to 5 yrs.

—Rich's, Third Floor

$5.95 L'Aiglon Uniforms

For Nurses! Should Be $7.50

—Nurses! All folks who wear uniforms—when have you heard of anything like this? Glossy, silk finished white poplin uniforms; straight models with gathers over hips; two pleats in front; short square cut collar, three-button cuffs, loose belt and pockets. Sizes 34 to 46.

65c Kitchen Aprons, 39c

—Rich's, Third Floor

$1.29 Broadcloth Shirts

Intended to Retail for $2

—Men, look at these! Domestic broadcloth shirts, in solid white or tan. Collar attached. The ideal shirt for sports wear as well as for the summer long. Don't let these get by you. Sizes 13½ to 17.

Men's $1 Summer Union Suits $7.95

—Rich's, Street Floor

What Luck! Women Will Eagerly Select These $25, $29.75

Dresses $17.95

—This is pure gold! Right at the very moment smart women are seeking fashionable dresses for wear now and all summer long, the Anniversary brings them at $7 to $15 under the regular price! No wonder women are coming to the new Third Floor Fashion Sections in great throngs, daily. We predict an even bigger crowd today!

Such GOOD Looking Frocks and SO Becoming! We Doubt if the Lot (150) Lasts Through the Day!

—Frocks that may well boast their superiority by virtue of soft, luxurious fabrics. There are gorgeous prints. There are fluffy georgettes, with that undeniable air of charm that women look for in summer frocks. There are the well-known flat crepes, collarless. There are pussywillows, that just by looking at them you can tell how they will tub and TUB. There are flattering beaded dresses. And roshanaras in cleverly developed sports styles. 150 of them! They'll go faster than they can be wrapped. $17.95.

—Rich's, Third Floor

$17.95

Filet Curtain Nets, 39c

Special! You'll Wonder at this Low Price!

—Such lovely, airy curtain nets—filet nets! The very thing you want most of all for summer windows. Buy at Rich's Special Anniversary prices. White, cream, ecru. 36-in. wide.

Curtain Madras, 19c

—Reg. 29c quality. Very soft and beautiful quality. You'll be glad of the Anniversary.

30c Curtain Madras, 25c yd.

40c Curtain Madras, 35c yd.

65c Curtain Madras, 50c yd.

Sunfast Velours, $3.15

Yard

—Guaranteed fast colors—imagine! Only $3.15 yd. This is a very special price. Plain colors, taupe, rose, blue, green and mulberry. 50-in. wide.

—Rich's, Fourth Floor

Axminster Rugs, $27.50

$34.75 Quality—and You'll Know It!

—The good old reliable Axminster at $27.50 is indeed a real Friend-maker. This is enough to make even the disillusioned shopper believe in old-fashioned bargains once more. Room size—9x12 ft. Effective color combinations and patterns.

$42.50 Velvet Rugs, 9x12 ft., $37.50

$67.50 Axminster Rugs, 9x12 ft., $48.50

$49.50 Axminster Rugs, 9x12 ft., $44.50

$44.50 Velvet Rugs, 9x12 ft., $39.50

$22.50 Axminster Rugs, 6x9 ft., $18

$27.50 Axminster Rugs, 6x9 ft., $23

$32.50 Axminster Rugs, 6x9 ft., $25

—Rich's, Fourth Floor

Buy on Household Club Plan

M. RICH & BROS. COMPANY

PHONE WALNUT 4636

BROAD, ALABAMA AND FORSYTH STREETS

PHONE WALNUT 4636

Pi Pi Dance Is Brilliant Affair at Brookhaven

Carroll Tire Sale

SEE BACK PAGE!
Carroll Tire Sale

Carton Price Sale

DAILY CALENDAR OF WOMEN'S MEETINGS

The P.-T. A. of Pryor Street school will hold its last meeting for the year in the school auditorium today at 2:30 o'clock.

The regular meeting of Center Hill Chapter No. 235, Order of the Eastern Star, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Center Hill Masonic temple on Mayson-Turner road.

The Georgia Tech Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. S. Taylor, 554 Spring street, today at 2:30 o'clock.

The Agnes Scott club will meet today with Mrs. P. W. Hammond at her home on Westminster drive.

The Goucher College club will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Hanson W. Jones, on St. Charles avenue.

Inman Chapter No. 412, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its regular business meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic hall, Inman yards.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Hoke Smith Junior High school will hold a daddy's meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Commercial High school.

The regular monthly meeting of the P.-T. A. of Joel Chandler Harris school will be held in the auditorium this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the Girls' High P.-T. A. will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Atlanta chapter of the LaGrange Alumnae association will meet at the Atlanta Woman's club at 3 o'clock.

Election of officers will take place at the regular meeting of the R. L. Hope Parent-Teacher association, which will be held at the school on Piedmont road.

Program of Class Events At Washington Seminary

The senior class of the Washington seminary will hold their class celebration Tuesday evening, May 20, in the school auditorium. The program will commence at 8:15 o'clock. The president's address will be delivered by Miss Virginia Howard.

LADIES' HATS
Cleaned and Blocked
Stoddard
126 Peachtree
IVy 0043 - Walnut 1222

Whiten Skin Almost Over Night

No more blackheads, pimples, freckles, or muddiness! Amazing discovery clears and whitens skin almost over night. Dust, wind and clogged pores may have injured your skin. But underneath is a beautiful complexion. Banish blemishes this new way; don't let liver spots, moth patches or sallowness mar your beauty.

Make This 3 Minute Test

Three minutes before bedtime smooth some of this cool, fragrant cream upon your skin. The next morning look into your mirror! You will be astonished. Money back if not satisfied. Parfums, 810 Poplar St., Paris, Tennessee.

Golden Peacock Bleach Creme

Jacobs' Pharmacy Co.
12 Stores in Atlanta

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.
Stephen A. Hawk, Inc.
A. R. Munn, Inc. E. H. Cone, Inc.
Keely Company

To Free Your Arms of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets)
No toilet table is complete without a small package of delectable, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs, apply and in about 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished.

For perfect results be sure you get delectable in the original package and accept no substitute.—(adv.)

RECOMMENDED BY HER DOCTOR

Found Strength by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kankakee, Illinois.—"My mother-in-law always took your medicine for weakness, and then the Change of Life it did her so much good that she induced me to take it for a weakness I had for a year and a half. It has strengthened me and now I have a nice baby boy. I do all my own housework now, and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I have the opportunity. I am taking it again for weakness, as my family doctor has recommended it for this purpose."
Mrs. HARRY COULOM, 984 North Harrison Ave., Kankakee, Illinois.

Real Evidence of Merit
For the relief of female weakness, pains and backache, nervousness and irregularities, with other troubles common to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine. Its worth is thoroughly established by such letters as the above. There are women everywhere, who, having received benefit, gladly tell other women about it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Featuring Merchandise of Quality Priced As Low As Quality Can Be Bought

Shoppers Who Know

Every day more and more people, shoppers who know, who compare qualities and values tell us this:

That they find here a better quality at the price, or the same quality at a lower price than elsewhere. Often our regular prices are found to be lower than so-called "reductions."

Why not try us out? It pays to look here first—to compare qualities and values before buying.

Tapestry Runners

For table or console, these long runners, 12x54 inches, are unusually attractive. Grounds are black or dark blue with all-over designs in effective floral patterns in shades of rose, blue, tan, and gold. One would expect them to be much more than a modest$1.95

Third Floor

Fudge Aprons

Stamped for Working

For Sunday night's cozy suppers and whenever the hostess plays maid these "fudge" aprons are fine! Made of unbleached muslin and checked gingham with easy-to-do attractive designs stamped for working in "lazy daisy," French knots and buttonhole. Quite remarkable value at69c

Art Needlework—Main Floor

To Meet the Family Cry
For More Towels
During the Summer Days

This Quality-Value Sale of Bath Towels

Each towel at the price is a surprisingly good value.

When Bought by the Dozen

Savings are even more substantial.

All White Bath Towels

Full bleached, two-ply weave, double thread filling (double threads in the Turkish knap), hence very soft and absorbent.

19x38-inch towels, each29c
Same by the dozen, $2.98

20x40-inch towels, each35c
Or by the dozen, $3.48

22x45-inch towels, large size, very soft and thick, each59c
By the dozen, $5.76

23x45-inch towels, extra heavy, athletic ribbed weave, each75c
Or 6 for $3.59

26x54-inch towels, extremely large size and fine grade, each85c
Or 6 for $4.50

Colored Border Towels

18x36-inch towels, each29c
Or by the dozen, $2.98

19x36-inch towels, with wide colored vertical stripes, each35c
Or by the dozen, $3.48

17x35-inch towels, heavy, soft and absorbent, monogram space, each 39c
By the dozen, $4.20

21x41-inch towels, colored material, stripes, heavy athletic ribbed, each48c
By the dozen, $4.78

22x45-inch towels, very large, fine, heavy grade, each59c
By the dozen, $5.76

24x49-inch towels, extremely large size, soft and thick, each69c
Or 6 for $3.54

24x48-inch towels, very fine, luxuriously large and soft weave, each 95c
Or 6 for $4.50

See These

New Modes

and

Quality Values

In Our Windows

Today

No. 1. Irene Castle Gowns in exclusive new models at quite an unusual price.

No. 2. Gift suggestions for the girl graduate. Selected here and there from our unusually attractive displays of unique and beautiful gift things. Your gift problems quickly solved here, and if desired, at a modest outlay.

No. 3. Distinctive new 3-piece dresses of exquisite and unusual designs.

No. 4. Colorful pillows of Terry Cloth for the sun room and porch at a very modest price.

No. 5. Summer kimonos—a group of unusually attractive models in crepes and other materials; pretty hand embroideries and a price surprisingly low.

No. 6. Bedroom suites of 7 pieces in American walnut. Good workmanship and attractive design at a very modest price.

When Lunch Time Comes Around

Busy shoppers and business men and women, too, will find a delightful, restful change in a half hour or more spent on our top floor. The Tea Room is a place for the best of lunches. Then, there are comfortable lounge and rest rooms for men and women. An ideal place to meet friends.

Saving Prices
On Popular

Toilet

Accessories

Not just for a day, and not just a few items—but always whatever one wants, our complete department of Toilet Accessories offers substantial savings on numberless wanted things. Here are a few:

Coty's Extracts, original, imported packages, small size; Muguet, L'Origan, Chypre, Esmeralde, and Paris. Boxed, at79c

Coty's Compacts, a new, very dainty package. L'Origan odor in blanche, rachel, and naturelle.89c

Coty's Talcum in a most attractive glass package. Jasmin, Paris, Rose, L'Origan, Esmeralde, Styx.75c

Angelus Cream, a delightfully refreshing, skin whitening, lemon cream. Instantly removes make-up. Cleans and softens.....39c, 69c, $1.29

Lemon Creme, "Louis Philippe," a double strength cleansing and bleaching cream for tan and sunburn$1.69

Dorin's Powder, "Nadia," fine for sensitive skins. Naturelle, rachel, and blanche. Box.....49c
Main Aisle

The Stage Is Set for Summer
Featuring Our

Famous Quality Silks

Nine "Headliners" of Quality plus value—not an uninteresting number on the program!

All are great favorites and these lowest prices for quality will bring them greater popularity.

Printed Crepe de Chine, 40 inches, in a beautiful variety of light and of dark colorings suitable for street and evening gowns, yard.....$1.79

Satin Crepe, 40 inches, a handsome grade in black, white and in many street and evening shades, yard.....$2.95

Georgette, 40 inches, all silk, black, white and many colors. Most surprising quality and value, yard.....$1.29

Wash Satin, 36 inches, good, heavy grade, pink, flesh, peach, orchid, turquoise, yard.....$1.59

Canton Crepe, 40 inches, superior quality in black, white and colors, yard.....$2.69

Flat Crepe, 40 inches, a real quality value, in black, white and colors.$2.69

Georgette of a finer quality, 40 inches, black, white and popular shades for evening and street dresses, yard.....$1.49

Crepe de Chine, 40 inches, quite an incomparable quality at the price. This is shown in black, white and thirty leading shades, yard..$1.59

Silk Broadcloth, 33 inches, for blouses, shirts, and tub dresses. Stripes, checks, plaids, yard.....$1.79

Mah Jongg Sets

Attractively Priced

A genuine Chinese set of extra good quality bone and bamboo, very attractively engraved and colored. Comes in a flat mahogany-finished case, at$13.95

A five-drawer cabinet, containing the same set as above described, is a regular $25.00 set, at.....$18.00

Notions Section—Main Aisle

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Art exhibit at Biltmore hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. William Howell Kiser will entertain informally this evening at dinner at their home on Pace's ferry road in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Calhoun.

Mrs. Nellie G. Cheves will compliment Mrs. James Meegan at a bridge-tee at her home.

Dinner of Atlanta Writers' club in banquet hall of Atlanta Woman's club.

The Vacant Chair circle will entertain at a benefit bridge at Habersham hall.

Mrs. James E. Hickey will be hostess at a small buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Mrs. George S. Vardeman and Mrs. James M. Reeves will entertain the LaGrange alumnae this afternoon at the Woman's club.

Class day will be held at the Cherry school this morning at 10 o'clock.

The faculty of Cherry school will give a tea at the Biltmore in compliment to the senior class.

Miss Virginia Torrance will entertain the members of the O. B. X. of Washington seminary this afternoon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mrs. W. M. Dunlap will entertain at dinner in honor of Gene Lee, Jr.

Mrs. Rankin Manley will entertain at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McEachern, at bridge in honor of Miss Elizabeth Boykin, of Knoxville.

A birthday party, a monthly feature of the Hebrew Orphans' Aid, will take place this afternoon at the home.

The Woman's Benefit association will sponsor a play at 8 o'clock this evening in the K. of P. hall in the Forsyth building.

The senior class of Washington seminary will hold the class celebration this evening in the school auditorium.

A meeting of the Witches' club will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marguerite O. Murphy, 548 South Boulevard.

The South as an Early American Art Center

An event of widespread importance occurred Monday with the opening of the exhibit from the Great Central art galleries at the Atlanta Biltmore. In its own way it ranks with the first performance given by the Metropolitan Grand opera here, in that it marks an epoch. It is to be hoped, great art exhibits of the purpose and plan of this one, will become annual events in Atlanta in the future—a part of our civic and educational life. Such pictures as we are promised offer opportunities for great pleasure and culture to citizens of this part of the world, cut off far too long from the art influences and advantages of the larger centers, so long that many of us who love art must have forgotten that one of the very earliest art centers in America was here in the south.

The descendants of the English colonists of Virginia and South Carolina, of the French emigrants of the sea island cotton and rice plantations of Beaufort—in their day the richest society of people in America—are said to have been the first Americans to cross to the old country to have themselves perpetuated on canvas. They sat to the greatest portrait painters and bringing these canvases back with them to this country produced in their homes what might be called our first American "art atmosphere," created by the presence of the works of such masters as Gainsborough, Romney, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Ingham, and later the early American masters, Gilbert Stuart, Copley, Trumbull, Jarvis, Jouett, Inman, Waldo, Sully, the Peales and the three renowned miniaturists, Malbone, Fraser and Bonne-

Art Treasures to Be Found. Some of these art treasures are still to be found in South Carolina and Virginia and Georgia, and in other southern states—everywhere in fact where the descendants of these early Americans are now living, but most of them are scattered through the art galleries of Europe and America. The shrewd European art dealer was quick to find his way south

Somebody's Stenog LOVES Goober Goodies Do You?

NEVER WITHOUT BLACK-DRAUGHT

West Virginia Lady Uses It For Headache and Sour Stomach. "Nothing Like It," She Says.

Hurricane, W. Va.—Mrs. Ida Chaney, who lives on her beautiful farm far from Big Hurricane creek, near here, made the following statement not long ago:

"My sons and I have used Black-Draught for a number of years and are never without it. I use it for headache and sour stomach. When I eat something that sours, just a pinch of Black-Draught sets me straight."

"Not long ago I went to visit my sister in Ohio. I took a severe headache on the train. When I got to my sister's I sent for some Black-Draught and took a big dose. Next morning I felt fine and enjoyed my visit. My sister had never heard of Black-Draught, so she began taking it and says it is all I said it was."

"After the flu my sons complained of their joints aching. They began taking Black-Draught and think there is nothing like it. They take it in broken doses every spring and are seldom sick."

"The other night my little grandson had a cold. I gave him a small dose of Black-Draught for two or three nights and he got all right. I can't say enough for it. It has saved me dollars and suffering besides."

Sold everywhere. Try it.

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT LIVER MEDICINE

League To Sponsor Benefit Bridge At Biltmore

The League of Women Voters will give a benefit card party in the ballroom of the Biltmore hotel Wednesday, June 11, at 3 o'clock.

This is the first benefit card party to be given at the Biltmore. Those wishing to play may bring their sets. There will be two hundred tables and a prize will be furnished for each table. The only charge will be 50 cents per ticket, or $2 per table.

The league is offering a prize to the person selling the most tickets. Tickets may be procured at the league headquarters, 504 Connally building, Main 3346, or from the ward leaders.

Formwalt P-T. A. To Hold Meeting.

The Moses W. Formwalt P-T. A. held its last meeting for the scholastic year 1923-1924 Thursday afternoon, May 15, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. L. Ryanski, president, presided. Yearly reports from all committee chairmen were given.

Mrs. Ryanski gave a splendid report, showing the work of the association, and praising work of her co-workers. She also gave a fine report on the state Parent-Teacher convention held in Savannah, where she attended as delegate from Formwalt.

The outstanding feature of the meeting was the election of officers for the ensuing year. By unanimous vote the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. L. Ryanski; Vice-president, Mrs. W. S. McLaughlin; Recording secretary, Miss Lottie Geffin; and Treasurer, Mrs. G. R. Ottwell.

The association will entertain the Formwalt P-T. A. class Monday, May 26, and will give a lawn party for the entire student body Wednesday, May 28.

To be held at the association, Mrs. J. P. McArthur presented Mrs. Sams, principal, a handsome leather bag, thus showing love and appreciation of her never-failing work and her faithful service.

Mrs. S. R. Harris also presented the association in presenting Mrs. A. C. Frost, retiring secretary, a beautiful vase lamp, in appreciation of her service.

After adjournment lunch and cakes were served in the cafeteria.

Miss Reynolds Gives Party.

Miss Rose Evelyn Reynolds entertained with a birthday party Friday afternoon at her home on West North avenue.

After several interesting games were played, dancing was enjoyed. The guests invited were Misses Virginia Fair, Katherine McLaughlin, Virginia Penn, Virginia Campbell, Ross Hart, Elizabeth Walker, Hazel Winters and Mary Greer; Messrs. Ed Shivers, Grantham Reynolds, Harry Fair, Jack Ward, and the Campbell family. Miss Stansland, Robert Hart and Allison Ellis.

Mrs. L. A. Reynolds and Mrs. John W. Deese assisted Miss Reynolds in entertaining her guests.

Mrs. Frank Ellis Given Party at Lyric.

Mrs. Frank Ellis, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is visiting in Atlanta, E. C. Laird at her home on West Peachtree street, was the guest of honor at a box party given by Mrs. B. M. Boykin at the Lyric theater on Monday evening.

The guests were Mrs. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grier, Mr. and Mrs. McCord Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Berris.

his sitters. Sully's portraits are easily recognized, being indelibly soft in finish and sentimental in treatment.

Two Beautiful Portraits.

I recall two beautiful portraits—one of Natalie Heyward, the other of Miss Mary Elbert—both by Gilbert Stuart in 1801, and this brings us to that artist, one of the most interesting figures in the whole of American art history. He was known as the "American Titian" and was undoubtedly one of the most representative painters of the early American school. Among his best known works are "Uriah the Son," which belongs to the Duke of Sutherland; "Jacob's Dream," now in the Petworth gallery; "Dead Man Touching Elisha's Bones," which won a prize of 200 guineas in England and now hangs in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. One of Allston's pictures, "Spartan's Vision," painted by Mr. Ball of South Carolina, and is not a part of the Taylor collection of New York. The last twenty-five years of his life were devoted to a composition of great size, "Belshazzar's Feast," which he was prevented from finishing by frequent attacks of illness, as well as by over-fatigue of taste which he found difficult to satisfy, and an ideal which "became more exalted and exacting as the years advanced." In art as in life one may not spend too much time merely thinking, else he loses power of doing.

But perhaps it is to Edward Malbone that we are indebted for our most lasting fame as early art patrons. A study of each of Malbone's miniatures gives you first one sure impression—that it is a perfect work of art. There is such admirable precision in every line; such true eyes (I use the word to express actuality, each carrying that ineffable quality—soul, differing each from the soul of the other as in life); such human mouths; such a careful portrayal of tonorial detail, rendering each of these a human document of the period it represents. Charles Fraser, the second of our American miniaturists, did not enter upon his artistic life until after Malbone's death, which occurred in 1807. Still it is evident to all students of miniature that the work of the latter had great influence upon that of the former.

There are living in Atlanta today descendants of practically all the people of that earlier age portrayed by the great artists of that generation. John Lane, the eminent English editor, is back of a movement to have photographed, published and recorded every example of early American art extant. A splendid sum of money has been contributed in New York for the work of locating them. A group of men who know art have for more than a year past been in charge of the photographic and historical side of the work. In due time a series of books will appear in which the specimens of early American art will be presented in chronological order, accompanied by such historical data as may be deemed expedient.

Speaking of John Lane reminds me of Mr. Ernest Ipsen and his celebrated portrait of the latter, painted at the National Art club, exhibited in New York, London and elsewhere, a delightful example of Mr. Ipsen's style and technique. Mr. Ipsen is to visit Atlanta during the art exhibit. Harry L. Rittenberg will also be a guest in Atlanta. Mr. Rittenberg is a man who painted the portrait of our beloved Mrs. Thomas B. Felder, presented to her husband on the occasion of a complimentary dinner, by the Association of Federal Judges, as an expression of appreciation for Mr. Felder's successful efforts in their behalf, which resulted in the salary of American federal judges being raised.

A. T. O. Reception Will Honor Mr. and Mrs. John Littel May 25

The A. T. O. fraternity of Georgia Tech will entertain at a reception Sunday afternoon, May 25, from 4 to 6 o'clock, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Littel, at the chapter house on West North avenue.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Littel will be Dr. and Mrs. Earl Quillian, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McLeary.

A cordial invitation is extended to all alumni and their wives and to the Emory chapter to be present, as no cards will be issued.

The young girls invited are:

Misses Athleen Dickey, Marion Woolf, Cordie Rice, Betty Putnam, Irene Thomas, Carolyn Cole, Helen Bates, Nina Erwin, Ann Spaulding, Angel Allen, Nell Branner, Marion Dabner, Lela Lewis, Jinx White, Edna Belle Raine, Catherine Raine, Mary Hartwell, Arabella Dudley, Louise Wilson, Mary Sadler, Ida Sadler, Pauline Gray, Catherine Chandler, Ruth McMillan, Mary Shorer, Beale White, Harriett Shelden, Dorothy Stitt, Inez Williamson, Martha Maddox, Mary Kniele, Virginia Sheno, Neil Clayton, Mary Hill Woodworth, Jean Williams, Mildred Fraser, Mildred Williams, Frances Fabbady, Adelaide Canaday, Catherine Canaday, Josephine Douglas, Mary Tuller, Maggy Wimer, Florence Boy, Florene Eckford, Elizabeth Palmer, Ethel Hunter, Constance Cone, Ada Peoples, Mary Malone and Jean Dumas.

Spring Street Pupils Hear Jonas Lie.

Jonas Lie, artist of note, at the request of the art department of the Atlanta Woman's club, gave a talk and object-lesson in color Monday to the pupils of Spring Street school.

Lie's address was on the color of color with suggestions to his youthful hearers as to what they should see in a picture beyond the mere reproduction of the subject, stressing the artist's desire to awaken imagination as well as to present with faultless technique the thing as he sees it.

Mrs. Berman, principal of the school, presented Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, president of the Atlanta Woman's club; Mrs. Charles J. Jerome, chairman of the division of art, and Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, of the general committee, who had secured the services of Mr. Lie for the school's pleasure and benefit.

Grove Park P-T. A. To Meet Wednesday.

The Grove Park P-T. A. will hold the last meeting of the school year Wednesday, May 21. The seventh grade will be the guests of honor. Chairmen of all committees will report and officers will be elected for next year. Prominent speakers will be present.

Refreshments will be served. Invitation to be present is extended to all members who are asked to bring their friends.

Eastern Star To Meet Thursday Evening.

Georgia chapter 127, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its regular meeting in the chapter room, corner of South Pryor and Georgia avenue, Thursday evening, May 22, 8 o'clock. Members are urged to be present. Visitors will be welcome.

Miss Hanley Gives Bridge Luncheon.

Miss Kathryn Hanley entertained Thursday at a bridge-luncheon at her home, 69 Drewry street, in honor of the graduating class of the Sacred Heart school. The color scheme used in decorations and refreshments was blue and white, the class colors.

Top score prize was won by Miss Geraldine O'Donnell, and cut prize by Miss Kathleen Jordan.

LaGrange Alumnae Meet Today.

The Atlanta chapter of the LaGrange College Alumnae association will hold its regular meeting at the Atlanta Woman's club, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Officers will be elected at this meeting.

Girls' High P-T. A. To Hear Dr. Hatcher.

The regular meeting of the Girls' High Parent-Teacher association will be held on Tuesday afternoon, May 20, at 3 o'clock.

The association is fortunate in having secured for the forenoon of the Southern Women's Educational Alliance, as the speaker of the afternoon. It is indeed a privilege to hear the address of one who is distinguished as being one of the most highly educated persons in the country. Her reputation extends far and wide. She stands among the foremost in the cause of higher education. Anything she may have to say will be awaited with the greatest interest.

Reports of various committees will be heard. All members are urged to be present, particularly as this will be the last meeting of the year and election of officers for the ensuing term will be held.

J. J. Haverty Honors Famous Artists.

Featuring the presence in Atlanta of a number of America's most famous artists, attending the exhibition of the Grand Central galleries, at the Biltmore, was the buffet supper given Sunday evening by J. J. Haverty, chairman of the fine arts committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

The party was given at Mr. Haverty's home on Peachtree road, "Villa Clara," and the distinguished visitors were honor guests.

Miss May Haverty assisted Mr. Haverty in entertaining.

Invited to meet the honor guests were a few of Mr. Haverty's close friends.

Miss Risinger Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. Buel B. Risinger, 968 Piedmont avenue, entertained informally at the Biltmore hotel Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Miss Dorothea-Mae Risinger, who celebrated her fourteenth birthday.

The following, most of whom attend O'Keefe Junior high, were invited to meet the honor guest: Misses Phoebe Rhett, Martha Mizell, Rose Harold, Helen Smith, Hazel Stamps and Dorothea-Mae and Marjorie Louise Risinger. The affair was given by Miss Emmett Rushin, Abner Calhoun, Leonard Richardson, Donald Chalk, Jack Mahoney and Randolph Willkenson.

Stoddard-Speers Wedding Cards.

Mrs. Robert Louis Shape has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Margaret Stoddard, to Theodore Cuyler Speers on Thursday afternoon, May 29, at 4 o'clock, at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, New York city.

Doctors Recommend

SHIVAR America's Greatest Mineral WATER For the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder. Delivered at your door by MUNN'S DRUG STORES Telephone WA 1013

Vacant Chair Circle To Give Benefit At Habersham Hall

The Vacant Chair circle will give a big benefit bridge party at Habersham Hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The members of the Vacant Chair circle are raising a sum of money to erect a memorial hospital in connection with the Atlanta Child's home on Hightower road.

It is planned to erect in the beginning a room, a diet kitchen and a bath, this to be erected in proximity to the home, but to be maintained by the members of the circle. Later on, the entire hospital will be built.

The officers of the circle are: Mrs. Julian Chambers, president; Mrs. E. P. Gaffney, honorary life president; Mrs. Harrison Jones, secretary; Mrs. James R. Gray, treasurer.

Included in the list of those making reservations are:

Mrs. Joseph S. Raine, Mrs. Louanna Rhodes Platter, Mrs. Lela Hume, Mrs. J. H. Jordan, Mrs. Frank Holand, Mrs. Earl Danforth, Mrs. Hugh H. Wetmore, Mrs. F. G. Falkenberg, Mrs. Samuel Hewlett, Mrs. G. E. Spearman, Mrs. William Glenn, Mrs. Carroll McLaughlin, Mrs. Joseph Rhodes, Mrs. Katie Armstrong, Mrs. Joseph Regenstein, Mrs. Belling Jones, Sr., Mrs. James Weyman, Mrs. Julia Chambers, Mrs. William Fisch, Mrs. Delos Hill, Mrs. Wingfield Jones, Mrs. Harrison Jones, Mrs. James A. Gaudy, Mrs. Homer Lett, Mrs. Max Wright, Mrs. Forrest Greene, Mrs. William Henry, Mrs. Frank Spaulding, Mrs. Harry Harman, Jr., Mrs. Gordon Burnett, Mrs. T. B. Gentry, Mrs. Charles E. Carpenter, Mrs. Arthur W. Berger, Mrs. Thomas Dunham, Mrs. George Lowndes, Jr., Mrs. James R. Gray, Jr., Mrs. L. M. Adams, Mrs. H. B. Hooper, Mrs. Hughes Spaulding, Mrs. Edward Gray, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Kousas, Mrs. William A. Black, Mrs. Mitchell King, Mrs. John Deaton, Mrs. Harry Woodward, Mrs. E. J. Dubois, Mrs. Ernest Daulton, Mrs. Dan Jones, Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mrs. L. S. Mitchell, Jr., Mrs. Henry Todd, Mrs. E. C. Wozitz, Mrs. Can Dorsey, Mrs. Forrest Adams, Jr., and others.

Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. John E. Gray, Jr., HE 1062 2307.

Tables are $2 each.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson Given Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Patterson were honor guests at a large reception given Sunday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Leide at their home in Inman circle.

Large baskets and vases of pink roses were used in profusion in decorating the reception room.

Mr. and Mrs. Leide were assisted in entertaining by their daughter, Miss Rosebud Leide.

The guests wore orchid-colored beaded gowns.

Mrs. Patterson wore a Paris model of peach-colored satin, combined with georgette, elaborately embroidered.

About 200 guests were entertained.

Miss Bittick Heads Woodberry Alumnae.

The alumnae of Woodberry Hall held their regular meeting Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chapel of the school. After a delightful social hour officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Miss Ethel Bittick; vice president, Mrs. A. H. Simmons; secretary, Mrs. J. R. Barber; treasurer, Miss Josephine Smith. The next meeting will be held in September at Woodberry Hall.

A request is made to all members of the alumnae who have made late change of address to notify the secretary, by sending same to the school at an early date.

Gene Lee, Jr., To Be Guest of Honor.

Mrs. W. M. Dunlap will give a stag dinner this evening at her home on Penn. avenue, complimenting Gene Lee, Jr. and six of his friends, the following: Marvin Walraven, Verner Shadburn, Joseph Nichols, Stewart Bush, John DeLa Pierre and Asa Burford.

Mr. and Mrs. Hastings Entertain at Lyric.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hastings entertained a group of Decatur friends at a box party at the Lyric theater on Monday evening. Included were: Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Sutton, Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Elkin, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Freeborn, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Truitt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Stewart, Mr. Fletcher Pearson, Miss Kirby Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hastings.

Martha Berry Circle Holds Meeting at Atlanta Biltmore

The Atlanta Martha Berry circle met at the Biltmore hotel Monday morning at 11 o'clock upon invitation of Mrs. William Candler, Mrs. Holland Judkins and Mrs. William Royer to form definite plans for the erection on the campus of the Martha Berry school, at Rome, what is believed to be the first Mother's building in the world. This tribute had its inception in the hearts of these women with the observance here of Easter, and its gripping appeal is nearing culmination in announcement of full and complete details of this most unique and appropriate tribute.

A great many donations were made and the spirit which pervaded the meeting showed that every mother present was filled with the inspiration of the gift rather than the amount given to the cause. The meeting took place in a room on the mezzanine floor in a room which had as a background a group of paintings hung on the walls of the Mothers of Today and Yesterday, selected from the wonderful art exhibition of the Grand Central Art Galleries, of New York.

Mrs. Earl Sherwood Jackson, Atlanta's gifted and talented artist, gave a most finished interpretation of "The Old Canteen," by Harry Stillwell Edwards.

Mrs. Frank M. Iman, president of the circle, presided at the business meeting. She announced the following newly appointed executive committee: Mrs. Hollins Randolph, Mrs. Joseph T. Urme, Mrs. Linton Hopkins, Mrs. James M. Gilbert, Mrs. William H. Hunt, Mr. Daniel Harris, Mrs. Howard Bucknell, Mrs. Albert Thornton, Mrs. William P. Hill and Mrs. Albert Thornton, Jr.

Mrs. Robert P. Maddox was appointed chairman of the membership committee with the naming of those to serve with her left to her judgment. A report from the Georgia Good Will campaign, showing that $23,215 had been collected, while the members of the circle had raised from personal letters, the sum of $11,518, making a total of $34,733 which was sent to the school.

Through the sum realized from the movie hall, which was staged at the Piedmont Driving Club, under the splendid direction of Mrs. Frank S. Ellis, the circle purchased a Farquhar engine to be used in the operation of a sawmill at the Berry school. A vote of thanks was given Albert J. Woodruff of the Woodruff Machinery company, for his great kindness and courtesy in making possible the purchase of this engine. Applause greeted the announcement made by the president that Robert C. Alston, prominent Atlanta lawyer, had been made chairman of the board of trustees of the school.

Following the business meeting, luncheon was served in the ballroom.

where the tables were decorated in spring flowers. Mr. Barnes of the Grand Central Galleries, assisted by a corps of artists, made a tour of the art gallery with the members of the Martha Berry circle.

Don't Have Gray Hair

For a long time amazing reports have been coming about the results obtained by gray haired people who have used the clean, colorless liquid known as Kolor-Bak. Kolor-Bak applied to any gray hair quickly brings back the original color, giving the hair its natural appearance, not a dyed look. It is a proved substitute for the natural pigmentation. Results often appear in a week. It is not necessary to furnish samples of the hair, as the one clean, colorless liquid is for all colors.

"My Hair Was Quite Gray" Only a short time ago my hair was quite gray and becoming grayer. It was falling out, my scalp itched and dandruff appeared. Only a few applications of Kolor-Bak stopped the itching and dandruff. My hair soon stopped coming out. Most women of all, however, is that my hair is again its original color. (A Typical Letter). You need nothing but Kolor-Bak. Results are not satisfactory. Made by Hygienic Laboratories, Chicago, Illinois.

Kolor-Bak Banishes Gray Hair Dealers Everywhere Sell Kolor-Bak With Money-Back Guarantee

When the days get hotter and hotter, drink Tetley's, iced, and get cooler and cooler. Orange Pekoe Tea India, Ceylon and Java blend

Blue Ribbon Suggestions Fruit Salad Oranges Pineapple Grapes Grapefruit and HELLMANN'S BLUE RIBBON Mayonnaise

"No wonder they sold ten million bottles last year"

Every year more and more folks get the health habit. And that's why the South drank more than ten million bottles of last year. Um-m! the flavor! Only the finest, imported ales approach it—deliciously mild, mellow—because the spicy tang springs from real Jamaica ginger softened to delicate champagne flavor with a luscious fruit blend.

Buffalo Rock GINGER ALE

Oh, boy, just imagine swapping a nickel for an ale like that!

ORANGE CRUSH BOTTLING CO. 112 E. Ellis St. Phone IV 1091

Keep Healthy Drink GINGER ALE 5c and 15c everywhere

One Year To Live

BY JOHN HUNTER

Continued From Yesterday.

She had not again seen the man she thought was Lapierre, but Lapierre, confirmed the fact that she loved Kendrick, and tasted the bitterness of this confirmation.

The Italian count was gone and the young American, the latter without seeing Brunel's famous castle in the Tassus Pyrenees. The Argentine estancero was trekking north to London. The Austrian grand duke was talking of Naples. The stage was clearing. Only the principle actors were left.

Lolette, in a fit of anger, one evening, when alone with Mordac, reminded him of his life to her on the eve of his departure for Monte Carlo.

He tried to laugh carelessly, but failed. "Oh, that was just a joke. It was, perhaps, foolish, but—"

"Cochon! You think you can lie to me! I knew you were lying." She began to curse him. When she stopped for breath he said quietly:

"Now we will talk sense. You and I were good friends—once. There is no reason why we should not continue to be good friends. Also, there is no reason in the world why you should imagine you have any personal claim upon me."

His heart was yet heaving with the tumult of her anger. Her red lips twisted in ugly fashion.

"Fair! Personal claim on you? I want no claim. I want nothing but you. Only—her finger was flung towards him—"there shall be none other while I am alive and—her voice dropped—"while you live. Remember that, too. While you live!"

He was perturbed, and she would have questioned her, but she rushed from the room.

He had nobody to whom he could turn now, for Brunel was hostile to him. The two seemed to draw farther apart each time they were together in the company of Elise. The only thing they had in common—apart from their desire for her—was a hatred of Kendrick.

Brunel's patience was at last exhausted. Mordac was talking to him of his castle in the Pyrenees. "That visit never materialized," he said.

Brunel shook his head. "No. But I shall go there one day."

Suddenly Mordac realized that Brunel was contemplating carrying La Phalene off to that place where he was king—away from help and the world.

CHAPTER LIX.
It was on a fine night of stars, such a night as that on which Elise dined first at Mordac's little villa above Beaumont, that Mordac struck. He arranged it cleverly. A few adroit lies, and Lolette and Brunel went to the casino to play. Ostensibly, Mordac was to call for Kendrick and they were to go together for Elise.

They had not long gone when Elise received a telephone message at the Paris from Mordac. Kendrick was up at his villa with the others. There was a little change of plan. Would she run up at once in the car? She readily agreed to do so.

She was shown into a quiet room looking towards the hills—a room not too big, furnished sparsely and with taste. It was a room which, when the heavy door was closed on it seemed isolated and shut off from the world.

Mordac came across to meet her as she entered.

"I am sorry to have given you this trouble," he said. "But circumstances have driven me to it. Will you sit down?"

She seated herself, suddenly alive with a leaping fear. The house was so silent. The man who admitted her was, she knew, Mordac's confidential servant, a fellow unswerving in his loyalty to his master.

"Where are the others?" Mordac said. "They are down at the casino—waiting for me. Now the game is ended."

"I would suggest that we had a little talk first—you and I. For long you have played with me. Now the game is ended."

"I have not the slightest intention of taking you to the casino. I have deliberately arranged that we shall be alone and undisturbed. I want you to realize that, and understand it. This is no impulse of a moment, but a thing planned carefully, and with full regard to any consequences. Only—eying her carefully—"I don't think there will be any consequences. Because La Phalene has a reputation."

The air of the room was suddenly stifling. She turned to the door and ran. He was before her, with his back to the door, smiling.

"Not yet," he said quietly.

CHAPTER LX.
Down at the Casino Lolette and Brunel waited.

The time at which Mordac had said he, with Kendrick and Elise, would come along passed. It was a quarter of an hour afterwards the Lolette began to grow suspicious.

She said: "They are late."

"Yes," Brunel did not appreciate the inflection in her voice.

Five minutes more dragged by.

"There is something wrong," she said quietly. "Something wrong."

That Mordac is a dirty dog, and a liar. I am going to telephone to the Paris hotel."

While she telephoned Brunel did a curious thing. He hurried outside and told them to fill the tank of his great car to the brim with petrol, and to throw aboard several spare tires; also he told his chauffeur he need not wait, and questioned him as to the oiling and greasing of the car. The fact that the man replied that the car was oiled and greased for any length of journey seemed to satisfy him immensely.

By the time he got back Lolette was waiting for him.

"She left the Paris alone. That Kendrick has been never been there for her. Mordac lied. So then she went to but one place—to Mordac's house."

Lolette stared at her. Mordac had tricked them both.

Lolette went on: "Well! Why do you stand there like a great fool? Get your car! Hire a car!"

She clutched his arm and literally forced him towards the exit. A man brushed past them—going in. Brunel gasped. "Kendrick!" As Kendrick half turned, Lolette urged Brunel still forward. "Think of her at Mordac's!"

CHAPTER LXI.
Kendrick, having watched Lolette and Brunel hasten out towards Brunel's car, went into the Casino. He had called for Elise, and, learning she was out, he went straight into the Salle Schmitz.

He took a chair and found himself diagonally opposite Dr. Lapierre. He had more than once noticed Lapierre and named him as one of those on whom Monte Carlo had set its mark, one of those who found the place a sunlit, gorgeous hell from which there was no escape.

Kendrick studied him. This he decided, was a man of some idealism, with yet a streak of devastating weakness running through him. The idealism was in his eyes, his lofty brow, his sensitive lip; the weakness also was in his eyes, in his lips, in chin.

Kendrick tossed ten francs on the number nearest him. Lapierre was studying his list.

"Faites vos jeux, messieurs et mesdames!"

Lapierre looked up—took five francs, reached across and staked with Kendrick. In the action their eyes met, and into Lapierre's staid, startled, dumb look, as though he read in this looking with the man who was loved by the woman he himself loved an omen.

The number turned up. Kendrick received his three hundred and fifty francs. Lapierre drew in his hand and seventy-five francs gleamed and, in them, as he darted a quick look at Kendrick, something which Kendrick incredibly told himself was a mocking defiance.

Lapierre did not stake for three spins; then he placed ten francs on impair. He lost it.

He put twenty-five francs on manqué. He lost again.

The system was not working. Kendrick, beneath his slight amusement at the failure, felt a dreadful, welling pity for the man.

Lapierre started again. He commenced with five francs on Kendrick's original number. He saw it raked in by the croupier.

There was a haggard desperation in his eyes. He was still showing a profit, but his precious system was a snare and a delusion. It was better to back his luck.

He started. Five francs—ten francs—twenty. At twenty he had a win. He was now the possessor of a very large sum of money.

With that, like a true gambler, he conceived that his luck was "in." He began to back recklessly. He lost and lost. Once he won, and retrieved a portion of his losses.

Kendrick could see the growing madness in the man's eyes, could see the fever mounting hot to his cheeks.

The luck, the streak, what you will—peered out. Tens, twenties, they all went up under the long rakes. The piles of notes dwindled and vanished.

With thirty francs in front of him he turned once more to his system. Once more five francs were dropped by the trembling hand on the number in front of him.

Kendrick smiled across at Lapierre and pushed ten francs with them. It had been their first stake. Kendrick hoped it would be successful.

But it was not.

Now Lapierre was done. He looked up and down the table and suddenly a smile curled his thin lips, a smile which was wholly merciless.

He gathered all his remaining money—twenty-five francs—and staked the zero.

Thirty-six to one—on zero! On the bottom of all—his whole life and whose hopes were at zero.

No. 15 turned up! Lapierre took a deep breath. He got to his feet and turned away from the table, very calmly and slowly.

Kendrick, moved by a sudden impulse, got up and followed him.

Lapierre halted at a seat set under some palms in a quiet path by the Avenue des Solitaires.

Kendrick, lurking at a distance, saw him take something from his pocket and examine it intently. It was something very small, and in the deepening twilight Kendrick could hardly identify it. He concluded at last that it was a little phial, and instantly realized its meaning.

He hurried over and sat down beside him. Lapierre looked around at him.

"What do you want?" he asked. Kendrick indicated the phial.

"That is not the best stake to throw, monsieur," he said. "There is always a last and a better—it is the stake of winning back, of making good."

Lapierre smiled. "That sounds like a book of good resolutions," he said. "Perhaps—but even good resolutions are sometimes true."

"Yes?" Lapierre studied him. He was, Kendrick saw, now very cool and collected.

"I like you," Lapierre's words astonished Kendrick. "I have seen you often—with her, and I have tried to dislike you. But I don't."

"Her?" Kendrick was bewildered. "Why, yes, Elise Duchanier—La Phalene."

"Of course, thought Kendrick, everybody knew La Phalene. There would naturally be a little of reflected glory attaching to himself as her constant companion."

Lapierre went on. "Of course, when I loved her she was but Elise Duchanier, the dresser of that detestable Lolette. You would not know her then."

"I knew her in those days, too." "You did? Ah! So that was why she refused?"

"Refused what?" "To marry me. She had you." Now Kendrick began to understand. "So you are the doctor? The kindest man in the world?"

Lapierre nodded. "Perhaps. But she would not marry me." He hesitated.

JUST NUTS
WAITER, DOESN'T THAT COFFEE TASTE LIKE COCOA TO YOU?
I'M AFRAID SIR, I'VE SERVED YOU TEA

GEE! IT MUST BE FIERCE.
By H. N. P.

THE GUMPS—THE EMPTY NEST

"Tell me—if you loved a woman with all your heart, and soul and might, would you lie to her?"

Kendrick did not answer at once. "I think," he said at last, "that is a question only the gods themselves could answer. Certainly I would not condemn any man for any decision he might make in connection with it."

Lapierre took a deep breath. "That is what I thought you would say. Well, you will know, of course, that I did it, that I sacrificed my professional honor because of her. With the lie told I could not practice any more. She did not realize that. Of course, she knows now. With all that wealth her first actions would be to consult a specialist, and she must have known long since that there is no sarcasm, no danger, that she is healthy and whole—that I but lied to her; and—"

He lost again.

He put twenty-five francs on manqué. He lost again.

The system was not working. Kendrick, beneath his slight amusement at the failure, felt a dreadful, welling pity for the man.

Lapierre started again. He commenced with five francs on Kendrick's original number. He saw it raked in by the croupier.

There was a haggard desperation in his eyes. He was still showing a profit, but his precious system was a snare and a delusion. It was better to back his luck.

He started. Five francs—ten francs—twenty. At twenty he had a win. He was now the possessor of a very large sum of money.

With that, like a true gambler, he conceived that his luck was "in." He began to back recklessly. He lost and lost. Once he won, and retrieved a portion of his losses.

Kendrick could see the growing madness in the man's eyes, could see the fever mounting hot to his cheeks.

The luck, the streak, what you will—peered out. Tens, twenties, they all went up under the long rakes. The piles of notes dwindled and vanished.

With thirty francs in front of him he turned once more to his system. Once more five francs were dropped by the trembling hand on the number in front of him.

Kendrick smiled across at Lapierre and pushed ten francs with them. It had been their first stake. Kendrick hoped it would be successful.

But it was not.

Now Lapierre was done. He looked up and down the table and suddenly a smile curled his thin lips, a smile which was wholly merciless.

He gathered all his remaining money—twenty-five francs—and staked the zero.

Thirty-six to one—on zero! On the bottom of all—his whole life and whose hopes were at zero.

No. 15 turned up! Lapierre took a deep breath. He got to his feet and turned away from the table, very calmly and slowly.

Kendrick, moved by a sudden impulse, got up and followed him.

Lapierre halted at a seat set under some palms in a quiet path by the Avenue des Solitaires.

Kendrick, lurking at a distance, saw him take something from his pocket and examine it intently. It was something very small, and in the deepening twilight Kendrick could hardly identify it. He concluded at last that it was a little phial, and instantly realized its meaning.

He hurried over and sat down beside him. Lapierre looked around at him.

"What do you want?" he asked. Kendrick indicated the phial.

"That is not the best stake to throw, monsieur," he said. "There is always a last and a better—it is the stake of winning back, of making good."

Lapierre smiled. "That sounds like a book of good resolutions," he said. "Perhaps—but even good resolutions are sometimes true."

"Yes?" Lapierre studied him. He was, Kendrick saw, now very cool and collected.

"I like you," Lapierre's words astonished Kendrick. "I have seen you often—with her, and I have tried to dislike you. But I don't."

"Her?" Kendrick was bewildered. "Why, yes, Elise Duchanier—La Phalene."

"Of course, thought Kendrick, everybody knew La Phalene. There would naturally be a little of reflected glory attaching to himself as her constant companion."

Lapierre went on. "Of course, when I loved her she was but Elise Duchanier, the dresser of that detestable Lolette. You would not know her then."

"I knew her in those days, too." "You did? Ah! So that was why she refused?"

"Refused what?" "To marry me. She had you." Now Kendrick began to understand. "So you are the doctor? The kindest man in the world?"

Lapierre nodded. "Perhaps. But she would not marry me." He hesitated.

Kendrick interrupted. "What do you mean? What is all this about?"

Lapierre turned slowly. "Don't you know? I dared not face her and see her eyes staring accusation at me."

"She has told me nothing," said Kendrick. "But perhaps you will tell me yourself."

Lapierre hesitated. "Perhaps I will."

Then he told Kendrick of the death sentence, and added: "It was to get her. I thought she would wish to ensure Marie's future, and would marry me. Afterwards I could have explained the diagnosis was wrong—I had made a mistake. But, instead, she made for herself fame and fortune. That is all."

Kendrick's heart and brain were leaping. Elise did not know! He said: "This, monsieur, is news to me. And now I am going to request that you favor me by accepting a little loan until you are in a position to repay it. I hope you will not misunderstand."

Lapierre smiled. "You are very good. I will take it." He gripped the wad of notes in his left hand, and added: "Now, get back and find her. Perhaps, after all, she does not know."

CHAPTER LXII.
Kendrick half got to his feet, and then sat down again. "We will go back together," he said. "She will be pleased to meet you, and I am sure she will forgive me. Won't you come? You know Marie, her sister, is now quite well, and Elise often talks of you yet."

Lapierre shook his head and at last Kendrick surrendered to his inportunities.

Lapierre watched him until he vanished round a bend in the path. He looked down at the notes Kendrick's generosity had forced upon him. They were, he saw, of high denomination, and there were many of them. He held in his hand almost as much money as he had brought to Monte Carlo. He looked at the phial. In the one hand the tables and their lure, in the other, escape.

He drained the bottle to its dregs. They found him an hour later, with the notes still clutched in his hand.

Kendrick went back to the Casino post-haste. By this time, he was certain, Elise and the others would be there. He must tell her.

In the vestibule an attendant came after. "Monsieur!" Kendrick looked around. "There has been a telephone call for you, monsieur. It was from the house of Monsieur le Comte Mordac—his servant. The call was but a minute or two ago. Perhaps you would wish to speak to him."

Kendrick waited while the villa was obtained.

"Yes—this is Kendrick."

"From the other end came the voice of Jules, Mordac's confidential servant."

"Monsieur! I have tried to get you at your hotel and at the Casino. In despair I was about to ring up the police!"

"The police?"

"But yes. Will you come up to the villa at once? Something dreadful has happened!"

Kendrick dropped the receiver. Jules met him on the steps of the villa.

"What is it?" demanded Kendrick.

Continued Tomorrow.

Jules gestured with a trembling hand. Kendrick grabbed his shoulder.

"Up in the little smoke-room, monsieur—the one overlooking the Italian garden. You will remember it."

Kendrick bounded up the marble staircase.

There were two people in the room—and one of them was dead. Mordac was lying on his back on the divan. From beneath him welled something red and sluggish.

Sitting by Mordac's feet was Lolette. Her gorgeous evening gown was ripped to shreds. On a little Moorish table, beside an ash tray, was a crooked kukri, which Kendrick had remembered lunging usually on the wall. Its blade was stained. In the ash tray were two cigarette ends.

Continued Tomorrow.

By Hayward

SOMEBODY'S STENOG—Literary Criticism

CAM, I WROTE THE LOVINEST POME TO MY SWEETIE. LOOKIT!

OH CAM, I DO HOPE HE LIKES IT!

THIS IS FINE MARY—EXCEPT THAT IT'S TOO LONG, -AND TOO WIDE.

- AND TOO THICK!

WINNIE WINKLE THE BREADWINNER

Playing Hookey

MIKE MULLIGAN GETS IN TOWN TONIGHT. I'LL JUST WAIT TIME TO MEET HIM BEFORE GOING TO THE OFFICE!!

MIKE MULLIGAN YOU BAD BOY—LET ME DOWN!! I'M SO GLAD TO SEE YOU!!

LIL' WINNIE WINKLE GEE, I'M TICKLED TO DEATH TO SEE YA KID!!

AW, YOU DON'T WANNA GO TO WORK TO-DAY? LET'S GO TO A SHOW! TELL YER BOSS YER AUNT IS SICK!!

OH-ER-ER, I'M SORRY I CAN'T COME TO WORK TO-DAY MR. ROBINSON BUT-ER- MY AUNT IS SICK!!

TELEPHONE

WELL, NOW THAT WE PUT THE FEE BAG ON, LET'S GO TO A SHOW, HUH??

EXCUSE ME, MISS WINKLE IS THAT THE SICK AUNT, YOU PHONED ME ABOUT AN HOUR AGO??

THE BOSS!!

HE'S IN THAT TRAIN GOING THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION!!

GASOLINE ALLEY—SKEEZIX AT LAST!

I HAVE A HUNCH I'M GETTING NEARER TO SKEEZIX. I'LL SEARCH THAT TOWN OF OKLAHOMA CITY FROM ONE END TO THE OTHER.

SKEEZIX!

SKEEZIX AT LAST! I'LL GET HIM NOW OR DIE IN THE ATTEMPT!

HE'S IN THAT TRAIN GOING THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION!!

MOON MULLINS—AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION

NOW MOON IF YOU WILL TAKE MY ADVICE, YOU WILL GO RIGHT TO MISS SCHMALTZ, AND EXPLAIN HOW IT WAS THAT YOU LOST HER CAR LAST SATURDAY.

ALL RIGHT EGYPT—BUT I'M GONNA CALL UP A DOCTOR FRIEND OF MINE FIRST.

OPERATING ROOM.

I CAN'T STOP! I JUST RECEIVED A HURRY CALL—IT MAY BE A MATTER OF LIFE OR DEATH!

OH DOCTOR!

SET DOWN DOC. HAVE YOU GOT ALL YER TOOLS TO WORK ON A CASE A APOPLEXY OR HEART FAILURE, AN' ALL THEM KINDA THINGS?

YES, BUT WHERE'S THE PATIENT?

THEY AINT ANY YET—BUT WHEN I WISE OL' LADY SCHMALTZ UP ABOUT ME LOSIN' HER $5,000 AUTOMOBILE THEY'LL NO TELLIN' WOTTEL HADEN, DOC!

GEE! IT MUST BE FIERCE.

AM I AT THE RIGHT PLACE, LADY?

YES, IF YOU'RE GNIN' ANYTHING AWAY FREE.

WELL, YER NO—DO MILLERS RESIDE HERE?

NO, THEY LIVE HERE.

I WAS SENT HERE BY A NEIGHBOR.

???

SOMEONE IN YOUR HOUSE PLAYS A SAXOPHONE?

YES,

— WHO MADE THE COMPLAINT?

HUH?

TEN SAX TUNES—$1.00.

By H. N. P.

STOCK

Edited by Clark W. Booth

Decrease Piles Up

the best informed banking circles are in close touch with the auto situation, for weeks preceding the auto show. They predicted that May and June would see a price cutting campaign by the automobile industry, and that this would be a recovery in demand for steel with curtailed production levels. These conditions have existed for months.

Today reports from Westinghouse while starting the first month of the year, are good shape as to orders for electrical equipment. The electrical engineering business was increasing from 75 to 80 per cent of normal capacity. This is previously reported.

There is an advance from $1.00 to $1.10 for steel scrap quotations ruling for the first week.

$3,250,000 gold is being hoarded here tomorrow: Olympic day here tomorrow.

Robert 7a	95	95	48
Kubber 78	101	101	101
atch 612	94 1/2	94 1/2	94 1/2
ity Term 516	94 1/2	94 1/2	94 1/2

Nat Con	78	101	101
Nat Harb	78	106	105
N & Lib	79	101	101
N C	78	101	101
Wather	78	94	94
Lib Ser	78	96	101
W B H	78	87	84
P & L	78	87	87
Perf	78	90	96
C N J	78	101	101
Gfield	78	106	106
Edison	78	99	99
Y T	1927	106	106
Y T	1931	107	107
Y F	6 1/2	106	106
L & P	3 1/2	101	101
Mills	6 1/2	101	101
Foreign Bonds.		95	100
Sug		98	98
1/2		98	98
1/2		13	13

1987 1988 1989 1990 1991 1992 1993 1994 1995 1996 1997 1998 1999 2000 2001 2002 2003 2004 2005 2006 2007 2008 2009 2010 2011 2012 2013 2014 2015 2016 2017 2018 2019 2020 2021 2022 2023 2024 2025 2026 2027 2028 2029 2030 2031 2032 2033 2034 2035 2036 2037 2038 2039 2040 2041 2042 2043 2044 2045 2046 2047 2048 2049 2050 2051 2052 2053 2054 2055 2056 2057 2058 2059 2060 2061 2062 2063 2064 2065 2066 2067 2068 2069 2070 2071 2072 2073 2074 2075 2076 2077 2078 2079 2080 2081 2082 2083 2084 2085 2086 2087 2088 2089 2090 2091 2092 2093 2094 2095 2096 2097 2098 2099 2100 2101 2102 2103 2104 2105 2106 2107 2108 2109 2110 2111 2112 2113 2114 2115 2116 2117 2118 2119 2120 2121 2122 2123 2124 2125 2126 2127 2128 2129 2130 2131 2132 2133 2134 2135 2136 2137 2138 2139 2140 2141 2142 2143 2144 2145 2146 2147 2148 2149 2150 2151 2152 2153 2154 2155 2156 2157 2158 2159 2160 2161 2162 2163 2164 2165 2166 2167 2168 2169 2170 2171 2172 2173 2174 2175 2176 2177 2178 2179 2180 2181 2182 2183 2184 2185 2186 2187 2188 2189 2190 2191 2192 2193 2194 2195 2196 2197 2198 2199 2200 2201 2202 2203 2204 2205 2206 2207 2208 2209 2210 2211 2212 2213 2214 2215 2216 2217 2218 2219 2220 2221 2222 2223 2224 2225 2226 2227 2228 2229 2230 2231 2232 2233 2234 2235 2236 2237 2238 2239 2240 2241 2242 2243 2244 2245 2246 2247 2248 2249 2250 2251 2252 2253 2254 2255 2256 2257 2258 2259 2260 2261 2262 2263 2264 2265 2266 2267 2268 2269 2270 2271 2272 2273 2274 2275 2276 2277 2278 2279 2280 2281 2282 2283 2284 2285 2286 2287 2288 2289 2290 2291 2292 2293 2294 2295 2296 2297 2298 2299 2300 2301 2302 2303 2304 2305 2306 2307 2308 2309 2310 2311 2312 2313 2314 2315 2316 2317 2318 2319 2320 2321 2322 2323 2324 2325 2326 2327 2328 2329 2330 2331 2332 2333 2334 2335 2336 2337 2338 2339 2340 2341 2342 2343 2344 2345 2346 2347 2348 2349 2350 2351 2352 2353 2354 2355 2356 2357 2358 2359 2360 2361 2362 2363 2364 2365 2366 2367 2368 2369 2370 2371 2372 2373 2374 2375 2376 2377 2378 2379 2380 2381 2382 2383 2384 2385 2386 2387 2388 2389 2390 2391 2392 2393 2394 2395 2396 2397 2398 2399 2400 2401 2402 2403 2404 2405 2406 2407 2408 2409 2410 2411 2412 2413 2414 2415 2416 2417 2418 2419 2420 2421 2422 2423 2424 2425 2426 2427 2428 2429 2430 2431 2432 2433 2434 2435 2436 2437 2438 2439 2440 2441 2442 2443 2444 2445 2446 2447 2448 2449 2450 2451 2452 2453 2454 2455 2456 2457 2458 2459 2460 2461 2462 2463 2464 2465 2466 2467 2468 2469 2470 2471 2472 2473 2474 2475 2476 2477 2478 2479 2480 2481 2482 2483 2484 2485 2486 2487 2488 2489 2490 2491 2492 2493 2494 2495 2496 2497 2498 2499 2500 2501 2502 2503 2504 2505 2506 2507 2508 2509 2510 2511 2512 2513 2514 2515 2516 2517 2518 2519 2520 2521 2522 2523 2524 2525 2526 2527 2528 2529 2530 2531 2532 2533 2534 2535 2536 2537 2538 2539 2540 2541 2542 2543 2544 2545 2546 2547 2548 2549 2550 2551 2552 2553 2554 2555 2556 2557 2558 2559 2560 2561 2562 2563 2564 2565 2566 2567 2568 2569 2570 2571 2572 2573 2574 2575 2576 2577 2578 2579 2580 2581 2582 2583 2584 2585 2586 2587 2588 2589 2590 2591 2592 2593 2594 2595 2596 2597 2598 2599 2600 2601 2602 2603 2604 2605 2606 2607 2608 2609 2610 2611 2612 2613 2614 2615 2616 2617 2618 2619 2620 2621 2622 2623 2624 2625 2626 2627 2628 2629 2630 2631 2632 2633 2634 2635 2636 2637 2638 2639 2640 2641 2642 2643 2644 2645 2646 2647 2648 2649 2650 2651 2652 2653 2654 2655 2656 2657 2658 2659 2660 2661 2662 2663 2664 2665 2666 2667 2668 2669 2670 2671 2672 2673 2674 2675 2676 2677 2678 2679 2680 2681 2682 2683 2684 2685 2686 2687 2688 2689 2690 2691 2692 2693 2694 2695 2696 2697 2698 2699 2700 2701 2702 2703 2704 2705 2706 2707 2708 2709 2710 2711 2712 2713 2714 2715 2716 2717 2718 2719 2720 2721 2722 2723 2724 2725 2726 2727 2728 2729 2730 2731 2732 2733 2734 2735 2736 2737 2738 2739 2740 2741 2742 2743 2744 2745 2746 2747 2748 2749 2750 2751 2752 2753 2754 2755 2756 2757 2758 2759 2760 2761 2762 2763 2764 2765 2766 2767 2768 2769 2770 2771 2772 2773 2774 2775 2776 2777 2778 2779 2780 2781 2782 2783 2784 2785 2786 2787 2788 2789 2790 2791 2792 2793 2794 2795 2796 2797 2798 2799 2800 2801 2802 2803 2804 2805

The three bunched
Michigan, Nebraska and weeks ago, broke the son movement. When ed him and indorsed Johnson's defeat was Johnson's withdrawal the day that congress sition on the soldier ode the president.

e bonus one of his points and attacked sing it.

May 19.—
 Kyle, commanding
 A. Twenty-ninth ushing, who disapary, has been apa, according to Benning today.
 otified that Captive of Knox rehended at Balteamer en route
 ed to the United according to in-re, but his exact
 s time is not not he will face charge of being as not been announcing February on a three-day tended to reach

S. but did not as far as New lost then.

ALLS CLOSE FRIDAY

—(Special.)— will close its commencement arranged for evenings.

ts brokerage Lot" and remonta, sle

YORK

ants change,
Asso-cotton given vited.

AMUSEMENTS

Lyric Theatre (Stock)—The Lyric players offer "Madame X" featuring Isabelle Lowe and Wilfred Lytle.

Atlanta Theatre (Stock)—The Baldwin players offer "Demi-Virgin," featuring John B. Littel.

Loew's Grand—(Loew's vaudeville and feature picture.) See advertisements for program.

Kath's Theatre—(Kath's vaudeville and feature picture.) See advertisements for program.

Howard Theatre—(Feature picture.) DeMille's triumph, starring Rod La Rocque and Leatrice Joy.

Metropolitan Theatre—(Feature picture.) Bert Lytle and Claire Windsor in "A Son of the Sahara."

Rialto Theatre—(Feature picture.) Douglas MacLean in "Going Up."

Alamo—(Picture.) Huntley Gordon in "Pleasure Mail."

Tufts Theatre—(Picture.) Jack Horne in "Kidnaping of Montana."

Alhambra Theatre—(Picture and serial.) Gladys Walton in "The Wild Party."

"Triumph"
(At the Howard.)

Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount production, "Triumph," with a powerful cast including Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Charles Ogle, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye, and George Fawcett, which will be seen at the Howard theatre all this week in DeMille's greatest triumph, "Triumph" is one of those strong satires for which DeMille has attained such an international reputation. Those who recall with pleasure "Manslaughter," "Why Change Your Wife" and "Male and Female" are assured that in "Triumph" Mr. DeMille offers them the same gripping combination that made those pictures so popular.

An added specialty is "The Life of Franz Schubert," the first of a series of the lives of famous old music masters. Franz Jennings, tenor.

The comedy is April Fool, a Hal Roach comedy, with unusual and convincing situations.

The prologue is Marlon Dabney, an Atlanta girl, feature dancer with the Greenwich Village Follies in interpretative dances from the Follies.

"A Son of the Sahara."
(At the Metropolitan.)

Extraordinary characterization marks the screen version of "A Son of the Sahara," First National picture.

THEATRE
Matinees Tues., Thurs., Sat., 2:30 P. M.
Evenings, 8:30 P. M.

Good Seats Available for All Performances.
Box Office Open 10 A. M. to 10 P. M.
Phone WALSH 5925

John B. Littel
AND THE BALDWIN PLAYERS
NOW
THE GREATEST AND MOST SENSATIONAL COMEDY SUCCESS EVER
PRESENTED IN ATLANTA.

THE DEMI-
VIRGIN
"Here is Something You Have Seen in Search Of."

KEELER
Supreme Vaudeville
FORSYTH

3 SHOWS DAILY—2:30, 7:30, 9:15
LATER, 2:30-5:00, 7:30-9:00-9:30

LORIN BAKER & CO.
"The Great American Musical Comedy"

LOVEY & GOODE
"The Gentleman from Dixie"

THE SANTIAGO TRIO
"South America's Versatile Entertainers"

MAE FRANCIS
"Musical Comedy Songsters"

JOSEPHINE AMOROS
"That French Girl"

ROBERT LITTLE THEATRE
PLAYERS

A Positive Sensation
CECIL B. DE MILLE'S

"TRIUMPH"
A Paramount Picture
PROLOGUE

MARION DABNEY
Interpreting "Dance of the Hours"

HOWARD SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
BUEL R. RISINGER
Conducting

Musical Novelty
"The Life of Franz Schubert"

PERFORMANCES:
12:00-1:45, 2:30-5:00, 7:00-9:00

METROPOLITAN
DAILY
11:00-11:30-12:15
4:00-5:30-6:15-7:00

"A Son of the Sahara"
WITH
BERT LITTELL
CLAIR WINDSOR
SENNETT COMEDY

LEIDE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Woodrow Wilson Memorial Play
"FOOTPRINTS"

AT THE Atlanta Woman's Club
AUDITORIUM
May 22-23-24
Mat. Sat., May 24
Reserved seats now on sale
at Cable Piano Co.

AT 2:30-4:15-5:30 P. M.
THE MASTER CREAMER
"RAFFLES"

VAUDEVILLE'S MOST ENTHUSIASTIC NOVELTY
"Cheating the Grave"

POPULAR MUSICAL
COMEDY STARS
MARIE STODDARD
LATE OF
"THE DANCING GIRL"

BARR MAYO
AND RENN IN
"SHE CARES FOR ME"
CONNELL, LEONA
AND ZIPPY

VARIETIES A LA CARTE
3 WHEELER BOYS
AMERICA'S FOREMOST
GYMNASTS

AT 2-4:30-5:30 AND 10 P. M.
THE SENSATIONAL "HOODMAN BLIND"

DOUGLAS MACLEAN in
"GOING UP"

Faster Than "The Hotpotato"

Faster Than "23 Hours' Leave"

ture, produced by Edwin Carewe, in Algeria, which is fascinating patrons at the Metropolitan theatre this week.

This does not apply alone to Bert Lytle and Claire Windsor, the leading players in the desert romance. It can be said of all the important members of the cast.

Notable work is done by Montagu Love, who plays two roles of widely contrasting type, and by Paul Panzer, who proves himself a consummate artist by carrying out a consummate characterizations in masterful fashion. Also a comedy, "One Cylinder Love."

"Going Up."
(At the Rialto.)

How eager Atlanta audiences are to enjoy clever screen comedy founded on a famous stage success that makes the house vibrate with roars of laughter was proved Monday at the Rialto theatre, where Douglas MacLean's screen version of "Going Up" was the feature of an unusually good program.

"Going Up" is a personal triumph for Douglas MacLean, who never permits a guilty laugh to escape. He makes his funny scenes funny, and that is no little thing to do. The role of Robert Street fits him like a glove. The comedy is so good that it is not possible to get more laughs out of it unless he came down from the screen and tickled the audience with his fingers. There are some remarkably flying scenes in the picture. A notable cast supports MacLean.

The Rialto comedy, a Christie, is better than usual. An International Newsreel has interesting pictures of the big news events of current interest.

BALDWIN OFFERING PROVES COMEDY TREAT TO PATRONS

"The Demi-Virgin," like all Avery Hopwood's risqué farces never before as billed—the most diverting piece of work offered at Atlanta playhouses in several seasons.

The comedy, which is the bill for the play, is a movie burlesque, the first of a series of the lives of famous old music masters. Franz Jennings, tenor.

The comedy is April Fool, a Hal Roach comedy, with unusual and convincing situations.

The prologue is Marlon Dabney, an Atlanta girl, feature dancer with the Greenwich Village Follies in interpretative dances from the Follies.

"A Son of the Sahara."
(At the Metropolitan.)

Extraordinary characterization marks the screen version of "A Son of the Sahara," First National picture.

THEATRE
Matinees Tues., Thurs., Sat., 2:30 P. M.
Evenings, 8:30 P. M.

Good Seats Available for All Performances.
Box Office Open 10 A. M. to 10 P. M.
Phone WALSH 5925

John B. Littel
AND THE
BALDWIN PLAYERS
NOW
THE GREATEST AND MOST SENSATIONAL COMEDY SUCCESS EVER
PRESENTED IN ATLANTA.

THE DEMI-
VIRGIN
"Here is Something You Have Seen in Search Of."

KEELER
Supreme Vaudeville
FORSYTH

3 SHOWS DAILY—2:30, 7:30, 9:15
LATER, 2:30-5:00, 7:30-9:00-9:30

LORIN BAKER & CO.
"The Great American Musical Comedy"

LOVEY & GOODE
"The Gentleman from Dixie"

THE SANTIAGO TRIO
"South America's Versatile Entertainers"

MAE FRANCIS
"Musical Comedy Songsters"

JOSEPHINE AMOROS
"That French Girl"

ROBERT LITTLE THEATRE
PLAYERS

A Positive Sensation
CECIL B. DE MILLE'S

"TRIUMPH"
A Paramount Picture
PROLOGUE

MARION DABNEY
Interpreting "Dance of the Hours"

HOWARD SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
BUEL R. RISINGER
Conducting

Musical Novelty
"The Life of Franz Schubert"

PERFORMANCES:
12:00-1:45, 2:30-5:00, 7:00-9:00

METROPOLITAN
DAILY
11:00-11:30-12:15
4:00-5:30-6:15-7:00

"A Son of the Sahara"
WITH
BERT LITTELL
CLAIR WINDSOR
SENNETT COMEDY

LEIDE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Woodrow Wilson Memorial Play
"FOOTPRINTS"

AT THE Atlanta Woman's Club
AUDITORIUM
May 22-23-24
Mat. Sat., May 24
Reserved seats now on sale
at Cable Piano Co.

AT 2:30-4:15-5:30 P. M.
THE MASTER CREAMER
"RAFFLES"

VAUDEVILLE'S MOST ENTHUSIASTIC NOVELTY
"Cheating the Grave"

POPULAR MUSICAL
COMEDY STARS
MARIE STODDARD
LATE OF
"THE DANCING GIRL"

BARR MAYO
AND RENN IN
"SHE CARES FOR ME"
CONNELL, LEONA
AND ZIPPY

VARIETIES A LA CARTE
3 WHEELER BOYS
AMERICA'S FOREMOST
GYMNASTS

AT 2-4:30-5:30 AND 10 P. M.
THE SENSATIONAL "HOODMAN BLIND"

DOUGLAS MACLEAN in
"GOING UP"

Faster Than "The Hotpotato"

Faster Than "23 Hours' Leave"

5 DEAD, 30 HURT
AS TRAM CRASH

Roanoke, Ind., May 19.—Five persons were killed and approximately thirty injured when two passenger cars of the Indiana Service Corporation Traction company were in collision at a siding here tonight.

The injured were taken to hospitals in Fort Wayne and nearby cities and officials have been unable to make an accurate check of the number, although it was estimated at about thirty.

One of the cars was said to have been backing out of a siding when the other, a limited bound for Indianapolis, crashed into it. The limited was loaded with passengers but the other car was empty.

Amambulances, doctors and nurses arrived here from surrounding towns a short time after the accident.

Short gymnasts and present several difficult tricks, entirely new to Atlanta, which the artist has been practicing for some time.

BLACKFACE ACT
MAKES BIG HIT
AT THE FORSYTH

The modern, day spirit of youth in love is well pictured by Lorin J. Baker & Co. in their act entitled "Pals and the Girl," which heads the new Keith bill at the Forsyth theatre this week. The situations in which the pals and the girl find themselves are all laughable.

Probably the best blackface act that has appeared in Atlanta for months is that of Lloyd and Gundy, who interspersed their dry, funny sayings with several unique dances which brought rounds of applause at their conclusion.

The Santiago Trio are all versatile performers whose turn consists chiefly of attractively costumed Spanish dances and a clever contortionist. All of his feats are difficult and amusing.

Josephine Amoros, the French acrobat, has an especially good act devoted mainly to trapeze work and various shoulder dislocations. During the course of her turn she does a triple shoulder dislocation successfully.

Mae Francis amuses the audience with several pretty songs. She has an attractive personality which is a great help in her act.

"MADAME X" PROVES THRILLER TO EVEN MOST PHEGMATIC

Isabelle Lowe's version of "Madame X" stirred the impressionable and moved highly entertaining on to the most phlegmatic members of the first night audience at the Lyric theatre Monday night.

The work of the dynamic little leaving woman was worthy of special attention, even before that of half a dozen others of the company who contributed masterly characterizations to the sensational French love story.

With very little make-up, not even a streak of gray in her luxuriant golden hair, she convinced her audience that she was a woman of broken and drug-ridden woman of nearly 50. After the thrilling second act, at the end of which Will Lloyd dies most realistically, people in the lobby even remarked that she "looked a bit too old" to be Laroque's mistress.

And she and Lloyd have passed beautifully as grand-daughter and grandfather in previous Lyric offerings.

Alfred Lytle was a most acceptable son and, pleading his mother's case during the climactic third act, drew one storm of applause after another for the fire and passion he put into his work.

The final scene, when the mother dies after a reunion of brief moments with her son, was a masterpiece of comedy. The son, who seemed to miss the mark at first but then, to the audience roars with laughter at the comic songs that close the offering.

The three Wheeler boys are excellent.

ROBERT LITTLE THEATRE
PLAYERS

A Positive Sensation
CECIL B. DE MILLE'S

"TRIUMPH"
A Paramount Picture
PROLOGUE

MARION DABNEY
Interpreting "Dance of the Hours"

HOWARD SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
BUEL R. RISINGER
Conducting

Musical Novelty
"The Life of Franz Schubert"

PERFORMANCES:
12:00-1:45, 2:30-5:00, 7:00-9:00

METROPOLITAN
DAILY
11:00-11:30-12:15
4:00-5:30-6:15-7:00

"A Son of the Sahara"
WITH
BERT LITTELL
CLAIR WINDSOR
SENNETT COMEDY

LEIDE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Woodrow Wilson Memorial Play
"FOOTPRINTS"

AT THE Atlanta Woman's Club
AUDITORIUM
May 22-23-24
Mat. Sat., May 24
Reserved seats now on sale
at Cable Piano Co.

AT 2:30-4:15-5:30 P. M.
THE MASTER CREAMER
"RAFFLES"

VAUDEVILLE'S MOST ENTHUSIASTIC NOVELTY
"Cheating the Grave"

POPULAR MUSICAL
COMEDY STARS
MARIE STODDARD
LATE OF
"THE DANCING GIRL"

BARR MAYO
AND RENN IN
"SHE CARES FOR ME"
CONNELL, LEONA
AND ZIPPY

VARIETIES A LA CARTE
3 WHEELER BOYS
AMERICA'S FOREMOST
GYMNASTS

AT 2-4:30-5:30 AND 10 P. M.
THE SENSATIONAL "HOODMAN BLIND"

DOUGLAS MACLEAN in
"GOING UP"

Faster Than "The Hotpotato"

Faster Than "23 Hours' Leave"

Technique of Painter's Art
Is Explained by Jonas Lie

BY RALPH T. JONES.

"Don't think everything you see in a frame is a picture," Jonas Lie, famous artist, told an audience of 500 invited guests at a lecture he delivered at the Biltmore hotel Monday night.

Mr. Lie is one of the score or so of distinguished artists who have come to Atlanta from all over the United States to attend the two week exhibition of paintings and sculpture now being shown at the Biltmore.

Numbering over 400 pieces all told, the exhibition is an attraction for visitors daily. The galleries are open to the public without charge every day from 10:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. Each afternoon and evening a lecture is given by one of the artists, making the mistake of the American people of today, in considering the subject before the painting, in looking at the picture, instead of the painting as a simple thing of beauty in itself.

Grover Lectures Today.

This afternoon, at 12:30, at the Capital City club, before the Rotary club, Oliver Dennett Grover will give a 10-minute talk on "Art in Industry."

At 3 p. m. the students of Agnes Scott college will be taken on a tour of the galleries and a series of 10-minute talks will be given by a number of the artists, including Ballard Williams, Ossip Lindé, Ivan Olinsky, W. Frank Purdy, manager of the sculpture section, Guy Wiggins and Henry Rensberger.

Tuesday will be "Decorative Day," with the following organizations acting as hosts at the exhibition: The Decorative Woman's club, Mrs. Frank R. McCall, Mrs. J. B. McCall, president; Decorative Chamber of Commerce, Robert C. W. Ramspeck, president.

Wednesday, a group of half a dozen or more patriotic societies in charge. Wednesday night officers of the Fourth corps area of the U. S. army, with General David C. Shober, commander in chief of the area, will be hosts.

This morning, at 9 o'clock, the visiting artists will be taken to St. Mount and see the great memorial to the Confederacy that Gutzon Borglum is cutting in the face of the living rock. A reproduction of one of Mr. Borglum's masterpieces, the way is, is on exhibition at the Biltmore in the sculpture section.

By the students, "I am convinced," he says, "that the closer I get to actual newspaper conditions the better grasp the student will get of what is needed in newspaper writing."

MISSOURI PACIFIC BOYS GOLF COAST

New York, May 19.—Action to facilitate consolidation of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico railway with the Missouri Pacific was taken today, when directors of the Gulf Coast Line approved an agreement whereby the Missouri Pacific will buy outright 37,000 shares of the Gulf Coast line in option on 30,000 shares additional.

Under the terms of the agreement, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico directors will receive a 12 1/2 per cent stock dividend voted last February, but not distributed. Totaling $4,750,000, this will be paid on June 1, 1924, at the rate of 12 1/2 per cent in cash, 6 per cent in warrants maturing September 1, 1924, and 6 per cent in warrants maturing December 1, 1924.

Through the combined purchases and options, the Missouri Pacific will obtain 51 per cent of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico railway, which is under the control of the road. In addition is his offer to purchase on like terms all other shares tendered to it within 90 days after the exercise of the 30,000 share option.

Payment for the first block of 37,500 shares is to be made to bankers holding the stock on June 1, at the rate of $125 per share. A $4,500,000 issue of these notes, it was announced, was approved by the Missouri Pacific directors today. The option, taken subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission, is payable in 15-year 7 per cent collateral trust notes, which will be sold to the public at the rate of $120,000 annually, and into which the shorter notes may be convertible.

Guif Coast stockholders who take advantage of the Missouri Pacific's offer will receive the equivalent of $120,000 a share, including the special dividend, after deducting commissions. The stock sold at $120 on the New York stock exchange today, but closed at 115 1/2.

MAN WHO ESCAPED
CUMMINGS PRISON IS ARRESTED HERE

Frank Loden, 28, who gave his address as a downtown hotel, and who was arrested Monday night on a blanket charge of suspicion, admitted that he is being sought for escape from the Missouri Pacific's offer of $120,000 a share, including the special dividend, after deducting commissions. The stock sold at $120 on the New York stock exchange today, but closed at 115 1/2.

Mr. George is being held on suspicion, but Cummings officials have been notified, and will come here to identify him.

R. E. GEORGE FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for R. E. George, assistant to the president of Morris Plan company, of Atlanta, who died Sunday morning at Morristown, Pa., will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Westminster Presbyterian church, with Rev. R. O. Flinn officiating. Burial will be in Forest View, with Mattie Lodge of Jasson, No. 641, in charge of services at the grave.

Mr. George was a member of the Typographical union, and had been employed by all three Atlanta papers. He also served as a member of the wage adjustment committee during a strike of the union. He was a Shriner, a member of the West Temple, and an elder in the Westminster church.

Kingdom of the Netherlands External 6% Bonds
Due 1924
Price to yield over
6.10%
Circular on request
The National City Company
Atlanta—66 North Broad St.
Telephone—WALSH 5069.

CHATHAM OFFERS
$100 FOR NEGRO
IN GIRL'S ATTACK

Savannah, Ga., May 19.—A reward of $100 for the capture of the negro who criminally assaulted an 11-year-old girl last Sunday afternoon in the woods behind the colored section of Laurel Grove cemetery was offered by the city of Savannah, Ga., by Chatham county, who also wrote Governor Walker of the circumstances and requested the state to likewise post a sum for the assailant.

The beginning of daylight this morning the search was resumed by the county and city police forces, assisted by citizens and a patrol of the Georgia state police. A general round-up was ordered of all suspicious characters, more than 20 being taken to headquarters or carried to the girl's home for identification, in each instance the girl was shown a photograph of the negro and asked whether she recognized him from either the girl or her two boy companions.

So far as has been ascertained only two other people saw the negro in the locality either before or after the commission of the crime.

Better Tone in Dry Goods
Market Reported by Price

BY THEO. H. PRICE.
Editor Commerce and Finance.

New York, May 19.—The census figures of cotton consumption in the United States during the month of April are really surprising when the short time and curtailing that have been reported are considered. The reduction for the entire country is only 17 per cent. The decrease in the south, where 66 per cent of the cotton used is now consumed, is but 10 per cent, while the reduction in the consumption elsewhere averages about 23 per cent, which is much less than the trade had anticipated.

The exports are also expectations. The result is that all but 83,000 bales of this year's crop plus the "carryover," as estimated by the census, is "in sight" on April 30.

It is therefore probable that the distribution will again exceed the ascertained supply by a substantial amount. The cotton in the hands of the mills and in warehouse will be reduced to the vanishing point, for on the face of the figures there remains in the United States but 2,763,000 bales for consumption and export during the three months ending July 31.

Facing such exhaustion the crop outlook becomes increasingly important. The first report of the agricultural department will be issued on June 2. Speculation is already busy guessing at what it will be. If the condition is lower than last year's figure of 71 the effect may be sensational.

The temperatures in the south last week were rather below normal at the close of the very dry period. It is generally described as somewhat backward. It is, however, too early to dogmatize about its size for a few days of warmth and sunshine can have wonders in the spring time. We must therefore wait, but while we wait the little cotton that is left is

Search Here---Don't Wait for Opportunity to "Happen Around"

Real Estate for Sale

Houses for Sale

EAST LAKE--
Candler Road, eight-room house, large shady lot 110x445; garage, chicken house, water and electric light; worth $8,500; leaving city, will take $6,000; easy terms. See H. M. Ashe, Grant-Jeter Co., Grant building, ground floor, Walnut 1600.

EAST LAKE--
Six-room new brick bungalow, hard wood floors, tiled bathroom, located on drive, $8,500; terms. See H. M. Ashe, Grant-Jeter Co., Grant building, ground floor, Walnut 1600.

HIGHLAND, ONE BLOCK--Morningside section. Very nice seven-room brick of the very best construction. All large rooms, tile bath, furnace, water and electric light. $7,700; $1,000 cash, balance very easy. Lemon-Paschal Co., Walnut 5224.

INMAN PARK--$350 cash, balance $35 monthly, new six-room bungalow, hardwood floors throughout, nice lot, good section; convenient to two car lines. Price only $4,500. See this before it is sold. Call Mr. Oliver Davis, Walnut 3085.

INMAN PARK--For $400 cash and $50 monthly, new five-room wide board bungalow, all conveniences, on car line. Call owner, Walnut 2711.

INMAN PARK--Five-room house, $3,900. Mrs. Dove, Georgia Realty company, Walnut 5812.

INMAN PARK--New house, low price, Walnut 0924.

KIRKWOOD--$2,900. New five-room bungalow near school and car line; nice level lot and a good buy. $300 cash, $25 month. See this before it is sold. Call Mr. Oliver Davis, Walnut 3085.

LER STREET, ONE BLOCK--Excellent new six-room brick with tile porch, oak floors, tile bath, furnace heat, drive and garage in West End, and we will sell it for $2,500 on very easy terms. Lemon-Paschal Co., Walnut 5224.

NORTH SIDE--

STUCCO BUNGALOW--Two bed rooms, sun parlor, 145 feet frontage, garage and servant's quarters. This beautiful north side home is almost new and its attractiveness is further enhanced by sun-beds of roses in bloom. Owner is leaving city. Price $11,000 for quick sale. Ask for Mr. Padgett.

BRIGHT ACRES--Good house, just out city limits, value $6,000, lot, to trade for new bungalow up to $8,000. Mr. Young, Walnut 5224.

PEACHTREE HEIGHTS PARK--In this exclusive section we have a beautiful eight-room, two-story brick residence, every possible convenience. A beautiful elevated front lot, heavily wooded. A home that will please the most exacting. If you are hard to please, see this. Mr. Evans.

BROOKWOOD HILLS--On one of the best lots in this exclusive section, contains six rooms, beautifully arranged and well constructed. Owner leaving city, wants an offer. Price $15,000.

FOURTEENTH STREET--A real bargain, eight-room, two-story frame residence, two baths, furnace heat, drive and garage, between Peachtree and Piedmont Park where values are steadily increasing. A real buy at $14,500. Mr. Evans.

BOULEVARD PARK--Eight-room bungalow, built by owner for a permanent home, well constructed, nicely arranged and modern in every detail. Owner wants an offer.

TENTH AND MYRTLE STREET--A well constructed seven-room, two-story frame residence, strictly modern. Owner wants an offer. Will give some one a real bargain.

NORTH SIDE--Located in one of the most popular home subdivisions. We offer a beautiful six-room brick bungalow (three bed rooms), on a corner lot. Has every convenience you could desire. The house is substantially well built and ideally arranged. Price reduced to $10,500 for quick sale. Call Mr. Carter.

EVANS & DODD,
THIRD FLOOR Candler Building
WALNUT 1419

NORTH SIDE--

Myrtle street home, has large shaded, corner lot, unusual large living room, four bedrooms and sleeping porch; garage and servant's quarters, all modern conveniences made it a real home. Call owner, HEMLOCK 3442 between 8 and 10 a. m.

NORTH SIDE--

$7,000; easy terms, situated on corner lot with 100-foot frontage, bungalow containing living room, dining room, breakfast room, kitchen, two bedrooms and the bath; hot air heat, garage. Grant-Jeter Company, Grant building, ground floor, Walnut 1600.

NORTH SIDE--$7,500. New white board bungalow, six rooms and breakfast room, beautifully finished, clear oak floors throughout; lovely front side porch, furnace heat, large basement; fine lot 50x250 feet, on new paved street; just off Ponce de Leon and Highland. Call Mr. Cook, Dolvin Realty Co., Walnut 3285.

NORTH SIDE--Beautiful bungalow, seven rooms, all finished to the last detail; fine tapering fixtures, servant's quarters and garage, best part of St. Charles Avenue, for $7,750; $1,000 cash. Worth $11,000. E. L. Hixling, Walnut 0824.

NORTH SIDE--$5,250; $500 cash, beautiful new six-room colonial bungalow, oak floors, tile bath, furnace heat, screened in most rapidly developing section of city, east front lot on concrete paved street, Walnut 2236.

NORTH SIDE--Six-room brick bungalow with three bed rooms. $8,750. WALNUT 0840

NORTH SIDE--New eight-room brick home, every convenience, $5,500. WALNUT 5041.

PEACHTREE ROAD, NEAR--Colonial designed wide board bungalow with living room across entire front, three large bedrooms, tile bath, furnace heat and garage, paved walk, on beautiful lot 50x200 feet; no gas in this section but it's wired for electric stove, water and sewer terms. Lemon-Paschal company, Walnut 5224.

Classified Display

Real Estate

FOR SALE--
SEVEN BUILDING LOTS

FOR colored homes or renting property facing Magnolia Street and getting streets. Real improvements; entire lot for $3,500. One-third cash, balance in three annual notes. J. R. SMITH & M. S. RANKIN, 66 1/2 N. Forsyth St.

Block Peachtree Road
TWO-STORY brick, seven rooms with two tiled-in sleeping porches, two tub baths and a shower; large basement with steam heat; cement drive with garage and servants' house. $16,500. Built for a real home.

Lemon-Paschal Company
WA. 5224

BARGAINS

A DANDY little home on Pulliam street; seven rooms, modern; a new lot. Price $5,000. Terms to suit.

167 CREW ST.--A duplex renting for $10 per month. Price to close lot for non-resident, $5,000. No loan. This property is in A-1 condition.

A 6-ROOM cottage at East Lake. Price $7,700.

Phone Walnut 2722.
W. L. & JOHN O. DUPRE

Here You Can "Sort Out" Without Getting Out of Sorts

Finding the things you want in The Constitution A-B-C Classified Section isn't like looking for the famous needle in the haystack--or like asking every individual in town where Opportunity is located.

It's a failure-proof process--like looking up a word in the dictionary, or seeking a name in the telephone directory. You can't help but find what you are looking for.

The contents of the A-B-C Classified Section--like the dictionary or the telephone directory--are arranged alphabetically for quick reference. And to still further simplify the matter of finding, the offers are all grouped under numerically designated classifications.

This is why sorting out opportunities for yourself is as simple as A-B-C or 1-2-3!

You won't lose any time, any patience or any opportunities if you regularly read the classified section!

The Constitution A-B-C Classified Ads
Always the Same--In Service
Always Different--In Opportunity
Phone MAin 5000 for an Ad Taker

Real Estate for Sale

Houses for Sale

PEACHTREE ROAD SECTION--
$8,750; terms cash, seven-room, brick veneer bungalow, furnace heat, hardwood floors, gas and all other conveniences, price $6,000; small cash payment, balance like rent; house open all week; come out and see owner. No agents need apply.

ROSEDALE ROAD, NEAR--Brick bungalow, extra large tile porch, 26-foot living room, music room, and heat, drive and garage, $12,000. Lemon-Paschal company, Walnut 5224.

SEMINOLE AVENUE--Near Blue Ridge, duplex lot 50x250 to alley for $4,200. Charles L. Greene, IVy 4283.

SOUTH SIDE--Seven-room house, in excellent condition, have tenant $35 monthly; owner will sell for $2,500; $500 cash and $25 month; see this and let us rest it for you. Lemon-Paschal company, Walnut 5224.

LOOK AND SEE! Look and save--in the A-B-C Classified Section.

Classified Display

Real Estate

LOTS $5 Cash Each
80 LOTS near Peachtree Road. Several at $200, several at $400, several at $500. Terms, $5 cash, $5 monthly. Nice section.

15 Peachtree Arcade

TODAY'S BEST VALUES

THE most complete line of them ever offered the buying public in Atlanta. More than 1,000 to select from. If you want to buy a home in any section of Atlanta or Decatur, use this complete home-seekers' service. It costs you nothing and will save you time and money. Just call Walnut 2085 and state your needs.

John S. Thompson

Classified Display

Real Estate

SACRIFICE SALE

WITHIN two blocks of car line and convenient to stores, etc., a six-room frame bungalow in West End with hardwood floors, furnace heat and all conveniences, brand new, for $5,250.00 with liberal terms. This house was built to sell for $6,500.00 and the owner is now willing to sacrifice for a quick sale. Call Mr. Davison, Wa. 4100.

ROGERS REALTY AND TRUST CO.

Beautiful Collier Road Lots

FACING on Collier Road near Peachtree Road we have a few most choice building lots, 50 and 100-foot frontage. These lots can be bought at bargain prices and with small payments. Let us show you this splendid investment.

Turman-Brown Company
Walnut 4274 210 Ga. Savings Bank Bldg.

Community Stores

WE are offering for rent in Bankhead Highway, a four-chair barber shop, completely furnished. New store, good section--surrounded by A-1 chain grocery stores. Price $40 per month. ALSO at St. Charles Ave. near Highland, six new stores suitable for hardware, groceries, delicatessen, etc.; long lease--reasonable prices.

ALSO Virginia Ave. and Highland, six new stores now under construction. Exceptionally desirable for drugs, groceries, etc. ALSO Highland and Sampson Sts., now under construction, good for meats, groceries, etc., and the price is right.

J. H. Ewing & Sons

67 N. FORTY-SEVENTH ST. WALNUT 1511
"We Specialize in Business Locations."

East Lake Heights

ONLY 60 lots left in the choicest residence section of East Lake, close to car line, school and golf club. We have set the prices down to half their present value for quick sale--you can't beat this for a home site or investment. Yes, we are making money out of the proposition but we are not haggish about it and are leaving you a big margin of profit. You can buy a $2,000 lot for $1,000 on easy terms. All improvements except gas. See H. M. Ashe.

Grant-Jeter Company

Grant Building, Ground Floor WALNUT 1600

Real Estate for Sale

Houses for Sale

WEST END--$6,000; $750 cash, balance like rent, new six-room bungalow, hardwood floors throughout, all conveniences, large rooms and all built-in features, convenient to car, schools, stores and churches; for appointment, call Mr. Burton, Dolvin Realty company, Walnut 3385.

WEST END--Lot 111x100; splendid seven-room home on beautiful large lot; has all conveniences, best section of West End, near car line, school and stores, a real bargain at $8,000; easy terms. Call Walnut 5236.

WEST END--Ten rooms, two baths, furnace heat, concrete street, one block Cascade avenue and car line; a bargain at $8,250. Terms, Mr. Cates, Walnut 2900.

WEST END--New brick bungalow, just off Lucile avenue. WEST 1408-W.

FORD PLANT--THREE BLOCKS--Modern six-room bungalow with 25-foot living room, three extra large bed rooms, servant's room in basement; furnace heat; $7,750, very easy terms. Lemon-Paschal Co., Walnut 5224.

I WISH to sell the following described real estate: (2) small houses situate at 77 Sidney street; the house and lot situate at 10 Hayden street. This is known as the "Goldboro, N. C." J. Falson Thomas, Goldboro, N. C.

INVESTMENT--
$2,000, COLORED renting property; pays 21 per cent on the investment; only $500 cash and $30 per month; seven-room house, big lot, close in; real bargain.

GEORGE W. WARE,
WALNUT 1046.

MARION TEMPLE, TWO BLOCKS--In Capitol View. Classy eight-room bungalow, paved walk, furnace heat, concrete drive, and garage, $11,700; $500 cash, Lemon-Paschal Co., Walnut 5224.

NEAR FORD PLANT--Almost new bungalow, $5,500, terms, Gussie B. Ivy, Walnut 0922.

SAVING IS profit's best substitute. Read the A-B-C Classified Ads.

Classified Display

Real Estate

Highland View Apartments

699 HIGHLAND AVENUE

READY for occupancy about June 1st--2 and 4-unit apartments. Conveniently arranged. Breakfast room, including gateleg table and four chairs furnished with each apartment. Paved walk throughout building. Excellent location, being convenient to stores and school. Shown by appointment.

Turman-Brown Co.

WALNUT 4274 210 GEORGIA SAVINGS BANK BLDG.

Classified Display

Real Estate

NORTH SIDE

NEW white colonial bungalow with six rooms, driveway, garage; pretty lot; Inman Park section; terms cash. Let us show you. Only $6,750. WE also have quite a few new brick bungalows in various desirable sections. Our salesman will show you.

Ralph B. Martin Co.
311 Atlanta Tr. Co. Bldg. WAL. 0027

Real Estate for Sale

Houses for Sale

TENTH STREET, WEST, and Hemphill Avenue section, newly painted four-room house; city water, elevated lot, near car line; $1,450; easy terms. H. J. Cranshaw, 601 Rhodes Building, WALNUT 1551.

REAL ESTATE--Lana, Southern Realty Company, Inc., 361-2 Atlanta Trust Company building.

SIX good building lots. Want offer. A. Bennett, Walnut 1511; IVy 7712.

$2,500--New and very pretty little bungalow; electric lights, nice bath with one-half acre good level ground on corner; one block from car; small cash payment, very easy terms. MAIN 2882.

Property for Colored $44

CAROLINA AVENUE, 18--Just off Ashby, three-room house, practically new, reasonably priced. Call owner, WEST 0057.

WEST SIDE--$3,250; five rooms, good lot, new, near school, Morris & Smith, 812 Austell building, WALNUT 4930.

LOTS for Sale $5

ANSLEY PARK--A large and beautiful lot on The Prado; on terms. Call Mr. Warren, Walnut 3510.

DREWRY STREET--

JUST OFF HIGHLAND AVENUE, TWO LOTS 50x250; ALL IMPROVEMENTS, $2,000 EACH; REASONABLE TERMS. THIS IS A SPLENDID NEIGHBORHOOD AND A BARGAIN. CALL DECATUR 0601-W.

NORTH DECATUR ROAD--Most desirable lot, 90x300 feet; 100 feet from car line. Owner, HEMLOCK 1715.

STONE MOUNTAIN--In and near, for small acreage, on car line and paved road, Robson & Holliman, Inc., WALNUT 5314.

BEST LOT--In Ansley Park; Topsoil; wonderful view. WALNUT 2785.

Classified Display

Real Estate

For Lease---Boarding Houses

28 ROOMS--Will lease at $125.00 per mo. All needed repairs now being made. Nos. 143-145 Spring St. Will lease separately.

20 ROOMS, $75.00. Nos. 23-25 Baltimore Block. Will do any necessary repairing. Will lease as whole or separately.

J. R. Smith & M. S. Rankin

66 1/2 N. FORSYTH ST.

Real Estate for Sale

Lots for Sale

NORTH SIDE--

IN A NEW AND SUBSTANTIAL NEIGHBORHOOD ON THE NORTH SIDE, CONVENIENT TO CAR LINE AND STORES, I HAVE AN ELEVATED LOT 60x170 FEET, WITH ALL IMPROVEMENTS; SPLENDID VIEW, A BARGAIN AT $2,500. CALL IVY 3901-W.

WEST END--Beautiful corner lot; conveniences. Cascade-Gordon section. Bargain. Cash $140, balance easy. Call Owner, WEST 1033-W.

WIEUCA ROAD--Eight acres, beautifully wooded, 538 front feet; $15.00 per foot. WALNUT 4181.

I HAVE 19 days to sell my equity in lot, 100x190 feet, four-room house on one lot, water and electricity. This property is in East Lake; make me an offer for $75 equity. Address Q-322 Constitution.

JUST OFF Peachtree Road, beautiful lot, 50x175 feet, $1,000. WALNUT 0840.

NORTH DECATUR ROAD--Most desirable lot, 90x300 feet, 100 feet from car line. Owner, HEMLOCK 1715.

Suburban for Sale $7

NEW two-room house, two acres land, 4 1/2 miles from Five Points; $1,800, $50 cash, $15 month. Buy this, get cow, pigs, chickens and be happy. Clark, 702 Silvery building.

15 PER CENT ON SAVING:
$4.65 invested one year brings $5.35; $9.87 in two months brings $10.12; $17.58 in two years brings $22.80; $22.14 in five years brings $40.50. Let us explain the plan. 15 Peachtree Arcade.

To Exchange--Real Estate $8

APARTMENT--Owner will sell or exchange four-apartment brick apartment veneer building, paying 10 per cent net on selling price on a $5,000 cash payment basis. HEMLOCK 7000-W.

Classified Display

Real Estate

Wanted--Real Estate $9

BUNGALOW--We have customer for six to seven-room brick bungalow on North Jackson or North Boulevard. Will pay all cash above the loan. If you want to sell call us and it is sold if your price is right. Lemon-Paschal Co., Walnut 5224.

HOME--Ponce de Leon Avenue, Decatur, near. Large beautiful corner lot, to exchange for six or more room house, Atlanta, and will pay some cash, balance notes. Call Mr. Wilkins, HEMLOCK 5848, or WALNUT 5853.

HOME--We have several clients wanting houses in Inman Park, anything up to $2,500. What have you? Call Ira Everett, WALNUT 5314. Robson & Holliman, Inc., 10 Auburn Avenue.

HOUSES--Wanted, several small homes; must be bargains for quick sale. E. J. Cranshaw, 601 Rhodes building, WALNUT 1551.

INCOME PROPERTY--We have any number of customers with cash to buy bargains, either rent or income property. Lemon-Paschal Company, Walnut 5224.

LIST your property for sale with Fitzhugh Knox, 213 Peachtree St.

LIST your property with us for quick sale. Cates & Co., Walnut 2920.

SEAL-LENHARDT COMPANY--1001 Atlanta Trust Company building.

CLASSIFIED ADS serve many and save money.

Classified Display

Real Estate

Real Estate for Sale

Wanted--Real Estate $9

WANTED--Real estate for sale or exchange. Your property will be submitted to one of our customers within 24 hours after calling us. W. A. Lee & Co., 1028-27 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. WALNUT 4284.

WE CAN SELL--Any number of small homes if they are worth the money. We have the customers. You have the home. Let's get together. Lemon-Paschal Co., Walnut 5224.

WE CAN--We can sell your property. Emulate Trust Company, 87 N. Broad St., Walnut 0151.

Auctions--Legal

Auction Sales $90

J. P. KING AUCTION CO., 1224 Healey building, WALNUT 1100.

UGLEBY REALTY AUCTION CO., Ansley hotel, John P. Ugleby, manager.

Classified Display

Automotive

Special Values

1923 Cadillac 4-pass. sport $1,750.00
1924 Buick 6 roadster. Extra 1,100.00
1924 Buick 4 touring. New 1,000.00
1923 Dodge coupe. Almost new 750.00
1922 Buick 4 coupe. Refinished 650.00
1922 Hudson speedster. Extra 750.00
1923 Maxwell demonstrator. 650.00
1923 Maxwell touring. Good condition 550.00
1923 Maxwell touring. Good condition 450.00
1921 Chalmers 6 touring. Rebuilt 375.00
1921 Chalmers touring. Good condition 275.00
1923 Ford Ford sedan. Good condition 400.00
1923 Ford coupe. Good condition 300.00
1923 Ford touring. Best of condition. Extra 285.00
1923 Ford touring. Good condition 250.00
1923 Ford touring. Refinished 235.00
1923 Ford roadster. Completely equipped 250.00
1923 Ford roadster. New 185.00
1923 Chevrolet Superior touring. Good condition 185.00
1921 Overland 4 touring. Runs good 125.00
1920 Overland touring. 95.00
1921

